No Individual Loans.
Gillette Is Dead.
The Calf of Gold.
The Ottawa Pow-Wow.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

PRESIDENT HOOVER has vetoed the "Wagner-Garner relief bill." It goes back for changes already agreed upon. Many will learn sorrowfully that one change will make it impossible for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to lend to individuals.

Solly Wertheim's friend, introduced to the president of a great bank, was told:

"If you ever want to borrow, come in."

The friend, returning soon, was asked:

"How much do you need?"

He whispered into the bank president's ear:

"Excuse me, but how much have you got?"

If individual loans were made, citizens probably would be ready to borrow more than Uncle Sam has got.

KING GILLETTE, inventor of a wonderfully successful razor and razor blade, died Saturday night at Calabasas, Cal.

He never realized his great dream, to incorporate the whole world as one business corporation, thus curing all economic ills. He got this idea in 1910, and wanted to make Theodore Roosevelt head of the corporation, at a salary of $250,000 a year.

Mr. Gillette's real work, that saved time and increased comfort for many, was his razor. Benjamin Franklin said there was no better present for a young man than a good razor. Mr. Gillette gave good razors to millions, old and young.

GOLD HAS long held its fascination. The Israelites built their calf of gold, that they might worship something really precious. Europe's "Bank for International Settlements" adopts unanimously a request that all countries return to the gold standard, "as the best available monetary mechanism."

We have that standard here, but it seems to have done little good lately. You remember that the Israelites asked Aaron to set up a calf of gold. When Moses delayed his coming down from the mountain, the people said:

"As for this Moses, we wot not what is become of him."

MOSES, WHEN he came down, "took the calf (of gold) and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and strawed it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink of it." The Lord himself was angry, saying to Moses:

"Let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot against them, that I may consume them."

Perhaps somebody will come down from some mountain to show us something better than our calf of gold or gold standard.

THE BRITISH Empire, all its members, will soon hold a powwow at Ottawa. The idea is to establish free trade within the empire, as we have free trade within our 48 states.

Part of the plan is to buy as little as possible outside the empire, a virtuous plan.

But Canada will not forget that this country has been buying from eighty to ninety per cent of her newsprint and wood pulp, ninety per cent of her exports of fresh fish. We buy largely from Britain also, one-third of her linen exports, and forty-three per cent of her tin.

The British Empire has more than fifteen hundred millions invested in this country, two-thirds of it Canadian money. This country has five thousand millions invested in British industries throughout the empire. That situation calls for wisdom.

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS is reported to have discovered that the ring of forts around New York City with their big coast defense guns could not be ready for three months if war came, and so "New York is exposed to attack."

Big guns along the shore would make no more difference than so many popguns. To prepare New York, or any other coast city, for attack, would take as long as it would take to build an adequate air fleet, plus an adequate submarine fleet.

If any American coast city is attacked, it will be by airplanes, bombing machines and pursuit planes, with gas and explosives, released from big ships first, later on sent directly across the ocean. These airplanes would fly so high over the "coast defense" popguns that gun crews would not even know the airplanes were there.

A PLYMOUTH Rock hen named "Peg," living on Long Island, has been losing weight. Police Chief William Keefe put pheasant's eggs under Peg and she finds herself absolutely unable to keep up with the young pheasants. They do not come home, never settle down under her feathers, hide under briars.

Human mothers can sympathize with this Plymouth Rock. They have been raising young things that hide under briars called night clubs.

PLAN TO THROW WAR COST ON U. S. DENOUNCED BY LEGISLATORS

Fight to Get Cash Nearly Unanimous

By FRASER EDWARDS

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Every man and woman in an aroused Congress, with a single exception, stands against cancellation of the $11,000,000,000 war debts owing to the United States by European nations.

This all but unanimous sentiment in the Senate and House, which will have the last word on any change in the present debt settlements, was revealed today in a poll by Universal Service.

The one exception was Senator Elmer Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma. In a telegram to Universal Service from Ponca City, Okla., last night, Thomas said:

"I approve cancellation of war debts."

SHUN REVISION TALK

Few members of either House were willing to even discuss the question of revising the debts in any way. The overwhelming majority regard the Lausanne agreement as a plot to saddle the entire cost of the war on the American taxpayers.

A mere handful of members expressed a willingness to consider proposals to reduce or wipe out the debts in return for concessions which they believe might prove advantageous to America in the end.

These proposals, which are still nebulous, all contemplate the forgiveness of German reparations by the Allies, revision of the Ver-

McDevitt to Run On Lottery Platform

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 12.—(AP.)—Deciding to run again for President of the United States, John J. (Butch) McDevitt, who once spent a fortune on a one-night party, says he will stand on a platform calling for a national lottery to finance the government.

McDevitt admitted he didn't think his present chances are any better than they were in 1916, when his nomination occurred during a party he was giving in New York, financed by an unexpected legacy.

MacDonald Holds Crisis 'Delicate'

International News Service.

LONDON, July 12.—Admission that "delicate relations" exist between the United States and Britain on the war debt question was made by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald in a speech before the House of Commons this afternoon.

During a lengthy address which held the unbroken attention of Parliament, Premier MacDonald failed to answer the charge made by former Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill that the Lausanne reparations treaty was null and void unless America canceled or reduced the war debts.

He denied, however, that there was a secret agreement to this effect, explaining the situation by stating he had openly promised Germany a new conference if the present pact failed.

APPEALS TO PAPERS

The Premier made no allusion to the statement of Neville Chamberlain, present chancellor of the exchequer, that the United States was consulted before the agreement was reached, but insisted that America never had uttered a pledge or indicated how far it would go in reducing war debts.

MacDonald closed his address with an appeal to American newspaper correspondents "not to use their voices to make it difficult for America to understand us."

The Prime Minister was greeted with cheers when he arose to speak. He said:

"I claim for the Lausanne conference that it can lead to a settlement of those questions of reparations which are at the

Lloyd George Asks Debt Plot Text

LONDON, July 12.—(INS.)—Obviously unsatisfied with Premier MacDonald's explanation, David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, demanded this afternoon that the House of Commons be given "the whole story" of the secret "gentlemen's agreement" making the Lausanne reparations treaty contingent upon American war debt reduction or cancellation.

Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, he said, "let the cat out of the bag" by revealing existence of the secret agreement.

PARIS, July 12.—(INS.)—The French government may make public the official text of the "gentlemen's agreement" reached at Lausanne in an effort to counteract the effect of the "brutally undiplomatic language" of a supposed text published in the United States, it was learned tonight.

Two Men Burned In Gas Tank Blast

KANE, Pa., July 12.—(AP.)—Two men were burned today in an explosion of gasoline fumes in a tunnel under a filling station. The blast shook the business section.

H. D. Curry, 36, manager of the station, and C. E. Tracy, 54, a plumber, entered the tunnel to examine a plugged sewer. Curry lighted a cigaret. Gasoline fumes from a tank truck ignited and hurled both men out of the tunnel.

WAR DEBTS!

LONDON—Premier MacDonald: Delicate relations exist between the United States and Britain. Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain: We were in touch at Lausanne not only with other European representatives, but we had the opportunity for conversations with representatives of the United States.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Stimson: No State Department representative was qualified to promise cancellation or drastic reduction under any "gentlemen's agreement."

PARIS—Premier Herriot proposes to renew the Hoover moratorium, scrap the Lausanne agreement, and restore the Young Plan if the United States does not slash debts drastically before December 15—the next pay day.

BERLIN—Chancellor von Papen: Germany had no part in any "gentlemen's agreement" whereby liquidation of her reparations account at one cent on the dollar was predicated on United States debt slashes or cancellation.

BUT

There can be no mistake about the attitude of the Congress of the United States, both Houses of which were polled.

The Senate stands 79 to 1 against cancellation, with only 15 senators willing to consider readjustments on basis of trade advantages to the United States.

Hope Davis Wins Estate of Author

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 12.—Hope Davis, 19, daughter of the late Richard Harding Davis, author and war correspondent, and of Bessie McCoy Davis, famous a generation ago as the "Yama Yama Girl" when she starred in "The Three Twins," will inherit the entire Davis estate when she is of legal age, Surrogate George Slater ruled today. The estate is valued at approximately $145,000.

COUNTY QUIZ TO BE LED BY COYNE

House, Senate Vote Inquiry Into Cost Of Government

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 12.—Senator James J. Coyne, political foe of County Commissioners C. M. Barr and William D. Mansfield, and mild opponent of Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, will head a committee to investigate the "high cost of government in Allegheny County," the House having approved a resolution introduced in the Senate last night by Coyne, and passed unanimously.

Coyne is almost certain to be chairman of the investigating committee. Speaker Goodnough said he would consult with Allegheny assemblymen before naming the three House members.

The resolution provides for the appointment of a committee of two Senators and three members of the House. It recites that Allegheny County "is one of the outstanding examples of the costly administration of the public's business."

INCLUDES CITIES

Coyne today said his resolution embraced an investigation into the costs of city government, though no specific mention is made of Pittsburgh or the third class cities in the county.

The committee is required to report to the 1933 session of the Legislature "what legislation should be passed to reduce the cost of government."

The political color of the resolution is included in the last paragraph, which empowers the committee to issue subpenas "commanding any person or persons to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such

PENNA. BOY'S DEATH TO BE PROBED

Reopen Case of Loretto Youth Shot Fleeing Florida Camp

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 12.—District Attorney W. Lloyd Hibbs today received a letter from Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish announcing that Gov. Doyle E. Carleton, of Florida, has promised a full investigation of the fatal shooting of Harold Bradley, whose home was near Loretto, last May 11.

Bradley, held at a prison camp, it is said, sought to escape inhuman treatment, and four rifle bullets were found in his body when it was brought here.

Previously the District Attorney of the Florida County in which the shooting occurred informed Mr. Hibbs a grand jury investigation had exonerated the prison camp guards, but in view of the Maillefert "torture" case, a further investigation was demanded.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

International News Service.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 12.—Disappearance of two guards, stationed at the Sunbeam prison camp when Arthur Maillefert, 19-year-old New Jersey youth, met his "torture death," today forced a postponement of the grand jury investigation of that tragedy.

The grand jury, led by Al. F. Gorman, foreman, was taking evidence on the beating of other prisoners at the Sunbeam camp. The two guards, Gordon Denmark and Democratic Victory Hinted by Dr. Butler

LONDON, July 12.—(INS.)—The prophesy that the Democratic party "might win" the American presidential election was made here today by Nicholas Murray Butler, leader of the wet ranks at the recent Republican national convention.

Dr. Butler's prophesy was made in the course of a speech at a luncheon tendered him by the Association of American Correspondents. He refused to divulge which candidate he would support.

MUST CLEAR MYSTERY OFFICIAL SAYS

Libby to Leave for Rest in Home at Cincinnati

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 12.—(AP.—Sheriff Transou Scott today said his investigation of Smith Reynolds' death was not closed, but he declined to say what his next step in the inquiry into the shooting of the heir to tobacco millions would be.

The Sheriff issued a brief formal statement in which he took no notice of a decision by a Coroner's jury last night that Reynolds, who was shot to death in his home here last Wednesday, came to his death by a gunshot wound at the hands of a party or parties unknown.

The statement said:

"So far as I and my office are concerned, the investigation is not closed. No case is closed as long as it remains a mystery and unsolved, but I am not in a position to give a statement of in what particular way the investigation will be conducted"

LIBBY TO LEAVE

Meanwhile, Libby Holman, former Broadway blues singer and widow of Reynolds, prepared to leave for her father's home in Cincinnati, O. The verdict of the coroner's jury last night released her and Albert Walker, 19, of Winston-Salem, lifelong chum of Reynolds, from custody. They had been held as material witnesses.

Albert Holman, Cincinnati attorney and father of Libby, said they would leave for Cincinnati at 3:25 p. m. (eastern standard time) by a Norfolk and Western train. Libby's mother and a sister, Mrs. Myra Kahn, of Cincinnati, will return to Cincinnati with Holman and Libby. The train will arrive in Cincinnati tomorrow morning.

Her father said the 26-year-old widow had her first natural sleep since the tragedy early today. He said:

"She was, of course, quite overcome by the terrible experience she had to undergo before the coroner's jury."

MINE VIOLENCE IN OHIO GROWS

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—(AP.)—Gun battles, a bridge dynamiting, a fire and a near riot marked developments today in the five-month-old Ohio coal strike.

A youth was killed in a gun battle at Chauncey, Athens County, a New York Central bridge near the same village was dynamited, and the Kanawha and Michigan Railroad bridge at Albany, Athens County, was fired early today in what authorities said was an attempt by striking miners to intimidate workers.

The body of Ray Freeman, 18, was found in a cemetery a short time after an unknown number of persons fired on a National Guard camp at Chauncey.

Storey, Bandit, Dies Calling His Bride

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 12.—(INS.) — James O'Keefe, alias Storey, was dead today of bullet wounds received in attempting to escape from police yesterday. He was wanted by authorities of New Baltimore, O., in connection with the slaying of a town marshal there.

O'Keefe died in a hospital last night while calling in vain for "Marge," Mrs. Margaret Hardy O'Keefe, his bride of three weeks, who married him unaware of the fact that he was a suspected criminal.

TWO FATHER COX AIDES FINED

Two men described as representatives of Father James R. Cox's Jobless Party were fined $10 in Mt. Washington Police Court today on charges of operating an employment agency without a license.

Plainclothesman Patrick Tully testified the two—William G. Kling, 41, Clarence H. Grove, 40—were hiring men and women at 16 Wabash avenue to take a census and solicit funds for the Jobless Party.

Attorney Austin Staley, counsel for the defendants, denied the charge and argued the men were simply taking names for Edward J. Steed, of 6028 Center avenue. He protested to Magistrate J. J. Sweeney:

Staley said he would appeal.

Girl Asleep 150 Days, Recovery Hope Fades

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP.)—The one hundred fiftieth day of Patricia Maguire's long sleep brought little hope that she ever would awaken.

All known treatments for her malady, sleeping sickness, have failed to arouse her from the coma into which she lapsed on February 15 as she was preparing to leave her Oak Park home for church.

Research students and authorities on the disease have entered the case, described by her physician as one of the most baffling on record. A serum with which they are experimenting for the first time has been tried in an effort to help Miss Maguire, an attractive brunette of 27 years, but its effects have been meager.

In the meantime, life is sustained through nourishment administered through the nostrils every three hours, and frequent massaging has prevented muscles from atrophying.

SCHNADER, 7 SENATORS TO SIFT CHARGES AGAINST AINEY

RIAL APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF GROUP

Committee Hostile to Pinchot Named as P. S. C. Probers

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 12.—Attorney General William A. Schnader and a Senate committee of seven members today began a survey of charges against William D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, and Ainey's denial that he had received $150,000 and other emoluments from the late Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. The group met this afternoon.

If the committee, of which Senator William S. Rial, of Westmoreland County, is chairman, and the Attorney General, decide that the charges have substance, recommendation will be made to the Senate for a thorough investigation.

SEVEN WITNESSES

Schnader this morning said he had seven witnesses to call before the committee. The disposition of the group was to hasten consideration of the Ainey case and make an immediate report to the Senate, possibly before the end of the week.

Rial, chairman of the committee sitting with Schnader, has been bitterly fought by Gov. Pinchot, and his defeat for renomination in the primary last spring is attributed to the Pinchot influence.

Other members of the committee are Senators Coyne, Earnest, Buckman, Clippinger, Roberts and Salus, the majority numbered among the anti-Pinchot group.

Decision of the Senate last night to proceed with the Ainey investigation immediately represented a complete reversal of policy by the Republican state organization.

At yesterday's hearing Ainey, through his counsel, John P. Connelly, refused to submit to the Governor a list of his real estate holdings, stocks and bonds at the time he became a Public Service commissioner, and annually thereafter, together with the names of banks in which he had carried accounts.

UP TO SENATE

With this question and two other minor interrogations, the Governor adjourned the hearing with the notice that he would turn the case over to the Attorney General, who would co-operate with the Senate, before which Ainey demanded the charges be fully aired.

Connelly is understood to have in his possession an affidavit by William Rommell, former chauffeur to Ainey, that testimony had been sought from him that he had driven Ainey on numberless occasions to Mitten's home.

William S. Adams, frequent anti-dry candidate for the Senate, and now apparently a political agent for the Pinchot administration, is known to have escorted Rommell before the Attorney General.

Rommell, in his affidavit, claims he was taken by Adams to Duncan McCallum, personnel officer of the administration, and told to ask for a $200 a month job in the highway department as the price of his testimony, or take $175 as a last resort.

McCallum is reported to have replied that he couldn't guarantee a job, but that Adams was a friend of P. S. Stahlnecker, secretary to the Governor, and could get whatever he wanted.

Legislators, Pastor Hurt in Car Upset

FARRELL, Pa., July 12.—(INS.)—Three state officials and the Rev. H. M. Stevenson, of Farrell, today were recovering from cuts and bruises received when the car in which they were traveling to Harrisburg overturned near Ebensburg yesterday.

Besides the Rev. Stevenson, those injured were State Senator Howard Painter, of Butler, and Representatives Charles Graham and George Bicker, also of Butler. All returned to their homes after the accident.

W. Va. Legislature In Special Session

House Ready to Speed State's Relief Program

Agreement Looked For on Reduction Of State Costs

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(AP.)—The House today determined upon a course of quick legislative action, agreed upon another night session for tonight, and prepared to receive its appropriation committee's report on suggested governmental economies.

The action lent emphasis to reports that, on the basis of a new, modified economy plan, the legislators are ready to bring the special session called for unemployment relief and budget balancing to an early close, possibly as soon as the end of next week.

ACTION DELAYED

While the Senate moved steadily along, disposing of a relatively unimportant calendar, the House sent all appropriation bills back to committee to clear the stage for the recommendations of the Steedle sub-committee. Once this report has been made, Republican leaders indicated the entire mass of appropriation legislation will be dumped into the House where the members may make an immediate choice on the conflicting bills.

Chairman Joseph G. Steedle's committee completed the long series of conferences with departmental heads and fiscal officers and called upon Gov. Pinchot. Chairman Steedle reported the conference was amicable. The Chief Executive said he had informed the group reductions beyond the $25,000 cut he has made cannot be effected if his office is to bear the burden of distributing expected federal relief.

Unofficial reports on the subcommittee's inquiry have established a general relief that the total economies to be recommended will be below the Talbot-Turner bloc proposal of $27,000,000. A reduction of $23,000,000 is generally expected.

BILLS PASSED

The House passed one bill finally and defeated a second; the Senate passed two and defeated one. By this action the Senate received the McElwee House bill permitting poor districts to supply from their lists of unemployed labor for public improvement projects. SEEK SHOVEL DYNAMITERS

State police and county detectives today investigated the dynamiting of a gasoline shovel, which was to have begun digging red dog at the old Blaine mine, Elizabeth, this morning. It was blown up at 2 a. m., entailing $2,000 damage. The blast ignited gasoline in the tank, police said.

Alex McLay, Elizabeth contractor, yesterday prepared the shovel for use today to resurface Forward Township roads. He is said to have been hauling slag on a road job in Washington County, where there is a strike among the road workers.

The red dog was to have been dug on a lease operated by M. P. Irwin, Forward Township road commissioner.

Probation Revoked On Second Offense

Probation sentence of one year in jail imposed upon Charles I. Black, 40, Negro, was revoked by Judge Nelson McVicar today when Black was arraigned on a second violation. Black was placed on probation last June 28. He was arrested again by prohibition agents on July 7 in a raid.

TAX REFORMERS RALLY TONIGHT

KITTANNING, Pa., July 12.—Hundreds of members of Tax Justice League of Armstrong County will hold a parade and mass meeting here tonight, preparatory to the automobile procession to Harrisburg Thursday, when leagues of six counties will present a petition to Gov. Pinchot and the Legislature, demanding relief from the burden of taxation.

Meetings have been held almost nightly in rural schoolhouses. Bands, redfire and speechmaking will mark tonight's rally.

Several thousand are expected to join in the march to Harrisburg. Tax leagues of Armstrong, Butler, Indiana, Cambria, Westmoreland and Jefferson counties will meet at Blairsville, where the cavalcade will start.

The petition demands taxation of all incomes for school purposes except those from real estate; state maintenance of all highways; immediate slashing of governmental costs to pre-war figures.

STATE SENATE GETS BEER BILL

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(AP.)—Representative Sowers, of Philadelphia, last night introduced a bill calling for amendment of the state prohibition law to change the legal alcoholic content of beer from ½ of 1 per cent to an amount "intoxicating in fact." The alcoholic content "intoxicating in fact" would be left to juries to determine.

Sowers said he justified introduction of the measure in the unemployment relief session because "manufacturing of beer would give employment to thousands of persons."

BEAVER AVENUE BANK CLOSES

The Bank of Secured Savings, 1629 Beaver avenue, was closed by the Pennsylvania State Department of Banking today because of "frozen assets and impairment of the capital structure."

The bank, according to state department figures, has a capital surplus, undivided profits and a reserve of $425,000, and total deposits of $1,400,000.

The bank is the first closed here since January 27.

SENATE CHIEFS FAVOR REPEAL MOTION

Watson and Robinson For Submission Resolution

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The two-party leaders in the Senate today pledged themselves to vote in behalf of a resolution submitting the Eighteenth Amendment for repeal.

"I shall vote for submission when it comes before the Senate on its own merits."

A similar statement was made by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Both Watson and Robinson have opposed modification and resubmission proposals in the past.

Meanwhile, a resolution asking the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service to inform the Senate what constitutes an intoxicant today provoked a heated inter-party exchange of words.

The resolution was offered by Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, but Senator Sheppard, (Dem.) of Texas, objected to its consideration.

The Bingham 2.75 per cent beer bill reposed today under the leafy mold of the Senate Judiciary Committee's boneyard.

Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, the committee chairman, said:

"The bill is dead for this session."

When the Senate voted, 50 to 25, in favor of the motion of Senator Robinson, referring the bill to committee, the last hope of the Republican anti-drys to force a modification measure through at this session was flattened.

Mme. Jeritza—the Baroness Popper-Pobhragy in her home Vienna—reported sought by a bailiff trying to serve an attachment in a suit brought by a jeweler who says she bought $24,000 in jewelry, paid $6,000 cash, didn't pay the $2,000 monthly agreed upon.

'Mercy Slayer' Of Child to Quit Insane Asylum

MASSILLON, O., July 12.—(AP.)—James Stenhouse, 46, "mercy slayer" of his child, will be released from the State Insane Hospital tomorrow as normal both mentally and physically.

Stenhouse was committed to the hospital last January when the grand jury at Millersburg refused to indict him after he confessed chloroforming his baby boy to death nearly three years ago. At the time, he said the child was suffering from an incurable brain disease and he "knew he was doing right" in ending its life.

Under Ohio law, Stenhouse now may be tried for murder, but whether any action would be taken was doubtful.

FOOD SHORTAGE WORRIES B. E. F.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS.)—A new campaign, designed to add to the fast diminishing food supply of the bonus army was under way here today.

The veterans were living on slim rations again and leaders said additional supplies must be obtained or their men would have nothing tomorrow.

National Commander Walter W. Waters was the spearhead of the drive for food. He spoke over a national radio hookup from Station WOR at Newark last night, and today planned another trip into Pennsylvania. Waters said the difficulty was not so much getting food, as transporting it to the capital.

An inquiry into food collections was demanded by Roy W. Robertson, leader of the California contingent which arrived here on Saturday. Robertson charged that thousands of dollars had been collected by different organizations from coast to coast, and diverted from the B. E. F. treasury.

AIR CRASH KILLS 'CZECH FORD'

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 12.—(AP.)—Thomas Bata, Czechoslovakian "shoe king," veteran aviation enthusiast and known as the Henry Ford of Czechoslovakia, was killed today when his private plane crashed over his own flying field at Otrokowitz. He was 56.

Bata, who with his brother Altstadt, acquired a fortune making shoes, was an advocate of the use of airplanes for commercial transportation. Two years ago he bought three tri-motored planes for use in his business. Originally he planned to fly to the United States in one of them.

He studied machine production in Germany and in 1904 built the first factory in the Austro-Hungarian monarchy in which machinery supplanted hand labor. Soon afterward he went to America with several of his employes to study mass production methods, then reorganized his plant along American lines.

ASK ROOSEVELT, HOOVER HERE

Appearance of both Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, and President Hoover, appeared today to be a possible feature of the American Legion state convention here next month.

While the New York executive was in receipt of an invitation from the Legion state department, State Adjt. James J. Deighan, of Philadelphia, and local convention officials this afternoon were conferring with Joseph F. Guffey, Roosevelt leader in Pennsylvania. Guffey was asked to extend a further invitation from party leaders. The invitation to President Hoover was given through Senator David A. Reed last week.

SENATE DRAWS NEW RELIEF MEASURE

House Progressives Assail 'Timidity' Of Hoover

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A complete substitute jobless relief bill designed to meet demands of President Hoover, was unanimously approved by the Senate Banking Committee today.

The House Ways and Means Committee, joining in the effort to rush a $2,100,000,000 bill to the President that he will sign, named a sub-committee to draw up a new measure.

Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, in charge of the measure, said he hoped to obtain passage of the bill today as a rider to a pending highway measure.

CHANGES APPROVED

Changes approved by the Banking Committee include:

Eliminated proposition for loans by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to individuals, to which the President objected. Also eliminated loans to private industry.

Approved Glass amendment authorizing Federal Reserve Banks to loan private corporations and individuals which cannot obtain banking loans, under restrictions.

Inserted amendment removing Eugene Meyer, governor of Federal Reserve Board, and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan Commissioner, from Reconstruction Finance Board, as asked by the President. Provided also for one new appointee so the board may be made non-partisan.

Provided that no loan can be made by R. F. C. to any financial institution in which a director of the board is interested or in which a board member was interested within 12 months.

HOOVER CALLED 'TIMID'

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS.)—"Utter lack of vision" and the "timidity" of President Hoover, as well as "the apparent surrender of the legislative branch of the government," were excoriated today in a statement by the allied progressive group of the House. The attack was directed against the relief legislation vetoed yesterday by the President.

The group, headed by Representative LaGuardia (Rep.), of New York, issued a statement pointing that unemployment has greatly increased, the plight of the farmer is worse than when the session began, and that nothing has been done for these two groups. The "drippings" from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, promised for the under dog, have not materialized, it set forth.

The statement said:

"It is difficult to understand constitutional, economic or any other kind of objection to any provision of a beneficial law applicable to all citizens alike. It is admitted that public, state, municipal semi-public and private funds for the relief of distressed citizens are depleted. Immediate direct relief is necessary. Employment must be created. Purchasing power must be re-established.

R. F. C. CENSURED

"We submit to the American people that to date the R. F. C. has loaned, or is committed to loan, the staggering amount of $1,054,814,486 and no visible or tangible benefit to unemployment or agriculture has been produced. To the contrary, the loans have been directed to sources that in part were responsible for the financial chaos and have been used to strengthen their wicked position."

The group demanded:

Substantial direct relief to states apportioned by need;

A public works program of sufficient size to check the downward spiral of deflation, and;

Cessation of reconstruction loans except to live, productive, creative enterprises;

The group demanded also recess of Congress instead of adjournment, as they "reluctantly record the fact that the situation is alarming and that Congress will necessarily have to stand by."

Penna Women Anti-Drys Indorse Roosevelt

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(INS.)—In sympathy with the Democratic party's anti-dry platform, members of the Pennsylvania Division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform were urged to support Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency in a resolution adopted unanimously this afternoon by the executive committee.

The resolution, which also urges support of the wet candidates of either party for both houses of Congress, is an indorsement of the stand taken by the national executive committee of the organization last Thursday in New York.

Although opposition to the executive committee's action was expected to develop in the advisory council, Mrs. Graham Dougherty, of Wyncote, chairman of the Pennsylvania division, stated the latter body is without power to rescind the action of the executive committee.

Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, Jr., of Radnor, introduced the resolution. Others present at the committee meeting included Mrs. George A. Dunning, Philadelphia; Mrs. C. Miller La Fitte, representing Mrs. Charles M. Lea, Devon; Mrs. Archibald Barclay, Wayne; Mrs. Carroll Miller, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mary Trainor, Wilkes-Barre; Mrs. John H. McCormick, Williamsport; Mrs. John R. Metcalf, Erie; Mrs. Morris Wolf, Elkins Park; Mrs. Albert Nalle, Montgomery County; Mrs. G. Dawson Coleman, Delaware County, and Mrs. Thora Scott Strong, Erie.

Romance Blasted, Claire Declares She Is 'Goat'

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP.)—Claire Windsor's dream of happiness, which she hoped would become real in a marriage to Alfred C. Read, Jr., young Oakland broker, has broken, and today she admitted,

"Now I know I am the goat."

The blonde stage and screen actress, under her signature in the Los Angeles Examiner, wrote the story of her association with Read, whose wife, Mrs. Marian Y. Read, has sued her for $100,000 alienation of affections and Read for divorce. The story read:

"I loved Alfred Read. It was a beautiful love, different than any I had ever known.

"He told me he wanted to marry me, wanted me to stop working on the stage and in pictures and be just his wife—his 'pal.'

"The idea appealed to me. He appealed to me. I have worked a great portion of my life, hard. I wanted to settle down, to love and be loved, to be his 'pal' waiting for him each night.

"I wanted, I planned to marry Alfred.

"All the money I had in the world—$10,000—I gave to him to invest. That is gone now."

Miss Windsor wrote that her hope for happiness was blasted on March 29, when Mrs. Read filed her suit. She said she met Read on a train to New York, and he said he was unmarried. The article continued:

"Later he said he was married but estranged from his wife and getting a divorce."

The article ended with:

"I have the courage of my convictions, and if this suit comes to trial I will win.

SHERIFF CONTINUES INQUIRY INTO REYNOLDS SHOOTING

LIBBY LEAVING FOR HOME IN OHIO

'Person of Persons Unknown' Killed Tobacco Heir

of regular routine, and there was no indication whether it would consider the case.

POSSIBLE MOVES

Solicitor Carlisle Higgins said the grand jury could move in the following ways, if it desired: Ask a transcript of testimony before the Coroner's jury; summons witnesses for independent inquiry; or make a presentment on general information before it, thus placing responsibility for further action on the solicitor. Higgins said he did not know whether the jury had considered the case at all.

Numerous developments, many sensational, marked the final day of the coroner's inquest.

Beginning in early afternoon, questioning of witnesses, led by Mrs. Reynolds, occupied a six-hour session.

The jury heard he 26-year-old widow describe unhappiness which prompted young Reynolds to make suicide threats on several occasions.

Some of these times, she said, she was led to believe he was crazy. At least once, she said, she expressed the belief to him. That was the last Sunday he lived. It caused him, she said, to leave her and spend the night at a hotel, from which he said he would go next morning to "have his head examined."

URGED AFFAIR

She explained that he was melancholy, fearful that a physical defect would cost him her love.

Once, she said, he urged her to have an affair with another man.

To this suggestion, she said, she replied:

"No, no. I told him my love for him was too great to be impaired by any one thing."

Coupled with her revelations of her brief wedded life was Walker's story of the tragic night when, after Smith had been "peeved" at Libby all night, the tobacco heir announced he was "going to end it all." Reynolds rushed upstairs, Walker said, and the sound of a shot was heard immediately afterward.

Questions by Solicitor J. Erle McMichael were directed at uncovering all possible information concerning the relationship between Walker and Libby.

Miss Ruby Jenkins, nurse at Baptist Hospital, where the dying Reynolds and his hysterical wife were taken early the morning of July 6, was a witness. She said Libby, clad in negligee, was taken to a room and that Walker soon made his appearance. The nurse and Miss Ethel Shore, night supervisor, said they heard a commotion in the room, and, investigating, found Libby and Walker struggling to arise from the floor. Libby was quoted as saying:

"Oh, my baby, my baby!"

In reply to Walker's question of what she meant, She replied:

"Don't you know I'm going to have a baby?"

DENIES LOVE MAKING

Walker denied he had been making love to Libby at the birthday party for C. G. Hill, where, others who attended testified, merrymakers were drinking corn whisky and "chasing it" with beer.

The jury heard from several other witnesses during the long session which preceded its three and a half hour deliberations.

James Shepherd, Lewis W. McGinnis, Charles Norfleet and Virginia Dunkle, of Winston-Salem, and C. Raymond Kranrer, of Flushing, L. I., Reynolds' tutor, described the party, the drinking and other events.

Shepherd said he did not see Mrs. Reynolds and Walker hugging and kissing at the boathouse on the private lake of the estate, as had been intimated.

When Walker reached the night of the death in his testimony he swore that the hospital incident happened after he and Libby had helped the mortally wounded youth, and that he became faint and fell to the floor, the nurses entering as Libby was helping him up.

He testified he had seen nothing out of the ordinary pass between young Reynolds and the brunette torch singer the fatal night, although he admitted Smith had told him a night or two before that he had begun to question his own sanity.

At this time, Walker said, he and Reynolds went to a hotel and drank themselves to sleep.

Walker said later, at the party, Libby threw her arms around him and cried:

"Smith doesn't love me."

Walker said she was "very tight" at the time, but denied she kissed him.

Leaving the boathouse, where several rounds of drinks had been served, Walker said Libby entered the house about 11 p. m. Tuesday night and retired.

At the time, he quoted Reynolds as saying:

TELLS OF THREAT

An hour later, he said, Reynolds entered the house and was joined by his wife. Entering Walker's room, the witness said they remained about 15 minutes, when Libby ran out, followed by Smith. Walker said Smith returned to the reception room in a few minutes, the young millionaire saying he was going away and not coming back. Walker quoted Smith as saying:

"I'm going to end it all."

As he made the suicide threat he pitched his pocketbook to Walker, told him to wait and went upstairs.

A moment later came the sound of a shot. Walker said Blanche Yurka, New York actress who was a guest in the home, began calling him. Then came a scream from Libby's room, and she ran out, dropping on a bench on the mezzanine balcony. Investigation revealed Smith, near death, lying on a bed on a sleeping porch adjoining the bedroom used by him and his wife.

REYNOLDS' GERMAN AUTOMATIC OF DEATH . . . ONE BULLET

PARTY CONCLAVE WHISTLER DIES

Page had attended every national convention of his party since 1876 and earned his unusual title by blowing a postman's whistle during the Houston convention in 1928. The sound was carried to thousands of homes over the radio and brought many queries as to the identity of the whistler.

"The Sage of Wheatland," as he was known to his neighbors, made his whistle heard at the Chicago convention this year, too. A chest injury suffered in a Chicago taxicab accident led to an illness which proved fatal.

HUTTON DEFIES TEMPLE FOES

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(INS.)—"I'll show these people that I am the Mussolini of Angelus Temple before I'm through with them," roared "Debonair Dave" Hutton, rotund and love suit losing husband of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, today, as he defied efforts of Aimee's board of deacons to legally oust him as business manager.

The board, piqued over the unfavorable publicity that resulted from Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre's heartache suit against Hutton, whom she charged betrayed her under a promise of marriage and then jilted her for Aimee, was understood secretly to have ousted Hutton.

Aimee was reported "tired of it all and ready to sell Angelus Temple."

Meanwhile Myrtle Hazel's attorneys declared that if Dave was penniless, as he alleged, Aimee would have to pay the $5,000 judgment.

Unemployed Build 'Depression Beach'

Last night Council voted to hire a lifeguard between 1 and 5 p. m., the children's hours. Police will be on guard during the other hours.

Council also voted to assume the 3 per cent electric tax on current consumed by borough users. The town owns its own light plant.

Ask High Court Approve 'Shorts' for Girls

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP.)—The Superior Court has been asked to give its judicial approval to the wearing of "shorts" by feminine athletes in the city's parks and thereby end a controversy which has been rampant since July 4.

Two comely tennis players who preferred the highly modern shorts to the old-fashioned skirts yesterday filed a petition for an injunction against an Irving Park board edict banning the shorts.

Victor Frohlich, attorney for the petitioners—Ruth Smstny, 18, and Mona Thome, 20—challenged both the right and ability of the park officials to censor the costumes. He said:

"The new shorts tend toward grace and beauty and fulfill all the canons of decency. They are worn by women in the Olympic Games."

Eugene Utz, recreation director, who imposed the ban, and the park trustees were made defendants.

Hoover Will Avoid Active Campaign

CHICAGO, July 12.—(INS.)—President Hoover will not actively participate in the Republican campaign this fall, Everett Sanders, national chairman, announced today.

Sanders disclosed the campaign would not be officially launched until the President had been formally notified of his nomination in early August. Members of the Republican executive committee named included Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Pennsylvania.

WEST VA. FLOOD TOLL MOUNTS; 25 DEAD

Rescuers Make Way on Foot Into Region Laid Waste

International News Service.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 12.—A united army of rescue workers, pushing into the flood-washed valleys of Paint and Armstrong creeks on foot today, bosted the estimated toll of yesterday's catastrophic cloudburst to 25 dead and $2,000,000 in property damage.

As relief agencies joined hand in hand to meet one of the most serious disasters recorded in West Virginia's mountains, the tales of havoc and devastation increased with each scanty report from rescue workers carrying food and clothing into the stricken mining districts in Kanawha and Fayette counties.

COTTAGESS DEMOLISHED

With hundreds of flimsy miner's cottages battered to bits by the roaring flood, at least 800 homeless, bodies lying on the banks where they were left by receding waters, and refugees floating helplessly down the streams on makeshift rafts, the entire section was a scene of catastrophe and disaster.

The branch line railroads which wind into the flood section have been washed away.

Hundreds of refugees, telling a gruesome story of being trapped in their sleep by a great wall of muddy water early yesterday, camped out on the mountain sides with their families, awaiting more boxes of provisions from relief workers.

FOOD RUSHED

Several truck loads of food, blankets and clothing were dispatched to the flood sections at once. Railroad communication was impossible in many areas, the waters from the swollen streams having carried away the rails or battered down the bridges.

At Paint Creek Junction all eastbound traffic was halted when parts of a Chesapeake and Ohio bridge was washed away. Concrete highways were sent adrift in the vicinity of Kimberly and Powellton on Armstrong Creek.

The surging waters picked up automobiles and bounced them against neighboring hillsides, leaving them badly wrecked, it was reported.

Tales of heroism amid the confusion and disorder were told by exhausted rescue workers who returned to Charleston for additional supplies.

WOMAN SHOOTS MAN IN FIGHT

Walter Linet, of 650 Becks Run road, was shot in the ankle and Thomas McClinton, of 313 Camp street, was struck on the head early today in a melee in a Becks Run road barbecue precipitated when two men tried to destroy a mechanical music box.

Mrs. Helen Robinson, proprietor of the barbecue, said she shot Linet accidentally after firing three shots at two men who fled after threatening her with a revolver. She did not know how McClinton was injured, but detectives said he was struck during a fight in the place.

County detectives also said that George and Frank Walters, of 748 Clarissa street, were the two men who started the melee after the machine failed to work. Mrs. Robinson said she did not know the men and that she thought they meant to rob her.

GOV. ROOSEVELT HEADS YAWL INTO SOUND

Start Delayed by Stiff Wind After Night At Anchor

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 12.—The Myth II, carrying Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, Democratic presidential nominee, and his sons on a cruise up the New England coast, pulled out of the shelters of Morris Cove at 10:30 a. m. today after a night at anchor.

The yawl scurried out into Long Island sound with a northwesterly breeze and it was reported the Governor-skipper planned to make his next stop at New London, or, if wind and wave were right, proceed on to Watch Hill, R. I., for the night.

START DELAYED

An earlier start from the cove had been scheduled, but a stiff wind led to the decision to lay to until late morning.

The Governor's arms were a bit lame today from steering the yawl for 23 miles across the Sound yesterday from Port Jefferson, N. Y. He said:

The Governor was as delighted with the first day of his cruise as a boy with a new toy.

STUDIES STATEMENT

The Governor and his sons have been planning a cruise of this sort for four years and they are making the most of it. He remained aboard the yawl last night chatting with his sons and giving some thought to a statement which he is expected to issue shortly in reply to President Hoover's refusal to confer with him on power and navigation development of the St. Lawrence River.

Close friends of Mr. Roosevelt have indicated that he will take sharp issue with the President's declaration that there is nothing to confer about until after a treaty between the federal government and Canada has been negotiated.

The Governor insists that the treaty should not be ratified until New York's share of the cost has been agreed upon by the state and the federal government.

HOOVER 'BOLD,' SAYS MILLS

BOSTON, July 12.—(INS.)—Picturing President Hoover as "bold" and "fit," and portraying Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a man lacking in leadership with no program for relief, Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, had opened the battle today for the presidential campaign.

He officially launched the Republican drive to re-elect President Hoover in November with a speech in Faneuil Hall last night. He said:

"In my opinion no man living has the qualifications of President Hoover to meet the economic issues confronting America and the world."

Seeking Release

MARY ELIZABETH CONWAY

ILLNESS DELAYS 'HOSTESS' PLEA

From her bed in Allegheny General Hospital Mary E. Conway, who wanted to teach Pittsburgh girls how to be social hostesses (at $75 per hostess), had time to practice this tenet of her instructions:

"Stamina to press on amid difficulties and discouragement."

The Cincinnati teacher was arrested after the Better Business Bureau had received complaints from students. Tossed into jail, she obtained a writ of habeas corpus to argue for her release.

But the hearing was postponed in Common Pleas Court until tomorrow, when her attorney, Nathan Holstein, explained that she had been in the hospital for three days after taking an overdose of sleeping powder.

Arrest Pittsburghers As Arson Suspects

BEAVER, Pa., July 12.—Three additional suspects, arrested as members of an alleged arson ring, are being held in the county jail for investigation. They are Manuel H. Harris, 38, Beaver Falls, merchant; L. J. Kamons, 55, and his son, Abbon Kamons, 21, of 5812 Darlington road, Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh.

Girl Living in Woods Sent Up as Vagrant

BALTIMORE, July 12.—(INS.)—Miss Anna Flint, 27, who said she lived the last month in a woods, sleeping beneath a tree and wearing a man's clothing, was restored to "civilization" today.

Police Court sentenced her to spend three months in the House of Correction on a charge of vagrancy after her father said she had not lived at home for a year.

SOCIETY WOMAN TRAPS THREE IN KIDNAP PLOT

Holds Suspects Until Arrival of Sleuth's Baby Victim

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Quick thinking on the part of Mrs. F. Scott Durand, wealthy society matron, was responsible today for the arrest of three men suspected of plotting the kidnaping of her granddaughter.

Mrs. Durand succeeded in in detaining the men at her estate, Crabtree Farm, at Lake Bluff, until Chicago detectives arrived. Two of the suspects gave the names of Joseph Verdico, 35, said to be a former policeman, and Peter Cunniff, 52.

BABY INTENDED VICTIM

The victim of the suspected abduction scheme was to have been Patricia Grace Durand, 2, daughter of Jack Durand, who served two years and three months in the state penitentiary in connection with the theft of jewels from the home of F. Edson White, former head of Armour & Co. Durand, who was paroled in 1928, is a foster son of the F. Scott Durands.

Assistant City of Detectives Walter Storms, Detective William Hennessy and other officers made the arrests. According to Hennessy, a letter demanding $50,000 and threatening the abduction of the child was received by Jack Durand on June 25.

SEARCH FOR BABY

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—(AP.)—One hundred Minnesota National Guardsmen today were ordered into the hunt for Leslie Delano, 20-month-old child, who disappeared from his home in suburban Columbia Heights.

The troops were ordered mobilized last night, but search participation was delayed by dissension between Mayor H. F. Welch, of Columbia Heights, and three leaders of organizations there.

The latter requested the troops, but Mayor Welch said they were not needed and that their presence would interfere with work on a "hot clue."

GOVERNOR ACTS

Today Gov. F. B. Olson said:

"Our only concern is to find the missing child. The search must go on at once."

Planes were ordered out also.

Some investigators expressed belief the child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Delano, was victim of a hit and run driver. Nearby buildings, swamps and lakes have been searched. Some officers believe the child was kidnaped, but the parents are not wealthy and no motive was known.

Watchman Held In Crossing Death

W. T. Blackford, 75, watchman at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Dixon street crossing in Homestead, was held today on a manslaughter charge after a coroner's jury had heard testimony that he failed to lower the railroad gates in time to prevent a freight train from striking an auto. Andrew Pesolka, 23, of 1219 Ann street, Homestead, was killed.

COYNE MOVES TO INVESTIGATE COUNTY COSTS

books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary."

The terms of the resolution will provide a political field day for Coyne and give him authority to inquire into the minute structure of the county government under the reconstruction instituted by the new board of commissioners. It could be utilized by Coyne as campaign material in the next mayoralty primary, and he could hammer at such minor faults as could be uncovered, all the time aiming at bigger game.

AFTER ELECTIONS BUREAU

Coyne could bring in not only the commissioners, but any subordinates, and subject them to closest cross-examination. It is known Coyne would like to make some inquiries about the Bureau of Elections, having charged last week in the Senate that the costs of this bureau had been increased without any resulting addition of efficiency.

County Commissioner Mansfield, in his dual capacity as a State Senator and Commissioner, voted for the resolution last night. Mansfield said:

Practically every act of the General Assembly that concerned Allegheny County during the 10 years I have been a member of the Senate has added to the cost of government there. Many of these acts I opposed. If a committee can be appointed by the House and Senate that can aid in reducing governmental costs, it will at least in part restore to the taxpayers much that the Legislature has taken away from them."

Coyne, however, is not so much concerned with the costs of government except as they fall under the jurisdiction of the County Commissioners. Today he said:

"I call attention to high salaries paid to county officials by the County Commissioners after Senator Mansfield, in his campaign, said he would cut costs of government. If you want to mention names, consider the heads of the Bureau of Election and the Airport, who are performing services not worth $8,000 a year to the people."

TAX COST BATTLE

Another Coyne-Mansfield fight is scheduled late this afternoon when the committee on new counties and county seats holds a public hearing on the Mansfield bill to do away with the fee office of delinquent tax collector in Allegheny County. The incumbent, John Brown, is an appointee of County Treasurer Robert S. Cain, political associate of Coyne and Mayor Charles H. Kline. Fees for this office are estimated to be $100,000 a year.

Mansfield and Coyne tangled on this bill last week, Mansfield challenging Coyne to support it and be consistent in his demand for lowered costs of government. Coyne claimed that Mansfield as a member of the County Salary Board wanted jurisdiction in fixing the salary for the office.

The Allied Boards of Trade, the Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce are expected to have representatives at the hearing this afternoon in behalf of the bill. J. Roland Brady will represent the Real Estate Board, and George B. Snyder, William G. Negley, Dr. A. L. Lewin and C. V. Shoup will speak for the Allied Boards.

Coyne today denied he had so far opposed the bill and said he could not tell how he would vote. Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and Morris Einstein adopted the same attitude. Senators Mansfield, Frank J. Harris and Herman Brandt said they would vote for abolition of the fees in the office.

Alderdice 'Welcomes' City Cost Inquiry

City Budget Controller Robert J. Alderdice, commenting on the Coyne resolution to investigate the cost of government in Allegheny County, and possibly in Pittsburgh and other cities throughout the state, said:

"I, for one, would welcome an investigation of our expenditures, because Pittsburgh is one of the few cities in the United States that has reduced taxes, and at the same time kept from going into a huge deficit. Our bonds are always salable and are grabbed up eagerly by banking houses as soon as they are placed on the market. Other economies have resulted in a saving of $260,000 for the city by a special councilmanic savings fund originated when the office of budget controller was instituted."

PET POISONER SOUGHT

Fifty dollars reward has been offered by William Dafenbach, custodian of supplies at the University of Pittsburgh, for the arrest and conviction of any person caught setting poison for dogs and cats belonging to residents of Fleming street, on the North Side. Dafenbaugh's shepherd dog was one of 11 recently poisoned in the neighborhood. Besides the dogs, four cats and several birds have been poisoned.

All kinds of reasons have been advanced by people of the neighborhood for the poisoning. Some blame a tramp, some a maniac and others an enemy of domestic pets. Police have started an investigation.

SCORES PERILED IN BUS CRASH

More than two-score passengers in a New York-Pittsburgh bound Greyhound bus and a street car narrowly escaped injury early today as the two vehicles collided in Baum boulevard at Liberty avenue. Two persons were injured. In a collision of a street car and an automobile in McKeesport one man was seriously injured and several passengers shaken up.

John Swalwell, 37, of 2764 Homehurst street, Mt. Oliver, passenger in the street car, and Mrs. Grace Abbey, 30, of Detroit, a bus passenger, were taken to West Penn Hospital for observation. John F. Fife, 28, of near Bridgeville, bus driver, and Michael Kiley, 50, of 4 Arbor street, operator of the street car, were arrested on reckless driving charges.

Maurice Kaminsky, 32, of 132 Fourth street, McKeesport, was in McKeesport Hospital, today in a serious condition as result of a collision of an automobile and a street car at Ann street and Atlantic avenue, McKeesport. Kaminsky's automobile plunged into a yard after colliding with the car.

St. Irenaeus' Church To Hold Lawn Fete

St. Irenaeus' Catholic Church, of Oakmont, will hold its annual lawn fete at Oakmont and Maryland avenues, Saturday afternoon. Charles A. Flynn is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Crowley, Mrs. Frank Heisel, Louis J. Feight, Mrs. J. M. Fowler, Miss Eileen Fowler, Mrs. Anna Walters, James Fitzgerald, Hugh Murray, Louis Letugeb, A. J. Storm and Frank Sheets.

3 HELD IN TAXI ATTACK

Three men whom a taxi driver charged with beating him and burning his cab were held today in the county jail following a hearing last night before Justice of the Peace A. M. Parlak, of Braddock, on charges of aggravated assault and battery, larceny and arson.

Previous to the hearing before Parlak, the trio was fined $10 and sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse by Justice of the Peace James Rose, of Braddock, for an alleged attack on Patrolman William Craig.

The cab driver, E. H. Capaccioli, 19, of 223 Mathilda street, said his cab was taken from him by the men, Hugh Dowling, of 1114 Vickery street; Gerald McNamara, 29, and Jack Arens, 31, both of 1711 Liberty avenue, in Swissvale early yesterday.

Bandits Kidnap 'Gas' Station Attendant

Rodgers was ejected from the bandit-car in Highland Park, he told police.

Diver to Seek Body Of Versailles Boy

A diver will make an effort today to locate the body of Norman Copeland, 18, of 723 Bayne street, Versailles, who was drowned late Sunday when he dived into the Monongahela River below Lock No. 3.

Versailles volunteer firemen were dragging the river late yesterday as a plane flew near the surface in an attempt to sight the body.

Plan Birthday Party At Marathon Dance

Two girl dance marathoners are celebrating birthdays today and a specially arranged birthday party program has been planned for tonight as the contest passed the 847-hour mark. The girls to be honored at tonight's party are Laura Rapina and Lois Chestnut. Thirteen couples and a man soloist continue in the dance.

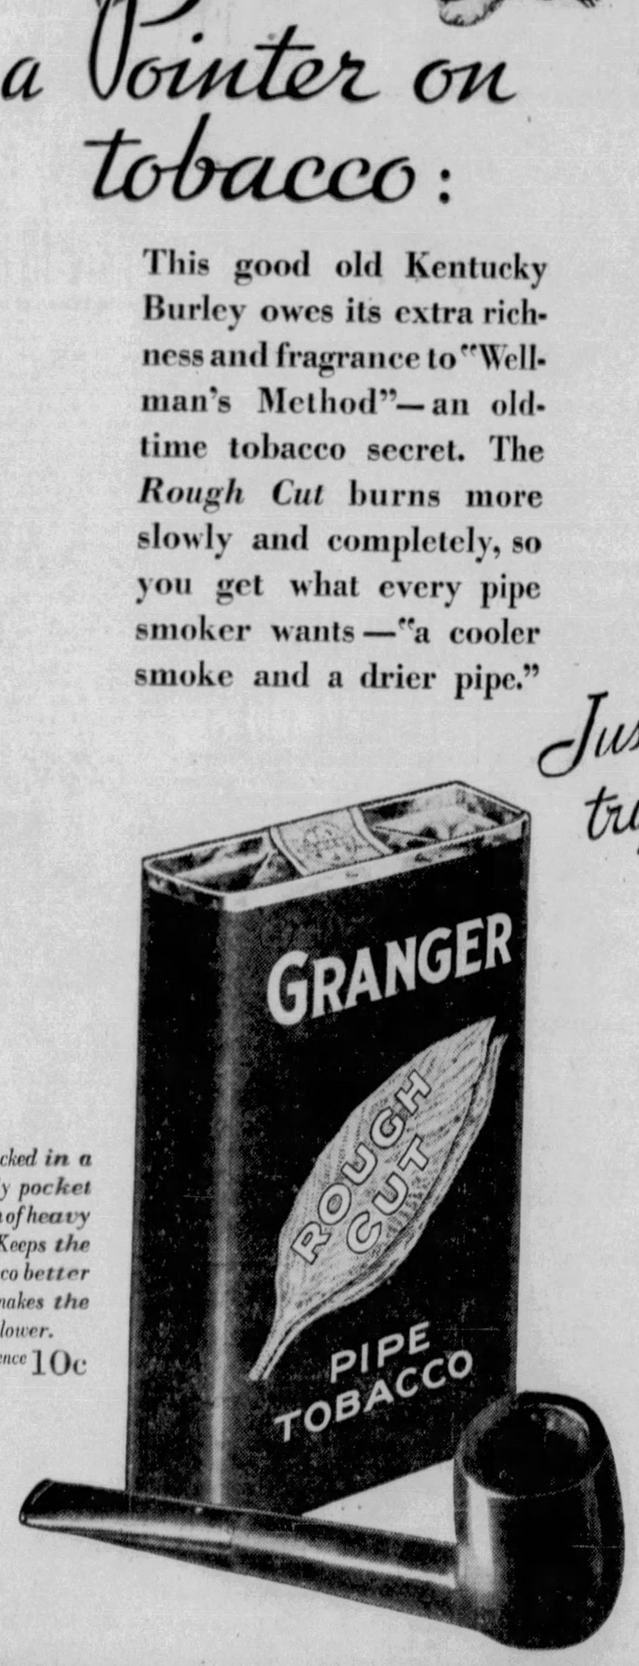
a Pointer on tobacco:

This good old Kentucky Burley owes its extra richness and fragrance to "Wellman's Method"—an old-time tobacco secret. The Rough Cut burns more slowly and completely, so you get what every pipe smoker wants—"a cooler smoke and a drier pipe."

Just try it!



Packed in a handy pocket pouch of heavy foil. Keeps the tobacco better and makes the price lower. Hence 10c

Cardinal Daugherty's Niece Weds in Rome

VATICAN CITY, July 12—(INS.)—Miss Mildred MacCormick, niece of Cardinal Daugherty, of Philadelphia, was married in the Cathedral of St. John Lateran today to David Morrissey Graham, Philadelphia newspaperman.

The ceremony took place in the picturesque Corsini chapel of the ancient cathedral. The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, the Rev. Carroll MacCormick, who was ordained as a priest only two days ago by the cardinal.

CONTRACT BRIDGE -:- How to Play and How to Win -:- By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Losing Honor-Tricks

There is one rule that should never be forgotten by players when they contemplate bidding for Slams—that is, the possibility of losing more than 1 trick to adversely held Aces and Kings.

Mr. Thomas H. Avery, of Le-Roy, N. Y., sent me the hand below the other day, stating that his opponents had reached a contract of six clubs, doubled, which, of course, was defeated. The bidding is a vivid illustration of how not to bid a hand.

South—Dealer
Neither side vulnerable

	♠ 9 8 ♡ 5 4 3 ◇ K Q J 2 ♣ A 10 7 6
♠ A K 5 4 ♡ 10 7 6 ◇ 10 5 4 3 ♣ 9 8		♠ Q J 7 6 ♡ Q J 9 ◇ A 9 8 7 6 ♣ K
	♠ 10 3 2 ♡ A K 8 2 ◇ — ♣ Q J 5 4 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡ (1)	Pass	2 N T (2)	Pass
3 ♣ (3)	Pass	5 ♣ (4)	Pass
6 ♣ (5)	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) Of course, the six-card suit should first be bid.

(2) North's response is correct.

(3) While South's hand is a bare minimum, he now feels that he must show his six-card suit.

(4) In support of partner's club bid, North holds only 4½ playing-tricks. The bid of five clubs is therefore very much of an overbid.

(5) Again an overbid, and, failing to take account of the fact that the bidding in the hands has disclosed only 5 honor-tricks, thus leaving unaccounted for 3 or more.

The Slam, which should not have been bid, was defeated 3 tricks, doubled, for a penalty of 400 points. South first lost 2 spade tricks, and West then shifted to the heart 10—not a very safe lead in view of the bidding—but the defeat of the contract was already assured. Placing the club King in the West hand because of the Double, South then finessed the trumps, losing to the singleton King.

On this hand the correct final declaration would probably have been two notrump, a contract which could be made, provided South correctly guessed the distribution of the clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

Will you please tell me explicitly how to keep the score when playing Duplicate Contract at one table?

Answer: The scoring is the same as in Rubber Bridge, except that overtricks, undoubled, are counted at their trick value; and a game must be scored in one hand. Of course, there is no rubber premium, 300 points being scored for a nonvulnerable game and 500 points for a vulnerable game.

Society Leaders Are Guests At Gala Broadcast of Music and Song

A gala show of dance music and song, staged at the Edgeworth Club, Sewickley, by a groupu of well known WCAE artists, is scheduled to go on the air over WCAE tonight from 8:30 to 9:30.

Miss Cruikshank

A varied program of dance music by a 15-piece orchestra under the direction of David Levin, harmony by the Lawson Sisters and solos and other arrangements by Betty Cruikshank, contralto; Paul Gannon, tenor; Richard Koch, baritone, and Raymond Griffin, basso, comprise the broadcast, which is witnessed by members of Pittsburgh social circles. A brief talk by James C. Chaplin, prominent bank executive, also is heard.

Addresses by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, head of Columbia University, and Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, at a Pilgrims' Society dinner in London, in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial, are heard in an international broadcast today. The program is scheduled on WJAS at 4:20.

This is another night of mystery and thrills on the air. From 9:30 to 10, on WJAS, one of Charles Barry's most exciting detective tales, "The Corpse on the Bridge," is dramatized as the Crime Club presentation.

"The Bryson Brothers Case," a true story of the shooting of two bank messengers and the subsequent capture of the criminals in one of the most heartless payroll robberies in the records of the New York Police Department, is re-enacted during the cigaret dance hour with Walter O'Keefe on WCAE at 10. The musical portion of the program is presented by Joe Moss and his Orchestra.

Program Pointers

The incident which prompted Lord Tennyson, great English poet, to give his heart to Emily Sellwood, sister of Louise Sellwood, his brother's wife, is dramatized during the "Sheer Romance" presentation over an NBC network from the studios of KDKA tonight at 6:30. The cast includes Helen Wayne, Claude Morris, Alma Lynd and Leon Churcheon. The musical background is provided by an orchestra under the direction of Zoel Parenteau and Arthur Ray Davis, tenor soloist.

Miss Wayne

Ray Perkins gives his views on week-end automobile touring, and turns his ingenious device for the elimination of pests, "The Firing Squad," to the person who sends postcards of summer hotels with the inscription, "Having a good time, wish you were here," during his program on WCAE at 7:30.

Continuing the serialized presentation of Beethoven's Fourth Symphony, Howard Barlow, conducting the Columbia Symphony Orchestra, gives his interpretation of the second, or Adagio, movement during a concert over WJAS tonight at 10:30.

Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit sing the George M. Cohan favorite of the 1900's, "M-A-Double R-I-E-D," as their opening duet over WCAE at 8 tonight.

Selections from the operatic and sacred works of the Italian composer, Verdi, are featured during the Goldman Band Concert tonight at 9:30 over KDKA.

Georgie Price gives his impression of Raymond Hitchcock singing "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go" during his program with Bennie Kreuger's orchestra on WJAS at 7:45.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, former heavyweight champion who conquered the mighty John L. Sullivan, is scheduled to speak from WINS (1120 kilocycles) tonight at 6:30.

Etzi Covato, pioneer radio band leader, and his La Veranda orchestra present a half-hour of luncheon dance tunes from KDKA tomorrow morning at 11:30.

Seibel Reads Poem In Weekly Talk

George Seibel, dramatic and literary critic of the Sun-Telegraph, discusses "Camille in the Rocky Mountains," and reads a Eugene Field poem when he gives his weekly "Plays and Players" talk from WCAE tonight at 7.

Uncle Bumpus and Billy read the Sun-Telegraph comics, pinch-hitting for Uncle Bob and Betty, who are spending a vacation with Uncle Tobias in the country, on WCAE tonight at 6.

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, goes on the air at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m., with the latest news flashes from the editorial room.

Peggy tells Pittsburgh shoppers about the city's most outstanding bargains during her "Peggy's Tips" talk from WCAE tomorrow morning at 9.

Fan Fare

Rhoda Arnold's lovely voice is frequently heard on Columbia network programs over WJAS including Light Opera Gems, the Madison Singers, the Artists' Recital and a number of other large musical presentations . . . Countess Olga Albani, dramatic soprano, heard on WCAE Friday nights, received her first dramatic training at the age of 4 when she participated in amateur theatricals with her parents at the family's ancestral castle near Barcelona, Spain.

Miss Arnold

One of Paul Whiteman's Christmas-time delights is his annual gift of assorted pots of flowers and plants to his intimate friends . . . The blossoms usually arrive about January 1, much to the surprise of those unacquainted with the Whiteman custom.

Donald Novis, youthful California tenor, heard over NBC neworks from New York, made his musical debut at the age of 6. He was lifted to the platform by his father, and brought down the house—or log cabin, to be exact—with a song called "Mary."

Gus Van, the Pickens Sisters and Victor Arden's Orchestra are combined in a new Saturday program to be started soon. It'll be called the "Week-end Revue" . . . Virginia Rea (Olive Palmer) will be heard with Paul Whiteman's Orchestra Friday, with apperances scheduled each third Friday thereafter . . .

Many hours are spent by Thomas Curtin, author of the dance hour police dramas, in preparing each 20-minute story. He spends 50 hours weekly investigating and collecting material from police files, and another 50 hours writing the script.

Herriot Victorious On Revenue Bill

PARIS, July 12.—(INS.)—Premier Edouard Herriot scored an important victory today in the Chamber of Deputies when his revenue bill to balance the budget was passed, 305 to 172. There were 125 absentees. The vote followed an all-night battle which did not conclude until shortly before noon.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(I'll bet he gets 'em out of books!)

That there are 12 men on a jury because there are that many months in a year—it being agreed (by the originators of the idea) that people born in different months cannot be of one opinion.

That "hallelujah" is pronounced the same in every language.

That there is an Indian squaw (with coin) whose main object is comfort. She bought an ambulance so she could ride lying down.

That the Akron's home, when empty, is so huge that statisticians argue seven football games could be held there simultaneously.

That alcohol, in any form, or in any quantity, is not a stimulant, but a depressant. (Boo-ooo-ooo.)

That 1,892,600 new passenger autos were sold in the U. S., last year. (Laid end to end they would make a typical Sunday.)

That a book called "Scoggin's Jests" was printed in 1565—which makes it older than Joe Miller's. (Radio comics please save stamps.)

That some flowers do not like music. The carnation actually turns its head away from the radio. (Try it, then!)

That they say the Chinese in New York are the only people who have not asked for outside help in these difficult times.

That Hungary, which keeps pleading that it is broke, continues to pay $400,000 a year subsidy to its opera.

That wearing the engagement ring on the fourth finger of the left paw began in the Middle Ages—when our ancestors thought a delicate vessel ran from that digit to the heart. They called it "the love vein."

That a mother-in-law joke is no laughing matter among New South Wales tribes, where the groom and his wife's mother never talk.

That 454 varieties of minerals may be found under New York. Twenty-five of them cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

That every baby born in Chicago is now said to start out in life with a debt of $95.

FILMS — What's What and Who's Who in Photoplay Studios — BILLS

Pre-War Serial Slated for Revival

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.

Here's one to stir memories—Universal has just bought the talkie rights to "The Perils of Pauline," one of the most famous serials of the early days of the movies.

With Pearl White as its star, this chapter-film threw many a chill into motion picture audiences of 1914. They saw it in 20 episodes, whereas the modern serial is from 10 to 12.

Pearl White

You'll recall some of the better-known contemporaries of "The Perils of Pauline." There was "The Million Dollar Mystery," which preceded it and which starred Lottie Pickford and James Cruze. There was "The Adventures of Kathlyn," with Kathlyn Williams.

In those days, the serial may have occupied a more important position in the film world, but it still is a big money maker. Last year Universal made four episode-thrillers. This year it will produce five, and Carl Laemmle, Jr., already is planning an equal number for next year. "The Perils of Pauline" will be one of these. To date, no star is selected to succeed Pearl White. Henry Mac Rea, who has supervised more than 40 serials, will produce the new version.

It seems that the annoying fellow, he's an actor, managed to corner Sidney Fox at a party the other evening.

"By the way," he said finally, "who's driving you home?"

Sidney fixed him with a glare.

BOULEVARD TALK

Irene Dunne can't decide whether to sign again at RKO and play her scheduled role in "Animal Kingdom" or to become a free lance and accept Paramount's offer to play George M. Cohan's lead in "The Phantom President" . . . That trouble on the Cohan story came to a head yesterday with the result that Supervisor Herman Mankiewicz tendered his resignation. It was accepted . . . Barney Glazer will supplant him . . . Scenarists at Fox are eyeing Frank Craven askance. He did a script in three days and it was accepted . . . Now it's Charles Starrett who is taking a test for the Indian hero in "Laughing Boy." Universal officials are going around with tears in their eyes over this one.

Rumor has it, Dick Arlen may not be compelled to play in "Hot Saturday," if he doesn't want to. . . . Any day Lila Lee wants to go to England, she can have a contract with British, Ltd., Productions. With three pictures behind her since her recent comeback, and another to come, Lila probably will stay here. . . . The Frank Borzages invited guests to wear chef's hats and aprons to their steak-fry over the weekend. Apparently no fear here of too many cooks . . . Lewis Milestone is hobbling around these days on a sprained ankle. . . . In preparation for the opening of "Strange Interlude" next Friday, Clark Gable has gone to the desert for a rest.

Newest youthful team in the talkies will be Frances Dee and Gene Raymond. Assigned to play together in "The Night of June 13," they will be co-featured later on in "11th Avenue," which, as you've already guessed, is a story of New York. It's an original by William Slavens McNutt and will be directed by Stephen Roberts, one of the fair haired boys at Paramount these days. He's responsible for "Lady and Gent," the last George Bancroft picture, and the only one which has clicked in so very long.

Frances Dee

An airplane brought Kay Francis and Kenneth MacKenna into Los Angeles yesterday. They are missing their European trip, but both have picture engagements, she with Ernst Lubitsch anl he with Tiffany in "Those We Love." That is if the script reads as well as it listened in synopsis. Providing the deal goes through, this will be MacKenna's first acting assignment in a year. He tried directing for a while, but found it disappointing.

Farmer

Robertson to Direct Mitzi Green

John Robertson has been signed to direct "Little Orphan Annie," with Mitzi Green in the title role. Robertson, who directed Lillian Gish, Ramon Navarro, Greta Garbo and other stars, plans to start production the latter part of July.

Janet Gaynor Plays Role of 'Tess'

Janet Gaynor will play the title role in "Tess of the Storm Country" for Fox Films. Alfred Santell is to direct the picture. The screen play will be written by S. N. Behrman and Sonya Levien.

Vienna Again In Colored Operetta

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Back from Paris to Vienna, with a brief stop in Old New York, the audience at the Avenue Cinema is carried this week by Hammerstein and Romberg. This colored picture, "Viennese Nights," is not new—but it is full of sentiment and melody. It is one of those romances in which the heroine and the hero are gay and young at the start, but get gray and sad toward the finish. Love's young dream is rudely shattered, and the only person who really realizes his life's ambition is the fellow who makes a fortune by way of a pickle factory.

Mr. Seibel

The story just oozes sentiment, which Vivienne Segal and Alexander Gray wade through to the bitter end. He is a musician, she is a court-cobbler's daughter; he dreams of writing a great symphony, she loves him, but marries the rich baron's son. And at last she dies on a rustic bench in the Wiener Waeldchen, and his spirit comes smilin' through to sing a duet with her spirit.

The atmosphere is particularly good, from the Prater scenes to the real Viennese china used in the afternoon tea. The music is also good, being of Sigmund Romberg's happiest brew. There is some good character acting, particularly by Louise Fazenda. If the action is occasionally slow, blame it on the stickiness of the story. As one of the first of the color pictures that achieved respectable results, this Viennese operetta in English will make everybody smile and weep.

New Pictures Billed

Pat O'Brien and Rose Hobart are featured in the film, "Scandal for Sale," to be presented on the Enright screen, opening Wednesday.

The Sheridan Square will offer the film, "Radio Patrol," featuring Robert Armstrong, Lila Lee and June Clyde, beginning Wednesday.

In the Fulton tomorrow, "Almost Married," with Violet Heming and Ralph Bellamy in the lead roles, will be the featured screen attraction.

William Warren, in the film, "Dark Horse," will close in the Davis tomorrow, and "Love Is a Racket," starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will come to this theater Thursday for three days.

Marian Nixon has the leading feminine role in the film, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which will open in the Stanley Friday.

Opening Friday in the Penn is "Washington Masquerade," starring Lionel Barrymore, as a political ruler.

"The Doomed Battalion," is to be the principal screen attraction, starring Tala Birell, in the Warner, for the week beginning Friday.

Final Title Announced For Lowe Film

"Guilty as Hell" has been announced as the final title for Paramount's production featuring Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, Richard Arlen and Adrienne Ames, which has been in production under its original Broadway stage title, "Riddle Me This."

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Mae West, now in Hollywood for her first screen appearance, in "Night After Night," is of the opinion that her play "Diamond Lil," in which she appeared in New York and on the road, would be good screen material. She may stay in Hollywood for a second picture but she is not counting on it. If she returns to Broadway in the fall she will offer her new play, "Frisco Kate."

* * *

Edna May Oliver and Roscoe Ates, both of whom jumped to the front rank as character comedians in the same picture, "Cimarron," will be co-starred in a photoplay to be produced shortly. Ates recently has been on a personal appearance tour and Miss Oliver has been recreating her original role in the revival of "Show Boat."

* * *

Phil Baker, who has been appearing in vaudeville in combination houses, is expected to begin rehearsals in New York this week of a new musical show, "Laugh It Off." Joe Penner has been signed to appear in it.

* * *

Last winter a police captain in Los Angeles had a lot of fun arresting members of the cast of "Lysistrata' on a charge of presenting an immoral play, making several raids. At the trial all were acquitted and now 23 members of the company are having their fun. They have sued the busy captain and others for $226,000 damages.

* * *

Willie and Eugene Howard will be featured in a revue called "Ballyhoo," for which rehearsals are scheduled to begin this week. The Premiere is tentatively set for August 7 in Atlantic City.

BITS OF LIFE — All in a Day — By MARK HELLINGER

Room for Improvement

IT WAS a quiet afternoon on Eighth avenue. The heat was unbearable as the sun continued to pour down upon the scorched pavements. Coatless figures ambled along, totally devoid of ambition of any kind. Lurid signs informed the few passersby that such values had never before been offered in all history.

Here and there a taxi driver sat back in his parked car and waited for a call that seldom came. Every block or so, two neighboring merchants stood in the doorways of their respective stores—one in the midst of a "Fire Sale" and the other "Going Out Of Business"—and talked of the good old days when a man could make a fine, dishonest living.

Suddenly two shots rang out; two shots that were clear and omnious in their crack. As if by magic the neighborhood leaped into action. A mad frenzy of police whistles sounded on everyside.

The storekeepers left their children in charge of their stores and raced in the direction of the shots as though they were running from the depression.

The center of attraction rested in the gutter spot into which he had rolled. Blood poured from his left side and his right arm. He cursed and he moaned and he groaned and he cursed again. Two policemen—very probably his sworn enemies—did their best to make him comfortable.

An ambulance clanged up as other policemen cleared the way. More and louder curses fell from the injured man's lips as the doctor fiddled with his wounds. Soon they placed him on a stretcher and pushed him into the machine.

And, several blocks away, the scared figure of a running man dived across Ninth avenue and disappeared into one of the dark streets that lead toward the river . . .

In a Tenth avenue apartment a woman heard furtive steps on the landing and then a quiet knock. Slowly she crossed the room and opened the door. The breathless figure of a man lurched in.

"What's wrong, Red?" she asked. "What's got you this way? Who's after you? The cops again?"

"Yeah. I got caught pretty on an Eighth avenue job. Didn't wanna do it, but I had to use my gat. I think I shook 'em off, but I ain't sure."

"Don't talk like a dope," she returned. "Why should the cops come here? They didn't see you get in. Stick around, Red. You're better off if you wait until the circus is over."

"Listen, Nell," he said jerkily. "I'm flat. Lend me twenty bucks and I'll hop over to my brother's place in Paterson. I'll hide up there for a bit."

"If that's what you want, Red, it's okay by me. Seems to me, though, that this is the first time I've ever seen you like this. Anybody would think this was your first job. What'sa matter, boy?"

Red shifted uneasily. He seemed on the verge of hysterics.

"Come on, willya? Slip me the twenty bucks, Nell, like a good girl. Can't you see I got the shakes in here?"

With another shrug of her shoulders, the woman lifted her skirt carelessly and was just about to remove a wad of money from her stocking top when a firm tread was heard on the stairs. You couldn't mistake those footsteps. Neither could Red. Neither could Nell.

The man blanched and looked madly about for a method of escape. But the woman kept her head. She bundled him quickly through the door that led to her bedroom.

"Keep quiet in there, Red," she whispered. "If things look real bad, take a chance by the window. It's a 30-foot drop, but the ground's soft underneath. Watch your nerves."

The man started to speak, but a knock at the outer door stopped him. Straightening herself, the woman crossed the room carelessly and opened the door to admit the policeman she knew would be there.

"You the wife of Chuck Delaney?" The cop's voice was surprisingly gentle.

"That's me," replied the woman. "Why the call?"

"Sorry to trouble you, mam," was the soft reply. "And my news ain't so hot. Your husband was shot about half an hour ago on Eighth avenue. We got the name of the guy that tried to kill him. It was Red Donovan.

"Your husband's all right, though. Just a coupla flesh wounds. Thought maybe you'd like to see him. He's in Ward 5, Bellevue Hospital. Good luck to you, mam."

With a friendly smile and a reassuring gesture, the policeman was on his way again. The woman's face hardened, and she closed the door with a snap.

Like the crack of a whip, she called loudly.

"Come out, Red."

The man slunk from the bedroom. Eyes averted and fingers fumbling nervously, he began a stammered explanation.

"Listen, Nell, I—I couldn't help it, I—I——"

The woman's voice was hard and cold.

"Shot my husband, didn't you, Red? You shot Chuck Delaney."

"What are you gonna do, Nell? What are you gonna do?"

With a sudden motion the woman pressed a $20 bill into the man's hand.

"There's the dough you wanted," she said. "Now beat it. But, for the love of Mike, get some gun practice over in Paterson. And the next time you shoot at Chuck Delaney—shoot straight!" . . .

Why Suffer the Terrible Agonies of ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS OR HAY FEVER?

Thousands gratefully testify to the amazing results obtained through the revolutionary private prescription of an eminent European physician.

A typical report is that of Clark Bacon, 247 North Record Street, Los Angeles, who originally wrote: "I was a great sufferer from asthma . . . had to use adrenalin four or five times a night . . . tried many kinds of medicine . . . had serum treatments in arm . . . but only temporary relief . . . was an accident I found your remedy . . . followed directions . . . now well as any man." He recently wrote again: "It is more than nine years since I first took your remedy, and am pleased to say that I am still hale and hearty, with never a single day's relapse." Why suffer from Asthma, Bronchitis or Hay Fever? Decide right now that you are going to know again the joy of vigorous health, and the deep, peaceful sleep of a child. Don't Hurt Yourself Trying To Protect Shirkers

Is it big and noble to get yourself in dutch by taking the blame for someone else's misdeeds?

Or are you just being a sap if you do it?

"Boots" is beginning to suspect that "sap" is the word.

She and her sister are a pair of those interchangeable twins. When they were little mamma had to tie a blue ribbon on one and a pink ribbon on the other or she couldn't tell them apart; and now that they're grown, it's still the same story.

So when Sis goes out for a wild time, Boots, in the kindness of her heart, pretends that she's the one who does, and that Sis is the sweet li'll stay-at-home. Nor is that all.

Here's the whole story. Get in on it for yourself:

Dear Sally:

Each night I read your column, and see how you help other boys and girls, and I hope you will help me, too, as I find myself in a good deal of a pickle.

I guess mine is a very unusual story. I am a girl of 18, and I am a twin. There are only three children in our family—my twin sister, my brother and myself. The trouble is that lately my sister has taken advantage of the fact that we are twins and look alike, for she is a very wild girl, and likes to run around.

I hate to hear mother scold her when she goes out and stays late, so I take the blame and say it was I. My brother dates a girl, who stays out all night on parties, and who almost never comes in before 5 o'clock in the morning. Sometimes I go to work in her place and let my own job go. I don't like to see her get into trouble, either.

DEPRIVED OF FUN

My mother and brother have hardly spoken to me for a long time. My girl friends tell me I am a fool for doing all this for my sister and this other girl. The girls in the office say I should tell my sister that I won't help her out like that any more, and to quit doing it for the other girl, too.

I like to dance and go to shows, but I never can. I have to stay at home to make a good showing for my sister. Should I go on as I am doing now, or should I stick up for myself and let them take what they get?

I don't know what to do. I hate to see them get in trouble, but I would like to be able to go out for some fun myself, too. I will be waiting for some good sound advice, as I feel that I need it. I have got to the place where I don't know which way to turn. I am afraid I will get myself into trouble if I keep on, yet I don't want my sister to suffer. BOOTS."

DOING HARM

Should you keep on covering up for Sis and for brother's girl friend?

No, youngster, you shouldn't. Your girl friends are right. In the first place, if Sis had to pay up for her own mistakes, the chances are she'd watch her step and not make so many. So, very far from helping her to keep out of trouble, you are actually doing her harm. You are doing the other girl harm, too, for if she knew her job depended on her efforts, and she had no scapegoat to step in when she welches, she'd see to it that she did her part.

And even if she didn't—even if Sis went her way, to wreck and ruin—both of them are responsible for their own lives. You can't save them, and it is up to you to take care of yourself. That is a duty that you owe to yourself and to life. No one else will respect you or your rights, so long as you throw them away.

So cut it out. Walk your own road, and let them walk theirs. If they choose to walk a crooked road, that is up to them. It is not up to you.

Clear Estimate of Man's Seriousness Needed by Girl, Says Fay King

TOO ROMANTIC
I KNOW HE WAS IN LOVE WITH ME!
I WOULDN'T LET HIM KNOW I CARED BECAUSE HE WASN'T SERIOUS
NOT ROMANTIC ENOUGH
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Heartache in romance is often caused by making too much of it, or making too little of it.

One girl suffers because she is inclined to exaggerate the attention a man may pay her. Her interest may be only casual and kind, but she immediately imagines him to be ardent and serious, and when he sees that she is taking him too seriously he politely bows himself out of her life.

Another girl suffers because she makes the mistake of underestimating the attention of a man who is interested in her.

She is so afraid that he may think she is taking him more seriously than she intends that she treats him so casually he thinks she is not interested at all and drifts away.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Investigations Necessary in Cases of Asthma

Dr. Copeland

Recently I wrote about eczema and told of the frequent occurrence of this annoying condition in children. Today I want to tell you about asthma in young children and its relationship to eczema.

Asthma commonly develops in children who have had eczema in infancy, and some authorities believe that most children who have eczema will at some future time develop an asthmatic complaint.

The cause of eczema has never been definitely determined. It is believed that many cases in childhood are due to certain foods taken by the infant or the mother. It has been found that in some way these same foods may be the cause of asthma.

Asthma is believed to be caused by a sensitivity to certain proteins in the food, in the air, or in the clothing or furnishings of the home. The disease is most commonly caused by foods or inhaled dusts, such as animal dandruff, feather dust, plant dust and pollens.

Skin tests are used to determine what substance causes the attacks. Injections of various substances are made under the skin or by scratching the skin and the reaction determines whether the individual is susceptible to the substance injected.

If the offending substance is a food, it should be taken from the diet. If it is dust from certain household furnishings, they should be discarded. If it is due to pollens, treatment may be given in the form of special vaccines, which should be injected at periodic intervals.

In all cases of asthma, a complete physical examination by a physician is necessary before successful treatment and relief can be expected. All abnormalities should be corrected wherever possible. The diet and manner of living must be carefully investigated. If the child is undernourished, attention should be given to building up his resistance. Cod liver oil should be given twice a day and the diet should contain simple but nourishing foods.

Hints for the Household

A teaspoonful of mixed pickled spices tied in a small bag and added to the water in which fish, ham or tongue is boiled, will add a very pleasing flavor.

If a little lemon juice is added to the water used for mixing pastry it will make the pastry lighter and remove all taste of fat or lard.

Stains can be removed from brown leather shoes by rubbing them with the inner side of a banana skin. Then wipe with a clean cloth and polish.

When boiling a suet pudding, put three or four pieces of orange peel in the water. They will collect all the grease, and the pudding will boil quicker.

Marion Admits Owen Wants to Marry Her

I never shall know whether Harry Underwood connected my unfortunate comment to Lillian, in defense of Marion, with that old romance between his wife and Robert Savarin, which had caused him so many jealous pangs in the days when he and Lillian were estranged.

Dicky—bless him!—threw himself nobly into the breach with a truculent adjuration to me.

"Suppose you speak for yourself, Madam!" he said. "You say it's the birthright of every adolescent girl to have a temporary infatuation for an older man. You've never told me anything about any such episode in your youth. Come on, now; come clean! Who was the romantic pappy guy that caused your young heart to flutter in the pre-war days?—pre-matrimonial war, I mean."

"Will you ever stop chirping, Dicky-bird?" Lillian's tone was pettish, and I guessed that she was camouflaging her relief with the pretext of impatience. "I suppose I have been too harsh in my judgments of the child, but I've been through a good deal since I left here.

"There was nothing to observe, as far as I could see, the first day or two after my arrival," she went on quickly. "They were all so absorbed in preparations for the dance that there was no chance to single out the actions of any one of them.

TIRED OF RONALD

"Owen was everywhere. They all call him 'Uncle Charlie,' and before me, at least, he didn't have any different manner toward Marion than toward Carolyn. And, of course, Ronald, as always, was Marion's shadow.

"But the day after the dance"—she paused while her lips twisted into a wry grimace—"I saw aplenty. The first thing I noticed was Marion's captious air toward Ronald. It wasn't the result of any quarrel between them. I could see that. It was simply a disinclination to have him around, and an absorption in something else.

"Ronald was so bewildered and hurt, beneath a boyish mask of pride, which deceived nobody, that it was tragic to see him. Even Helena, who's so ingenuous that she's usually a bat as far as seeing anything beneath her nose is concerned, sensed something was wrong, and like an idiot appealed to me to find out what was the matter with Marion. Ronald would have killed her if he had known what she was asking.

"Then I realized that Mary—I'm sorry, Dicky and Madge, but I can't mince matters—was making what we used to call a 'dead set' for Owen, pulling the vamp stuff to a fare-you-well. And he was simply lapping it up. You never saw a more apparent case of infatuation in your life.

"I was completely bewildered, but now that Madge has spoken from her experience of girls, I'm wondering—is it possible that Mary really is taking that scoundrel seriously?"

MARRIAGE PROPOSAL

"If she is, I'll eat my best panama with horseradish sauce and tabasco," Dicky said with quick loyalty to his niece.

"I'll bank on Mary's horse sense," Harry said, and Lillian turned on him with claws patiently unsheathed.

"But I've just told you that Marion has fallen for him," she said. "Do you mean that Mary has better instincts than Marion?"

"You know, or ought to, that I meant nothing of the sort," he said, with a tone of quiet reproof that wrung a heartfelt "Oh! Sorry, Harry," from his wife, which he returned with a comradely smile.

"But the two girls are entirely different," Harry went on. "Mary is older and more experienced, and her head will always rule her heart. Depend upon it, if she vamped Owen it's because she had some plan up her sleeve. But if you didn't see anything before the dance, and Mary and Owen were carrying on this affair, how do you reason that Marion has fallen for that scoundrel?"

"Because," Lillian said slowly, "she was so unconsciously jealous of Mary, and treated her so shabbily that I took her to task. She really was making herself ridiculous. And—then—I found out the whole miserable truth. He's asked her to marry him!"

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Breakfast Service

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please explain to me the uses for the silver utensils that are placed in the enclosed picture? HOSTESS.

This place is apparently set for breakfast...with its gay breakfast cloth and small napkin, its flowered china (or pottery) breakfast plate and bread and butter plate, and its tumbler of apparently dark colored glass. The small spoon on the extreme right is the spoon for the half orange or grapefruit. Next, nearer the plate on the right is the teaspoon for the coffee. Next, nearer plate, the dessert spoon, for the cereal. And then the knife on the right, nearest the plate, and the fork on the left, is for the main course, bacon and eggs, probably.

Party Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a daughter who just graduated from High School. I want to take members of her class to a dinner in the city. Some of the girls I know, and some I do not know. Should I set the date for the dinner and write them, or should my daughter ask them? MOTHER.

The best form would be for you to write notes to the mothers of the girls who are to be your guests, asking them if their daughters may go with you for this party. Also, if you wish, you may, at the same time write notes to the girls, inviting them to the party and saying that you have written their mothers for their permission.

TORTURE CAMP BRINGS MISERY TO INMATES

Universal Service.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 12.—The prison camp at Sunbeam, scene of the alleged "torture death" of Arthur J. Maillefert, 22-year-old convict, is 11 miles south of here in an open clearing surrounded by mosquito infested bog holes and piney woods.

The temporary frame buildings, consisting of the sleeping quarters, wherein the men are packed at night like sardines, the smoky mess hall and kitchen, commissary, guard quarters and "sweat box" building are enclosed inside a barbed wire stockade overlooked at each end by two two-story towers manned by armed lookouts.

The camp was put up at this point several months ago while the convicts were at work grading a section of new highway being constructed from Bayard, Ten miles to the south.

WORK 10 HOURS DAILY

Only white convicts are kept at this camp. They are required to work 10 hours daily with the broiling sun streaming down from above and the heat of the sand rising from the ground in stifling waves. Sunbeam is properly named, to work in this 10 hours in a mid-July sun is torture sufficient in itself to be maddening.

Before the State Road Department ordered it abandoned, 72 convicts were housed there, with a complement of guards under the command of a captain. The guards are also typical of the chain gang boss in their 10-gallon hats, their shotguns and revolvers, and the lump of tobacco that seems always to be in the cheeks.

Today, after the grand jury probe and first degree indictment of two of their comrades, Acting Capt. C. W. Courson and his aide, Guard S. M. Higginbotham. The guards were polite to a fault to the Universal Service correspondent when he called to inspect the camp.

"TORTURE" BARREL GONE

The "torture" barrel and the wood stock were not to be seen because County Detective W. H. Gasque, under orders of State's Attorney Charles M. Durrance, already had confiscated them for evidence.

The correspondent inquired about the "sweat box" and was led to a small, square, whitewashed building at one end of the stockade enclosure. The entire building is six feet square. The low roof is of tar paper and the sun broiling down upon it makes the entire interior a veritable furnace in mid-day.

The interior is cut up into four separate "boxes," three feet square. There are no seats, but by pulling ones legs up around the chin it is possible for a small person to sit down. One ounce of bread a day with water is the food allowance for a person in this chamber.

The height inside is a little over six feet and there are rafters above with opening for air and a stream of light that somehow or other recalled to my mind the dungeons of Old Fort Marion, of St. Augustine, 30 miles further south, although there is plenty of light inside.

MESS HALL FURNACE

The men on this hot day are lolling about fanning themselves and trying their best to be comfortable in the small bits of shade available. All are strangely silent. Most of them are youthful in appearance. That is the significant thing about them.

They are dressed only in their striped convict trousers and are bare to the waists, brown as Indians.

The mess hall goes "the sweat box" one better. It is a furnace. A chief cook and two assistants are preparing the noon-day meal in the kitchen, which is at one end of the mess hall with no partition sufficient to keep out the stifling heat of the big ranges. The fare is biscuits, roast beef, gravy and soup with black molasses to touch off the meal.

Altogether the prisoners seemed care-free and happy, for orders had come to break camp and they will be transferred to the State Penitentiary at Raiford.

The remaining work on the highway here will be let out to private contracting firms.

Two Guards Disappear, Halt 'Torture' Quiz

J. Z. Simms, were sought by subpena-servers, but could not be found.

The state of Florida, pressed by public resentment over the death of Maillefert, closed the Sunbeam camp and transferred its 90 convicts to the state prison farm at Raiford, Fla. Fifteen of the convicts were to be held at the farm indefinitely, as they are under subpena to appear later at the trial of two guards, charged with the murder of Maillefert.

GUARDS SUSPENDED

The accused guards, Capt. George W. Courson and Soloman M. Higginbotham, were suspended from duty by Nathan Mayo, state agricultural commissioner, who has charge of all state prisons. Both were indicted for first degree murder for having placed Maillefert in a narrow "sweat box" with his feet in stocks and linking a chain around his neck. The chain choked the youth to death, when he fainted from exhaustion.

The Sunbeam camp presented a desolate aspect with guards and prisoners gone. Located 15 miles southeast of here, in a wild pine-studded district, it has the appearance of a small white-washed stockyard.

The prison stockade, surrounded by a high wire fence, enclosed five whitewashed buildings within a space of 100 by 200 feet. The prison barracks, in which 90 men slept, was a shack, 12 feet high, 125 feet long and 25 feet wide. It looked like a cattle pen. A mess hall, a guard house and a kitchen were located in the same arena.

FOUR 'SWEAT CELLS'

The outstanding shack was the "sweat box," 7 feet high and 6 feet square, in which Maillefert met his "torture death." He occupied one of four "sweat" cells within this "sweat box." Chained to the roof of it and shackled by stocks on his feet, he slumped in exhaustion while being tortured. A half hour of this torture found him dead.

The grand jury of Duval County, in which the camp is located, held Courson, who was in command of it, and Higginbotham, his first assistant, for trial on first degree murder charges. Both were released under $5,000 bond for trial in September, when the local court found the state did not proffer sufficient evidence to show they "premeditated" Maillefert's murder.

The grand jury continued its inquiry into prison conditions. Rumors prevailed that other prison camp officials and guards would be indicted for cruelty to prisoners. The disappearance of Guards Denmark and Simms temporarily halted this phase of the inquiry.

STATE TO PROSECUTE

State's Attorney Charles M. Durrance, of Jacksonville, announced he would personally direct the prosecution of Courson and Higginbotham. He characterized the crime as one of the most revolting in his experience as a prosecuting official. He said:

"The law permits a prisoner to be punished by being incarcerated in a sweat box. When the guards went beyond that, they went beyond the law. They had no right to beat, hang or suffocate a prisoner.

"It appears these guards lapsed to puritanical days of the stock. It does not appear that Maillefert was tortured for a great length of time, but it was long enough, either due to his weakness or his exhausted condition, to cause his death. The chain, wrapped about his throat, choked him to death.

LAW VIOLATED

"These guards violated the law when they put him in the position in which he was found dead, regardless of their intentions.

"There is one wholesome thing about this tragic affair. It is the fact that the investigation didn't arise from outside complaint, but was started by the regularly constituted authorities of Duval County. The diligence of these officials reflects credit on the county and the state of Florida.

"The state of Florida has no desire to withhold the facts or to cover up the unlawful acts of men who so far forget their duty to the state as to commit inhuman torture of a prisoner. That is why the state is prosecuting these guards in the pending case."

Historians to Fete Pittsburgh Group

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 12.—Plans were completed today for the reception of members of the Pittsburgh Historical Society and other western Pennsylvanians accompanying the historical tour which will arrive in Franklin on July 16, following the route traversed by George Washington to Fort Le-Boeuf (Waterford). Joseph Reisenman, Jr., president of Franklin Historical Society, heads the reception committee.

RACKET KILLING LINKS MORAN

CHICAGO, July 12.—George (Bugs) Moran, once the arch foe of Al Capone, was in jail today for viewing by witnesses in the recent machine gun slaying of George (Red) Barker, of the labor racket "arm" of the Capone syndicate.

He was seized, despite his protests that he was now a "country gentleman," while driving his 16-cylinder sedan into a Loop hotel garage last night. The arrest order was issued by Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker, who said he desired to learn whether reports that Moran was planning a comeback were true.

Moran quit the city in 1929 after the St. Valentine's Day massacre, when seven of his lieutenants were machine gunned to death by gangland foes.

Gang killings have been resumed in recent weeks and Chief Schoemaker said he feared they portended a fierce war over Moran's pretensions to the syndicate control that "Scarface Al" relinquished upon conviction for income tax evasion.

FIRE PLOT TOPS REICH ELECTION

BERLIN, July 12.—(INS.)—With 25 dead and 250 injured, the wildest election campaign in Germany's history reached its climax at Hagen, Westphalia, today, when Communists set fire to a woods in an effort to "smoke out" a meeting of Hitlerites.

Twenty thousand Nazis were gathered in a meadow listening to impassioned speeches by lieutenants of Adolf Hitler when smoke from the incendiary blaze drifted over the pasture.

The meeting broke up in an uproar. Coughing and sneezing, Nazi "shock troops" went to work and extinguished the blaze after a three-hour battle. Many were overcome by the smoke.

IRELAND READY TO ARBITRATE

DUBLIN, July 12. — (AP.) — President De Valera told the Dail today that the Free State government is anxious to arbitrate the land annuities dispute with Great Britain.

If the two governments can reach an agreement about the personnel of the board of arbitration, he said, the Free State will be glad to hand over the issue to that tribunal as quickly as possible.

De Valera heretofore has refused to submit the issue to any consulting body whose members are drawn exclusively from the British commonwealth. The British government insists arbitration must be before a commonwealth jury.

The Free State has been placed in a difficult position by the action of both houses of the British Parliament in adopting a measure which gives the government power to impose a duty up to 100 per cent on Free State imports, in retaliation for De Valera's refusal to meet this year's land annuities.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register.

September 8—First registration day in second and third class cities, including Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those who may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

MORE LEADERS HERE CONDEMN 'TORTURE'

Two trustees of Western Penitentiary, well known in Western Pennsylvania business circles, today added their protests on the Florida torture death to those of other leaders.

George Rankin, Jr., Wilkinsburg banker, and William B. Rodgers, business man, both trustees and interested in prison welfare, declared physical punishment out of date. Rankin said:

"In my judgment, physical punishment is out of place in this day and age. I can see no reason for such a condition. In Pennsylvania such a situation would not be tolerated. During my seven years on the penitentiary board, there has been no necessity for physical punishment of prisoners. It's inexcusable."

BAN OF PUNISHMENT

The necessity for treating prisoners somewhat individually was stressed by Rodgers, who explained that no two men are alike. Of the Florida case, he said:

"A little kindness rather than ill treatment might have made a world of difference in that case. If a man is a mental case, all the ill treatment in the world will not help him.

"Nothing like that can happen in Pennsylvania. It would not be tolerated.

"We don't have to resort to physical punishment, but believe we have methods for caring for prisoners that is most humane. Some effort must be made to treat individual cases, for no two men are alike."

'ISOLATED' HERE

None of the trustees of the penitentiary, including Dr. William T. Root, criminal psychologist, could recall any "chamber of horrors," or other physical punishment in their experiences.

LIE TO SUCCEED, SAYS SHAW

NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS.)—Only as "shameless liars" can the youth of today succeed in diplomacy, publicity or selling, George Bernard Shaw said in a radio address from London which was rebroadcast through America. The famous playwright declared:

"I am afraid we must make the world honest before we can honestly tell our children that honesty is the best policy."

He said he himself was successful because he followed the maxim of "When in Rome, do as the Romans do," and not because of any "normal superiority." He declared:

"The truth is there is no such thing as a great man or a great woman. People believe in them just as they used to believe in unicorns and dragons."

TRUCKER RULE CHANGES TO BE MADE

A new set of regulations governing the transportation of freight by motor vehicles is to be put into effect by the Public Service Commission.

According to the draft of the proposed general order which is to be discussed in Harrisburg, August 9, Class A truckers will not be allowed to accept freight destined to points not on the route, except to deliver it to railroad stations, for further transportation. This rule, it is claimed, will prevent the interchange of freight by truckers in adjoining territory. Nor can they employ any other truckers to perform their service in the delivery of goods, except in case of a breakdown. Truckers authorized to operate over several connecting or intersecting routes shall not accept freight at points on one route for delivery to points on other routes, and they are not permitted to participate in through routes or to joint rates with other truckers.

Class C truckers are not permitted to transport freight to or from the point of origin in a truck which contains the property of more than one consignor, intended for one consignee.

Each trucker shall carry $500 insurance to cover loss or damage to cargoes; $5,000 insurance for one person and $10,000 for one personal damage accident and $1,000 property damage.

NIGHT CLUB MEN FACE HEARING

Five figures in Pittsburgh's night-club life were at liberty on bail today pending hearing on charges of violating the state compensation laws. They are Charles Wolfe, former newspaperman; Eddie Klein, John Duffy, Andy Garivini and Al Steele, named as owners of the Club Plantation, in Babcock boulevard, which was destroyed by fire more than a year ago.

The State Department of Labor and Industry is prosecuting the men following awards to two employes injured at the fire, Anna Burnhart was awarded $6,500, and Enid Harris, of Murray avenue, $482.

The men will be arraigned at 2 p. m. Friday before Alderman Edward A. Haas at 1809 West Liberty avenue.

Jailed on Charge Of Failing to Pay Wages

McGinley fined Polocichio $100 on a misdemeanor charge, based on an ancient law. When the defendant failed to pay the fine he was committed to jail—the first such prisoner in the jail's history, attaches said.

Sesti said he had been hired to paint at $2 a day and at the end of five days was offered $1.

Marble in Demand For Garden Walks

Marble tops from old furniture, broken into odd sizes, have been in demand during the past few months at the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries by home-owners desiring odd shaped pieces for mosaic walks. The Goodwill Industries, collecting old furniture in its activities here, has salvaged many of these slabs at its Liberty avenue plant and has been able to supply many home-owners.

A new appeal is being made by the organization for bathing suits. A meeting of the management committee will be held tomorrow for discussion of the organization's needs.

WANTED!

A MOSES OF THE MOTORS

AT this moment, there stand on the brink of new motor car buying probably some hundreds of thousands of car owners. By force of economic circumstances they are confronted with Hobson's choice of a very low-priced car or none at all.

They hesitate to make this choice, chiefly because in more fortunate years they have owned and enjoyed higher priced cars, and they cannot bring themselves to give up the stability, the luxurious power and thrilling speed capacity, the sense of well-being, which they have become accustomed to associate with the words "our car."

If they could see in the field of lower-priced cars an automobile capable of a road-action akin to flying, a car compact and light of weight, which yet by its roominess, performance and "feel" would assure them not only no disappointment but even an excess of joy and pride of ownership in this new possession, do you not agree that they would welcome it as no automotive innovation has ever been greeted before?

SENTIMENT IN HOUSE 10 TO 1 FOR DEBT PAYMENT

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Servic.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Sentiment in the House against cancellation of the war debts owed the United States by foreign governments is overwhelming.

A poll of the House membership by Universal Service and the Hearst newspapers today revealed this unmistakably.

Total of 287 members, representing 65 per cent of the House membership, were personally contacted by a staff of 16 correspondents and reporters especially assigned to make the canvass. Of these, 259 members expressed unequivocal opposition to any cancellation proposal.

Not one of the other 28 advocated cancellation, all reserving their opinion pending future developments or otherwise voicing non-committing views. This was an almost 10 to 1 expresed opposition to cancellation.

Abence from the city, sickness, engagements away from the Capitol, etc., prevented the polling of the remaining 144 members. There are four vacancies, accounting for the total fixed membership of 435 in the House.

RESULTS OF CANVASS

Alabama

COMMENT:

OLIVER—The moratorium paved the way for proposals for total cancellation.

HILL—I am opposed to cancellation of debts.

STEAGALL, chairman House Committee on Banking and Currency—No. And I think Mr. Pearst's editorial Sunday was the finest exposition I have read against any cancellation.

ALMON—I am unalterably opposed to it.

Arizona

Absent—Douglas.

Arkansas

Opposed—Driver, Glover, Parks. Absent—Miller, Fuller, Wingo, Ragon.

COMMENT:

GLOVER—I have opposed all debt reduction proposals in the past and I certainly do not intend to change my stand now.

PARKS—I am absolutely opposed to either reduction of cancellation of war debts.

California

COMMENT:

MRS. KAHN—I am opposed to cancellation. If the European nations want to repudiate their debts, let them repudiate, but I do not believe we should cancel them.

CRAIL—I am against it to the limit of my ability. I would die in my tracks before voting for any such proposal. I am against any cancellation, reduction, revision, moratoriums or delays. I am for the payment.

WELCH—At present I am opposed to any further debt cancellation.

LEA—I am not in favor of transferring the load from the backs of Europeans to ours.

SWING—Our government ought to stop playing Santa Claus to Europe and remember that its duty is to protect the interests of the American taxpayer. The voters will promptly repudiate any party or any administration which allows foreign nations to load their debt burdens upon the backs of our people.

CARTER—I am opposed to debt cancellation.

ENGLEBRIGHT—I have no statement to make at this time.

Colorado

Opposed, Eaton, Timberlake, Taylor.
Non-committal, Hardy.

Connecticut

Delaware

Florida

Opposed, Green, Yon. Absent, Drane, Owen.

COMMENT:

YON—I am opposed to cancellation—good and strong.

GREEN—I am opposed to debt cancellation.

Georgia

Absent, Wright, Modley, Brand, Vinson, Larsen.

COMMENT:

COX—Just put me down as opposed to cancellation.

CRISP—I am unalterably opposed to either scaling down or cancelling the indebtedness due us by foreign governments.

Idaho

Opposed—French, Smith.

COMMENT:

FRENCH—I am opposed to cancellation because the proposition would mean the transfer of taxes adequate to meet these debts from the shoulders of European nations, where they belong, to the shoulders of American citizens.

Illinois

Non-committal, W. E. Hull.
Absent, M. D. Hull, Kelly, Beam, Sabath, Igoe, Chindblom, Buckbee, Johnson, Chiperfield, Keller.

COMMENT:

SCHUETZ—I will oppose any proposal to reduce European debts.

RAINEY, majority leader of the House—Record me as no, and make it positive.

MAJOR—I am opposed to cancellation under the light I have at the present time.

DIETERICH, Nominee of his party for senator—There can be no cancellation. It would simply be pushing the load onto the people of this country.

HOLADAY—I am against cancellation of war debts and I couldn't make it any stronger by enlarging on that statement.

ADKINS—The time has come for a settlement of those debts. Europeans look upon us as easy marks.

HALL—My position has always been and now is against cancellation of debts due the United States from foreign nations.

DE PRIEST—Let them pay us what they owe us. I am against cancellation.

W. E. HULL—I don't know enough about cancellation of our foreign debts to express an opinion now.

ARNOLD—Cancellation would be a mistake, an unjustifiable and unwarranted putting of the burden on the American people.

Indiana

Opposed—Crowe, Ludlow, Purnell, Griswold, Hogg, Pettengill. Absent — Boehne, Greenwood, Canfield, Gillen, Larrabee, Wood.

COMMENT:

PELTENGILL—Having given Europe our shirts, we'd like to keep our trousers. We'll need them this winter.

GRISWOLD—I will vigorously oppose cancellation or any reduction. Honest debts should be paid.

LUDLOW—I am against cancellation. Put me down as another vote against it.

HOGG—I have always been against cancellation and I am getting stronger against it all the time.

Iowa

Opposed: Kopp, Jacobson, Robinson, Haugen, Cale, Ramseyer, Thurston, Swanson, Gilchrist. Noncommittal: Dowell, Campbell.

COMMENT:

JACOBSEN—I am opposed to cancellation, and think the foreign debts have been scaled down far enough. If there is any cancellation it ought to be done for our own people, to reduce farm mortgage interest.

SWANSON—I am unalterably opposed to cancellation, and can see no excuse for reduction.

HAUGEN—I am 100 per cent opposed to it.

ROBINSON—I'm opposed now, but I want to feel free to keep an open mind on any reasonable proposition.

COLE—Cancellation of debts has nothing to do with what was done at Lausanne. For one, I believe our debtors should pay their debts.

THURSTON—If France has money to support the armies of Poland and Czechoslovakia, and to make substantial foreign loans, she should be able to pay us.

KOPP—I voted for the original reduction but I am opposed to any further cancellation of any kind.

RAMSEYER—No advantage will come to us from foreign debt cancellation, but I regard the Lausanne action as the best news the world has had since the armistice.

Kansas

COMMENT:

LAMBERTSON—We are not ready to accept cancellation yet, at any rate.

HOPE—I am opposed to cancellation. At the same time, I would not oppose any more looking toward revision, if we find it to our advantage to do so.

M'GUGIN—I have very serious doubts we are ever going to get the money, but I'm in favor of doing everything short of going to war to get it.

SPARKS—I'm against cancellation. I took that stand some time ago and still entertain the same opinion.

GUYER—We have canceled enough already.

STRONG—It's unreasonable for European nations to ask a country whose best young men died to save them to cancel their honest debts. The markers of thousands of American graves in France protest against it.

Kentucky

Opposed—Gregory, Carden, Finley, Thatcher, Spence, Chapman, May. Absent—Cary, Moore, Gilbert, Vinson.

COMMENT:

FINLEY—I am opposed to cancellation of foreign debts.

CARDEN—I shall continue to oppose any proposals looking toward reductions of the debts owed this country by Europe.

THATCHER—I heartily indorse Mr. Hearst's editorial in which he opposed cancellation.

MAY—When European nations show the proper spirit, I would favor an international conference to work out a reasonable adjustment but not cancellation.

Louisiana

Opposed — Maloney, Wilson, Kemp, Overton.
Noncommital—Montet.
Absent—Fernandez, Derouen.

COMMENT:

MALONEY—I am for the United States' interest first, last and always. I cannot see any help to our country in cancellation.

OVERTON—I'm against cancellation or reduction of war debts. They just want to saddle us.

Maine

Non-committal—Bedy, Nelson.
Absent—Partridge, Snow.

Maryland

Opposed, Cole. Noncommittal, Palmisano, Gambrill. Absent, Goldsborough, Linthicum, Lewis.

COMMENT:

COLE—I am opposed to cancellation as a general proposition, although I have little doubt that some paring down will become necessary.

Massachusetts

Non-committal — Treadway, Wigglesworth.
Absent—Rogers, Connery, Underhill, Luce, Martin, Gifford.

COMMENT:

HOLMES—These are bona fide debts and there is no reason why the taxpayers of the United States should contribute that sum to these foreign governments.

ANDREW—I do not favor the cencellation of debts. I believe, however, that we must act with generosity in facing a changed situation.

TINKHAM—The private agreement signed at Lausanne discloses at its worst the chicanery and insincerity of European diplomacy. It makes reduction of war reparations completely contingent on America's reduction of debts from money from the United States which is an entirely different thing from money imposts for damage.

WIGGLESWORTH—I have no comment to make at this time.

DOUGLASS—I am opposed to cancellation of war debts. I believe that the American viewpoint should be maintained as in the past, in order that American taxpayers may not be forced to assume the burden of this foreign debt.

Michigan

Opposed — Clancy, Hooper, Mapes, Person, Wolcott, Hart, Woodruff, McLeod, Bohn.
Non-committal—McLaughlin.
Absent—Michener, Ketcham, James.

COMMENT:

HART—We've done our share. They can pay if we let them trade by lowering our tariff wall.

WOLCOTT—I am unalterably opposed to cancellation, which would transfer the burden of Europe's war to the shoulders of the American taxpayers.

BOHN—I am unalterably opposed to the cancellation of war debts and to making any additional foreign loans.

Minnesota

Absent—Kvale, Goodwin.

COMMENT:

NOLAN—I don't know how to make it any more emphatic than simply to say I'm opposed to the cancellation of war debts.

SELVIG—I am opposed to the cancellation, but if a plan were presented to tie up debt reductions with an arms cut applying to all countries, including our own, I would be willing to give some thought to it.

CHRISTGAU—I am opposed to cancellation, but I favor the Shipstead resolution whereby any reductions would be made contingent on reductions in armed forces.

PITTINGER—I was against debt cancellation five or six months ago and still am opposed.

MAAS—I am just as much opposed to cancellation of our foreign debst as I have always been, and getting stronger against it all the time.

Mississippi

COMMENT:

COLLIER, Chairman Ways and Means Committee—I would resist cancellation of one penny.

RANKIN—I am emphatically opposed to any degree of cancellation. It would be virtually treason to vote to cancel one dollar.

ELLZEY—This is an honest debt and it should be paid.

DOXEY—I am against debt cancellation now, as always. I was against the moratorium because I felt it would lead to cancellation.

Missouri

Non-commital, Niedringhaus.
Absent, Milligan, Cannon, Fulbright.

COMMENT:

DICKINSON—I voted against the moratorium and I am against cancellation.

MANLOVE—As long as the Allies have money to spend on expensive armaments, there is no reason why they should not have money with which to pay us.

RAMJOU—Cancellation would not be to the best interest of our people.

Montana

Absent, Evans, Leavitt.

Nebraska

Opposed, Morehead, Baldridge, Howard, Norton, Shallenberger, Simmons.

COMMENT:

MOREHEAD—America's soldiers and America's credit won the war for the Allies. It seems unbecoming for the Allies to even expect us to discharge these sacred obligations and pass them on to our own taxpayers.

Nevada

Opposed, Arentz.

COMMENT:

ARENTS—Europe should start reducing her armaments instead of asking for debts reductions.

New Hampshire

Opposed, Rogers.
Absent, Wason.

New Jersey

Non-committal, Seger, Lehlbach.
Absent, Wolverton, Bacharach, Stewart, Perkins, Hartley.

COMMENT:

CAVICCHIA—St. Paul says charity begins at home and I'm voting with him.

SUTPHIN—I am certainly opposed to cancellation.

EATON—The European nations have just had a conference to which the United States was not a party. They have announced an agreement among themselves to lift from each others' shoulders most of their debts, the whole program centering around reparations. We have nothing to do with reparations.

New Mexico

Opposed, Chavez.

COMMENT:

CHAVEZ—These nations owe us and should pay us.

New York

Opposed, Somers, Oliver, Delaney, Rudd, Carley, Sirovich, Bloom, O'Connor, LaGuardia, Gavagan, Millard, Fish, Crother, Snell, Culkin, Davenport, Hancock, Taber, Stalker, Whitley, Andrews, Cooke, Mead, Griffin.
Absent, Brunner, Lindsay, Cullen, Black, Celler, Prall, Sullivan, Boylan, Kennedy, Fitzpatrick, H. J. Pratt, Corning, Reed.

COMMENT:

SNELL—Republican floor leader—No, siree!

CULKIN—I am unalterably opposed to cancellation or reduction. We already have substantially reduced indebtedness.

GAVAGAN—I am unalterably opposed to any foreign debt cancellation.

WHITLEY—I am opposed to cancellation because the money was loaned in good faith and the large portion of it after all hostilities ceased. It is a just debt.

HANCOCK—The general feeling is against cancellation, both public and in the House and Senate.

TABER—I am opposed to cancellation. I wouldn't want to say, however, that under no circumstances would I favor readjustment.

OLIVER—We scaled the debts down tremendously in the Coolidge administration. Within 62 years, surely, better times will come and these nations will be able, without pressure upon their people, to pay us the price of our own lives for which they begged on bended knees.

CARLEY—I am very much against the cancellation of the post-war debts. The United States has been most liberal to the European powers owing her money, and the least these powers could do would be to admit that liberality and meet their obligations of honor.

SIROVICH—I am unalterably opposed to the cancellation of any post-war debts. I believe the views of William Randolph Hearst on this matter admirably reflect the situation as it exists. Last summer I traveled through Europe and was able to see at first-hand that from 70 to 80 cents of every dollar borrowed by our overseas neighbors was going into military, naval and other budgets for armnaval and other armament."

North Carolina

Opposed—Warren, Hancock, Lambeth, Doughton, Bulwinkle, Weaver.
Absent—Kerr, Abernethy.
Non-committal—Pou, Clark.

COMMENT:

WEAVER—I will oppose any legislation leading toward cancellation.

HANCOCK—Foreign countries should be made to pay to the fullest extent of their capacity.

WARREN—Absolutely no cancellation.

North Dakota

Opposed—Burtness, Hall, Sinclair.

COMMENT:

HALL—We have done altogether too much in the way of cancellation already—let's do something for America.

BURTNESS—I am certainly not for cancellation.

GREGORY—I am unwilling to unload on the American people the debts and obligations of other nations.

Ohio

Non-committal—Hess.
Absent—Hollister, Cable, West, Mouser, Murphy, Cooper, Crosser, Bolton.

COMMENT:

McCLINTOCK—Cancellation moves cannot get anywhere.

SWEENY—There are 10 millions of Americans out of work and the United States has played Santa Claus long enough.

UNDERWOOD—I am opposed to foreign debt cancellation. President Hoover ought to state his position.

HARLIN—For the present I am very strongly opposed to cancellation of the war debts, but I don't say what future conditions may justify.

Oklahoma

Opposed, Disney, Cartwright, Johnson, Garber.
Absent, Hastings, McKeown, Swank, McClintic.

COMMENT:

DISNEY—Hell's bells, of course I'm against cancellation, just as I was against the moratorium.

JOHNSON—William Randolph Hearst hit the nail on the head in his editorial on the proposal. It seems to me that the European powers, before agreeing to lighten Germany's burden, had a tacit understanding that the United States would foot the bill.

CARTWRIGHT—When my banker cancels what I owe him, then I'll be for cancelling these foreign debts.

Oregon

Opposed, Butler, Martin. Absent, Hawley.

COMMENT:

MARTIN—We should use these debts as a club over European nations to make them reduce arms.

Pennsylvania

Non-committal, Wolfendell.
Absent, Beck, Ransley, Golder, Connolly, Doutrich, Stull, Kendall, Shreve, Sullivan, Estep, Wyant.

COMMENT:

TURPIN—I look at Europe's debts to us as I would my own business. We should collect what is honestly due us.

RICH—I am against cancellation until I know more about it than I do today.

TEMPLE—Everybody knows if we don't get the money from those who owe it we'll have to bear the burden ourselves.

KELLY—If we should write off these debts it would simply mean putting the burden on our own taxpayers.

ERK—If you want a revolution in this country just try cancelling those debts.

CAMPBELL—Under no circumstances and under no pressure that I can imagine would I vote for cancellation.

STOKES—It is our duty to cooperate when we have full knowledge of the facts. Of course, no Congressman can advocate outright cancellation.

COCHRAN—We advanced money to the European nations. They intended to repay it when they borrowed it. Nothing has happened in the meantime to change that situation.

Rhode Island

Opposed—Burdick, Condon.
Non-commital—Aldrich.

COMMENT:

CONDON—Cancellation would mean that the American taxpayer would be compelled to pay the whole cost of the war.

South Carolina

Opposed—McMillan, Hare, Dominick, McSwain, Gasque.
Absent—Stevenson, Fulmer.

COMMENT:

M'SWAIN—We scaled the debts down when the settlements were made.

HARE—I am not surprised at the present movement. The moratorium started it.

M'MILLAN—I have voted my last dime for any gifts abroad.

South Dakota

Opposed—Christopherson, Johnson, Williamson.

COMMENT:

CHRISTOPHERSON—I am opposed to cancellation, whether we get the money or not.

Tennessee

Opposed—Byrns, Browning, Cooper, Crump.
Absent—Lovette, Taylor, McReynolds, Mitchell, Davis.

COMMENT:

COOPER—I have been opposed to cancellation all the time; I voted against the moratorium.

BROWNING—I am opposed to cancellation and would not change even if I know it would beat me for Congress.

Texas

Absent, Rayburn, Johnson, Garrett, Mansfield, Buchanan, Williams, Thomason, Blanton, Jones.

COMMENT:

CROSS—We have already made too many concessions. I stand for full payment.

PATMAN—No cancellation; not a penny.

Utah

Opposed, Colton, Loofbourow.

COMMENT:

LOOFBOUROW—These debts might just as well stand, whether paid or not. Allowed to stand, they will at least deter further attempts to borrow from us.

COLTON—For the present, it is not justifiable.

Vermont

Opposed, Gibson.
Absent, Weeks.

Virginia

Opposed, Lankford, Drewry, Burch, Flanagan.
Non-committal, Bland, Woodrum, Fishburn.
Absent, Montague, Smith, Tucket.

COMMENT:

DREWERY—I am opposed to cancellation at this time.

WOODRUM—My natural inclinations are against cancellation, but I am not ready to say yes or no at this time.

Washington

Opposed—Horr, Sumners, Hill.
Non-committal—Hadley.
Absent—Johnson.

COMMENT:

HORR—I am absolutely against cancellation and any further moratoriums and participations that are leading us to foreign entanglements.

West Virginia

Opposed—Bachmann, Bowman, Hogg, Shott, Smith.
Absent—Hoornor.

COMMENT:

SHOTT—I am against debt cancellation and I oppose reduction.

BACHMANN—I am apposed to debt cancellation.

Wisconsin

Absent—Amlie, Ueavey, Stafford.

COMMENT:

REILLY—I have been opposed to cancellation; I see no reason to change my attitude.

SCHAFER—They have the capacity to pay, more than we in America.

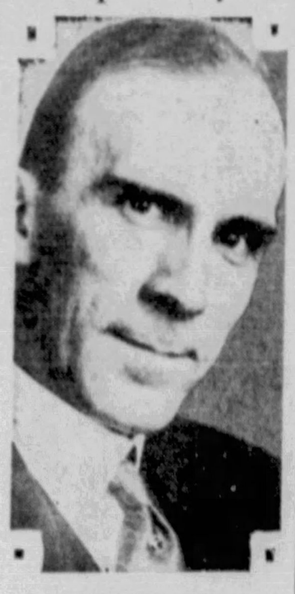
NELSON—I am opposed to cancellation generally. I might consider cancellation on condition of European disarment.

FREAR—The United States received no territorial or monetary reimbursement and should not burden American taxpayers because of moneys loaned.

Wyoming

Opposed—Carter.

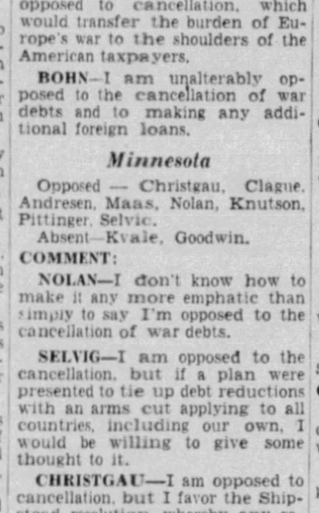
Rep. Kelly:



CLYDE KELLY

Congressman Kelly, Edgewood, says of the international debts: "If we should write off those debts it would simply mean putting the burden on our own shoulders."

Rep. Temple:



HENRY W. TEMPLE

Congressman Temple, Washington, Pa., says of the international debts: "Everbody knows if we don't get the money from those who owe it we'll have to bear the burden ourselves."

Senator Reed:

DAVID AIKEN REED

U. S. Senator Reed, Pittsburgh, says of the international debts: "I am everlastingly opposed to either cancellation or reduction."

U. S. Senator Davis, Pittsburgh, says of the international debts: "I am opposed to cancellation until I can see where we would get some return . . ."

Senators Take Strong Stand in Opposition to Cancellation Proposal

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Vigorous denunciation of the proposed cancellation of European war debts to the United States was expressed by those members of the United States Senate who could be reached in Washington by the Hearst newspapers.

Led by Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, who declared he was "everlastingly" hostile to cancellation or reduction, there was an almost unanimous expression of opposition to saddling Europe's cost of the war on the American people. The comments follow:

SENATOR REED (Rep.), Pennsylvania—I am everlastingly opposed to either cancellation or reduction.

SENATOR DAVIS (Rep.), Pennsylvania—I am opposed to cancellation until I can see where we would get some return for our money in the shape of arms reductions and lower taxes.

SENATOR FESS (Rep.), Ohio, former chairman of the Republican National Committee—The proposal in the Lausanne agreement is an effifrontery amounting almost to an international offense.

SENATOR CAPPER (Rep.), Kansas—The plot to shift the burdens from the European people who got the money to the American taxpayers is indefensible.

SENATOR MOSES (Rep.), New Hampshire—The European governments are apparently trying to make us the goat again.

SENATOR LEWIS (Dem.), of Illinois—The Lausanne proposal is a deliberate scheme to force America into a position where those Americans favoring cancellation can advance the argument that cancellation is the only way we can revive foreign trade.

SENATOR FLETCHER (Dem.), of Florida—Any proposition to reduce the debts is highway robbery. Let them pay their own debts.

SENATOR M'NARY, of Oregon, assistant Republican leader—Not one red cent will I agree to reduce the debts.

SENATOR KEAN (Rep.), of New Jersey—I went out and wrung this money out of the American people, and I am not going to ask them to pay it the second time.

SENATOR KEYES (Rep.), of New Hampshire—I am opposed to cancellation at the present time and oppose it unless something develops that I do not know about. I see no reason for cancelling debts.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE (Rep.), of Wisconsin—I am opposed to cancellation unless the debtor nations reduce armaments and thus do something to benefit our people. I figure there are bad debts, but I think we should try to get something out of them.

SENATOR JONES (Rep.), of Washington—Absolutely not.

SENATOR McGILL (Dem.), of Kansas—I am against cancellation. The only reason I voted for the mortorium resolution was because of the amendment declaring against further concessions.

SENATOR THOMAS (Rep.), of Idaho—I am against cancellation. It looks as though the European nations are trying to maneuver us into cancellation.

SENATOR TRAMMEL (Dem.), of Florida—I am unalterably opposed.

SENATOR ASHURST (Dem.), of Arizona—Our people are already too heavily burdened by taxation and it would be monstrously unjust to our taxpayers to cancel any part of the debt.

SENATOR COUZENS (Rep.), of Michigan—No agreement can change the obligation of the debtor nations to pay these loans, which were made largely for reconstruction purposes. My position is they must pay.

SENATOR WALSH (Dem.), Montana, in a telegram from Helena, Mont.—I am against cancellation of war debts due our government, but that does not mean that my mind is closed against any conceivable proposal looking to cancellation.

SENATOR ROBINSON (Rep.), Indiana—Europe owes this money to the American people, and it must be paid.

SENATOR JOHNSON (Rep.), California—Put me down as irrevocably opposed to revision of the debts. I would never dream of cancellation.

SENATOR SCHALL (Rep.), Minnesota—We won the war for the Allies, canceled the principal on the billions we loaned them and it seems to be little enough for them to pay the measly interest we charge them. As it is, we are losing $500,000,000 a year in the difference in interest we paid for our money and the interest rate we made to them.

That sentiment was echoed by Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and Senator Dill, of Washington, who, as members of the Resolutions Committee of the Chicago convention, were instrumental in having the anti-cancellation plank adopted.

SENATOR BAILEY (Dem.), of North Carolina—They owe the money and national self respect ought to counsel them to abandon their efforts to avoid paying it. The Democratic party is definitely pledged against cancellation. The debtor nations have notified us they intend to take the matter up after election. The American people will take it up before election and the consequence will be that the next President and the next Congress will not be in a position even to consider the matter. The debtor nations would do well to realize that now rather than to entertain hopes of cancellation after the American people have spoken.

SENATOR TYDINGS (Dem.), Maryland—"I am opposed to cancellation, but if Europe put her house in order so that the amount cancelled would not be used to keep up wartime armaments in time of peace, I would be disposed to view more favorably some readjustment as tending to promote international economic stability.

SENATOR GOLDSBOROUGH (Rep.), Maryland—This is not an opportune time to discuss the debt question.

SENATOR AUSTIN (Rep.), Vermont—I have very definite opinion on the matter, but until the question of debt cancellation or revision comes before us I will withhold my comment.

SENATOR WALCOTT (Rep.), Connecticut—(Refused to express himself for or against cancellation. He said he wished to keep an open mind on this issue and see what proposition would be forthcoming).

SENATOR HULL (Dem.), Tennessee—The question of debts and reparations is a small part of the international problem and a discussion of the matter should be deferred until the tariff question is settled.

SENATOR COOLIDGE (Dem.), Massachusetts—I feel the loans made since the war should be paid.

SENATOR GLENN (Rep.), of Illinois—Somebody must pay and it should not be the American people.

SENATOR PATTERSON (Rep.), of Missouri—There is no such thing as cancellation. The Allies owe the money which was borrowed from our citizens. It is a question of whether Europe or the American people shall pay. There is no reason why our people should suffer the loss.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD (F.-L.), of Minnesota—The Allies know they can't get any more war indemnity from Germany and so they are trying to get it from us.

SENATOR GORE (Dem.), of Oklahoma—(Said he was opposed to cancellation, but called attention to his resolution calling upon the Secretary of State to sound out European governments to consider a proposal for payment of their debts in territory instead of cash).

SENATOR VANDENBERG (Rep.), of Michigan—On the bald question of cancellation, I am opposed. There is no relation between debts and reparations. Reparations are punitive and debts are contractual. No agreements can change that.

SENATOR COPELAND (Dem.), of New York—I might consider debt revision or even cancellation based upon a graduated disarmament and the revision of the Versailles Treaty.

SENATOR PITTMAN (Dem.), of Nevada—I do not believe in cancellation or in moritoria. Let our debtors pay just like any individual, pay what they can when they can, but pay.

SENATOR BLAINE (Rep.), Wisconsin—I am opposed to cancellation without reservation, but I will state the condition later under which I might consider a revision of the debts.

SENATOR BARBOUR (Rep.), New Jersey—I have an open mind on debt revision, but I want to hear the proposition first.

SENATOR KING (Dem.), Utah—No. In my opinion, the question now rests upon European nations to extinguish the obligations due each other, to affect satisfactory guarantees for reduction of armaments and the inauguration of policies that will result in the maintenance of peace and international co-operation and goodwill. When this is done our government may then take up for consideration the problem involved in the payment of war debts due to it.

Funeral-Bound Auto Upsets, Two Hurt

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 12.—J. G. McClain, 5850 Bartlett street, Pittsburgh, suffered injuries and his father a shock when the automobile in which they were riding to the funeral of Col. Edward H. Williams at Latrobe, killed in an automobile accident, overturned on the Lincoln highway, pinning both men beneath the car.

U. S., BRITISH DEBT CRISIS 'DELICATE'

root of every economic trouble which has overtaken the world.

"As a result of the Lausanne conference I hope that you have heard the last of reparations."

CITES DIFFICULTIES

MacDonald called attention to the difficulties confronting the powers at the opening of the Lausanne conference. He continued:

"The initial difficulty was that Germany paid reparations only to France, ourselves and others who thus paid war debts and also received war debt payments. America received payments.

"Each of these three groups quite properly refused to treat its contractual obligations so as to mix itself up with the position of any of the others."

"Nevertheless, I believe that no nation is more ready to lend a hand in straightening out the entanglements and troubles which surround us than America and her people."

ANSWERS CRITICS

Replying indirectly to the criticism voiced in Parliament yesterday by Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, MacDonald denied there was any intention of going back to the Young plan if the agreement reached at Lausanne fails of ratification. He said:

"If the Lausanne plan fails, instead of Germany falling back upon a suspended Young plan there will be another conference."

The Premier virtually repeated the famous Balfour declaration when he said that Great Britain would continue her policy of making no profit out of reparations and debt transfers. In other words that she would accept no more from her creditors than she needed to meet her own obligations.

DENIES ULTIMATUM

The Prime Minister emphatically denied that the nations of Europe, using disarmament as a weapon, had banded together to serve an ultimatum upon the United States. He said:

"In view of the grievous results likely to follow upon a representation made here or anywhere that a disarmed Europe has combined simply to present something in the nature of an ultimatum to the United States, I wish to make clear that all Lausanne did was to straighten out the internal difficulties of Europe and agree on proposals which the nations there represented believed essential.

"I am confident, and I don't care who knows it at home or abroad, that in dealing with the matter of American debts we are touching a very tender spot, and I want to state clearly that no one has the right to blame America for taking the attitude it has done.

"Had we all got together, our work would have been greatly simplified, but America felt it had to be consistent throughout.

"And I for one—although America never has uttered a pledge that so far as I know nor in any way indicated how far it is prepared to meet us—I believe there is no nation more ready to lend a hand in straightening out the entanglements and troubles which surround us than America and her people."

Washington Held Aware Of European Debt Plot

LONDON, July 12.—The United States government was fully aware that a secret European agreement seeking cancellation or revision of war debts would pass on to Washington the responsibility for making the Lausanne reparations settlement effective.

Even though Europe sought to keep in the background this vital "gentlemen's agreement," it was confirmed in the House of Commons last night in a statement by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

EUROPEAN ALLIES

At the same time, it was disclosed in Whitehall that Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium have all pledged that if any one power does not obtain a satisfactory debt settlement from America, the Lausanne settlement is scrapped and another conference will be called to settle reparations.

Chamberlain, defending the Lausanne negotiations against the violent denunciations of former Chancellor Winston Churchill, who deplored the united European front against America, implied that official Washington knew every move being made at the Lausanne parley. He declared:

"We were in touch at Lausanne not only with European representatives, but we had the opportunity for conversations with representatives of the United States.

"I would ask the House to believe that in this rare, delicate situation, the government had no reason to think the course it had taken was one which would lead to any unfortunate results which have been anticipated."

MYSTERIOUS PARLEY

The American representatives referred to by Chamberlain were United States Ambassador to Belgium, Hugh Gibson and Norman Davis, of the American delegation to the disarmament conference. Gibson conferred not only with MacDonald but once with Premier Herriot, of France, in a mysterious midnight meeting halfway between Geneva and Lausanne.

Discounting Washington dispatches that the Hoover administration is maintaining an attitude against debt revision, it was pointed out that MacDonald, while at Lausanne, said publicly that negotiations for war debt reduction were being carried on with Washington.

Chamberlain asked Commons to suspend judgment on the Lausanne agreement until a government statement today, and then caustically criticized Churchill for "endeavoring to undermine any confidence which might have been aroused" by the $714,000,000 Lausanne reparations settlement.

Britain to Remain Off Gold Standard

LONDON, July 12. — (AP.) — The British government has no intention of returning to the gold standard in the immediate future, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the Exchequer, told Parliament today.

The statement answered a questioned who had spoken of a resolution adopted by the dicertors of the World Bank yesterday urging return to the gold standard as the best available monetary mechanism.

Ringling Operation Denied by Friends

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Reports that John Ringling, circus magnate, was critically ill and that both his legs had been amputated, was flatly denied by his business associates today.

They said that Ringling had been ill some weeks ago and that he had recently moved to a Coney Island hotel to recuperate. He was now in good health, they said, and there had never been any question of amputations.

RAYMOND GRIFFIN

HELD IN ATTACK ON BEER PATRON

George L. Cholker, of 348 Amber street, will be arraigned tomorrow night before Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, on charges of assault and battery and violation of the Snyder act, as a result of his alleged attack upon H. C. Dean, of Fairmount avenue.

Dean charged the Amber street address was a speakeasy and that, without provocation, Cholker struck him on the jaw, knocking him down and breaking his ankle, after he had ordered a glass of beer in the place, July 3.

Cholker was arrested yesterday when Constable Charles Gordon raided the house and reported confiscating whisky, gin and beer. He was committed to jail in default of $1,500 bail.

Cardinal O'Connell's Home Broken Into

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 12.—(INS.)—An attempt to burglarize the Devereaux Point summer home of William Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and dean of the Catholic hierarchy in America, was made last night, it was revealed today. The front entrance was pried open, but nothing was taken.

Curtis Appeal Fund Sought by Friends

NORFOLK, Va., July 12.—(INS.)—Loyal friends of John Hughes Curtis, sentenced to one year in prison for false negotiations in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, today instituted a drive for funds to enable the shipbuilder to appeal the lower court's decision.

SENATE STRONG AGAINST WAR DEBT LOSS

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Only one senator out of 84 contacted by Universal Service today in a poll of the Senate approved cancellation of the European war debts to the United States.

Seventy-nine senators—39 Democrats, 39 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite — opposed cancellations. Four senators — three Republicans and one Democrat—were non-committal and 12 senators were absent and unpolled.

Fifteen senators, while opposing unconditional cancellation, said they were open-minded on the question of forgiveness, revision or reduction if they could be shown that such action would prove advantageous ultimately to the United States.

The senators in this limited class were:

Farmer-Labor (1)—Shipstead, Minnesota.

Farmer-Labor (1)—Shipstead, Minnesota.

Absent (12)—Barkley, Kentucky; Hawes, Missouri; Logan, Kentucky; Morrison, North Carolina; Neely, West Virginia; Swanson, Virginia, Democrats, and Brookhart, Iowa; Carey, Wyoming; Cutting, New Mexico; Dale, Vermont, Oddie, Nevada, and Waterman, Colorado, Republicans.

POLL BARS CUT OF WAR DEBTS

sailles treaty and readjustment of international tariffs.

The Senate poll showed: For unconditional cancellation, one Democrat. Against, 39 Democrats, 39 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite. Four Senators were non-commital and 12 were absent, accounting for the full membership of 96.

Out of 287 members of the House contacted, 259 opposed cancellation and 28 were non-committal. There were 144 absent and four vacancies, accounting for the 435 total membership.

All members of Congress in this personal canvass were asked:

"Are you for or against cancellation of the war debts?"

The universal answer was:

REPLIES BY WIRE

Any comment regarding possible conditions under which the members of Congress might consider scaling down of the debts was then taken down by the 21 men who conducted the poll of every member available in Washington. A number of absentees sent in replies by wire.

Revelations that the Lausanne agreement was made contingent upon the United States agreeing to reduce Europe's debts met with indignant outbursts on every hand.

Senator McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee, offered a resolution calling upon the State Department to inform the Senate whether this government had expressed any willingness to consider further reduction of the debts. He said:

"The facts in the matter call for an immediate explanation from the President. For it is inconceivable that our former allies would have such an agreement without having some assurances from Mr. Hoover that the debts would be cancelled."

AGAINST REVISION

"We are not going to revise or cancel the debts no matter what agreements or promises were made at Lausanne. I do not believe any American Congress will ever revise or reduce these debts."

Senator Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he would withhold comment until he had "all the facts." To the direct question of whether he was for or against cancellation, Borah said:

"A man cannot answer yes or no to that question. A fair answer must be qualified. My position on debts is just what has often been stated."

Over a period of years Borah has taken the position that he is opposed to cancellation unless it is coupled with the revision of the Versailles treaty and disarmament as the principle concessions.

The views of those who expressed themselves as being "open-minded" was reflected generally in a statement by Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado, who said:

"The difficulty with the submitted question lies in what is or is not implied by the word 'cancellation.' Most Senators interpret it as meaning unconditional cancellation and are therefore disposed to answer in the negative. I am perfectly willing to have the United States discuss and consider agreements with other nations which will promote the permanent welfare of our country.

"America can afford to be open-minded toward suggested revisions of international debts, which may never be paid, in return for agreements assuring universally reduced armaments, peace instead of menace of war, and restored American commerce which will furnish profitable foreign markets for our products of farms and factories."

In the face of the most positive assertions of the British chancellor, Neville Chamberlain, that "representatives of the United States had been consulted" during the making of the agreement, Secretary of State Stimson made an equally positive denial today. He said:

"There have been no conversations or overtures from governments party to the Lausanne agreement in connection with debt revision."

3 HELD AFTER GUN BATTLE

Three youths arrested in the Butler plank road, near Millvale, following a gun battle in which a bullet alleged to have been fired from their automobile struck the bullet-proof vest of Police Chief Joseph Seelnacht, Shaler Township, were held today in the county jail after a hearing last night before Justice of the Peace Eugene Merrilch, of Bauerstown.

Chief Seelnacht testified he was stopping machines in Wible Run road last Wednesday night following robbery reports and when he hailed the youth's car they sped away. A gun battle ensued during which Seelnacht was struck by a bullet.

The youths, John Cadonic, 17, of 4829 Hatfield street; Frank Miller, 20, of 145 Forty-fifth street, and Samuel Sanfordt, 19, of 3426 Butler street, were arrested by Patrolmen George A. Steiner and W. T. McNally, of Etna, in the Butler plank road a short time later.

CLUB TO HONOR TRAFFIC MEN

The Pittsburgh Traffic Club at a testimonial dinner in the Keystone Athletic Club next Monday will honor William V. Taffner, retiring as general agent for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, and David G. Hood, assistant traffic manager of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie.

Taffner is retiring after 44 years of service, while Hood has spent 48 years with his company here. Taffner is a charter member of the club and was its first treasurer. Hood, who came here in 1901, will retire on pension August 11.

Lieut. Edmonds Gets Purple Heart Medal

Lieut. George L. Edmonds, a patient in the United States Marine Hospital here, has been awarded the Order of the Purple Heart, according to word received here today from the War Department. Lieut. Edmonds, Allegheny High School graduate, and Ohio professional football star before the war, previously received the Croix de Guerre while serving with the Blue Devils of France. He received his latest citation for meritorious service and extraordinary heroism. He has been in the hospital for a year.

Michigan Landmark Destroyed by Fire

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 12 — (INS.) — The Island House, one of the old landmarks of Mackinac Island, was swept by fire yesterday. Damage estimated at $40,000 was covered by insurance. No one was injured.

The fire broke out in the kitchen and for a time threatened to spread to the entire block of summer homes.

After two hours firemen put the flames under control. Mrs. Van A. Webster, Steubenville, O., owns the hotel. Guests belongings were saved, but the servants' quarters and their contents were destroyed.

Pinchot for Roosevelt Strongly Indicated

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 12.—The course to be followed by Gov. Pinchot in the presidential campaign is causing considerable discussion about the executive offices here. It is no secret the Governor, throughout the Hoover administration, has been at odds with Washington. It is quite as well known that he has a warm friendship for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Mr. Shields

Every indication is that before the end of the campaign the Governor will come out directly for Roosevelt. It is even probable that before the adjournment of the present session of the Legislature he will make some statement which can be taken as an indorsement of the New York Governor's candidacy.

The only place at which the Pennsylvania and New York Governors fail to meet is the prohibition question. Roosevelt is for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and modification of the Volstead Act. Pinchot, no longer ago than the senatorial primary, maintained his bone-dry attitude, though he endeavored to play down this difference of attitude between his candidate, Gen. Smedley Butler, and the wringing wet James J. Davis.

Moreover, the Governor now has the precedent of Gen. Butler, arid dry, from a family line of greater Republican regularity than the Pinchot record, indorsing Roosevelt and Garner.

* * *

Believe Butler Step Forecasts Pinchot's

There are those in Harrisburg who believe the Butler indorsement represents the first step in an understanding between the retired Marine and Pinchot. Butler's pronouncement makes it easier for Pinchot to step across the party line. It should be significant that the Governor has not denied stories that he would back the Democratic ticket, even when asked directly if he had any comment to make.

It is also worth attention that he conferred last week with Progressive senators in Washington who, while they have not indorsed Roosevelt and Garner, have forsworn the Hoover ticket. There are some intimations that the Governor, because of his close friendship with the New York executive, may have been acting as an emissary, endeavoring to secure the approval of Senators Borah and Johnson of California to what might be termed a round robin of Progressive thought, signed by a number of Progressives in public life, and favoring Roosevelt.

"On everything except prohibition Pinchot and Roosevelt are 100 per cent in accord. On the other hand, Pinchot and President Hoover are 100 per cent apart."

* * *

Clear-cut Declaration Needed for Assistance

There can be no doubt but what the quiet influence of the administration will be thrown to the Democratic ticket, even should the Governor maintain silence throughout the campaign. That, however, would not prove very effective for Roosevelt. To be of assistance to him, the Pennsylvania Governor must come out with a clear-cut declaration, and campaign other states of the union, where he has real influence.

Despite the accepted opinion that Pennsylvania is safely for the Republican national ticket, though by a much reduced majority, State Chairman Edward Martin is considerably worred about the safety of many Republican congressional seats. Organization leaders fear an overturn which may make half the congressional delegation from Pennsylvania Democratic.

This fear, founded on the variance of the two parties on their prohibition pronouncements, and the dissatisfaction with the existing authority because of the unemployment situation, may lead the State Committee when it meets to draw up a platform for a declaration for repeal and modification, despite the conflict that would cause with the national platform.

* * *

Legislative Candidates Perturbed Over Problems

It will be recalled that in Chicago the Republican delegates to the convention adopted a resolution requesting the State Committee to take such action. The resolution has no binding effect, of course, and was adopted at the instance of those delegates who were trying to weasel their own way out of a sincere statement—and got caught at it—but it is being given greater attention since the Democrats came out so boldly.

Something is going to have to be done about legislative candidates, also, unless the House and Senate are to see more Democrats than in recent years have entered the Assembly halls. A number of Legislators who are candidates for re-election are perturbed about the problems which face them here, realizing that if there is not adequate relief, and if there is not a change in public attitudes, their continuance in public life is endangered.

You can prepare for a number of speeches for home consumption when a concrete program finally reaches the point of adoption or rejection. It is also possible there will be a more liberal attitude by a number of legislators in their campaigns, and from this may come an impetus which will mean repeal or revision of the blue laws in the next regular session.

Most of those who voted for repeal in the House last year have been renominated, while a number who thought that what was good enough for 1794 was good enough for 1932 were rejected by their constituencies. In the majority of instances they were defeated by men liberal on the so-called moral statutes.

COUNCIL FAILS TO VOTE OWN FURLOUGH

Steps Continued for New Layoffs of Employes

City Council today had recessed for a summer vacation without acting on furloughs without pay for its members, as steps were continued toward ordering additional enforced vacations for all city employes.

Action was to have been taken at yesterday's special meeting ordering the survey of appropriations in all departments, but President John S. Herron said needed figures were not complete. He declared:

"Our study of the financial reports asked from department heads has not been finished. As soon as this is done I will call a special meeting. We are doing everything possible to prevent a large deficit in 1933."

MAYOR'S STAND MYSTERY

No councilman commented on whether they would take furloughs without pay. Neither has Mayor Charles H. Kline indicated what position he will take. His salary is $15,000 annually. Councilmen receive $8,000.

Budget Controller Robert J. Alderdice told Council delays in pensioning firemen, ordered by Council in January, had saved the city $50,000.

This amount was part of the appropriation made by the city last winter. Alderdice asked that the Controller be ordered to place it in the councilmanic saving fund, an account originated since he took office.

DENIES PENSION

Alderdice denied he had received $208 per month as a pension since he retired several years ago as assistant superintendent of police. He said:

Failure to pension firemen and police officers until less than 10 days ago has resulted in a reduction of only $172,000 in the economy program in the safety department for the first six months of 1932, Alderdice said. The saving required was $282,000.

News About Moths, Grasshoppers, And Other Insects

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

New York was captured by the moths last night. We know they eat clothing, but this is the first time they have attacked the owners of overcoats.

The grasshoppers seem to have Kansas on the first ballot. Our only advice is to do as they do in the Philippines.

It has been a bad year for insects and alternate delegates. When it rained all over Dixie in June, cotton jumped in price.

That's because the boll weevils like damp weather. You didn't know that. There's a lot of things your Wall street broker doesn't tell you.

They inform us the 17-year locusts are due again this year. They're sure to make it with excursion rates so cheap.

The President has slapped his veto on the Garner relief bill. So it cannot get any worse unless some scientist crosses the mosquito with the lightning bug.

And we don't want our mosquitoes with searchlights. If they're going to bite us make 'em find us in the dark.

Boulevard Pact Seen, Road Is Still Blocked

THE ROAD TO NOWHERE . . . COUNTY'S IMPASSABLE BLVD.

Long Delay Expected After Settlement Is Reached

A settlement appeared likely today in the controversy over the Allegheny River boulevard, but motorists were still entitled to wonder why a temporary road had not been opened to allow for through traffic.

County Commissioner William D. Mansfield hopes to announce within a few days settlement of the argument with the Pennsylvania Water Company on a right of way through the company's property at Nadine station.

But even with the settlement weeks will elapse before the War Department and the Public Service Commission approve the terms.

In the meantime drivers will continue to regret that a small red dog road was not laid down near the Nadine station.

North Sider Heads Barbers' Association

Michael LaScola, of the North Side, has been elected president of the newly organized Journeymen Barbers Association of Pittsburgh. About 50 barbers attended the meeting held in North Side City Hall last night. Others elected to offices were Samuel Duca, vice president; E. C. O'Leary, secretary, and Harry Tuminello, treasurer.

LaScola said the organization would open a membership campaign in the city and seek better working conditions and pay.

Kenna Fined $40.25 After Guilty Plea

Edward M. Kenna, former county road commissioner, was fined $40.25 by Alderman E. W. Haas, of 1809 West Liberty avenue, when he pleaded guilty to reckless driving and disorderly conduct charges at a hearing last night.

County Motorcycle Patrolman Edward James, who arrested Kenna June 30 after an automobile accident on the Liberty Bridge, testified he became disorderly and refused to show his license cards.

Settlement Marks Founders Birthday

As children of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, 1835 Center avenue, today celebrated the seventy-second birthday of Henry Kaufmann, founder, the latter, in Paris, was to receive a roll of blue ticker tape, 500 feet long, bearing names and birthday greetings of more than 1,000 children. In addition to varied programs in honor of "Uncle Henry" as the donor is known, the Odd Fellows band will give a concert in the settlement tonight, Sidney A. Teller, director, announced.

CITY TAX LIEN LAND NEGLECT COSTLY

Officials Ignoring Likely Source Of Revenue

Thousands of parcels of real estate taken by the city for taxes have lain undisturbed for years with no systematic efforts made to sell the properties and get them back into the tax producing columns.

There is today no accurate list of property taken on city tax liens, none having been prepared from the records since 1929. The total valuation of such property last year, according to City Controller's records, was $981,014.

In addition to this sum, there are valuable properties listed under patrol stations and engine houses which are on the market.

Much of the property taken by the city is said to consist of steep hillsides and undesirable lots of little use for any purpose. It is believed, however, that if concentrated efforts were made to market the property, adjoining owners often would be interested in purchasing.

The city suffers a continual loss on all such property. It loses the amount of taxes for which the property was originally liened and it suffers a loss every year in current revenue.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board has repeatedly called attention to the situation and has agreed to help, through its membership, to market the properties. Should City Council see fit to declare a bargain day and sell the odd parcels of real estate at cut prices, a substantial financial gain to the city would result, it is believed.

The large amount of tax-exempt property is causing considerable worry to city officials. The total valuation of such property in the city in 1931 was more than $232,000,000, or over 16 per cent of the total value of all property in the city limits.

In addition to the city's own property, other tax-exempt real estate includes that owned by the federal, county and state governments, and certain property owned by public utility corporations, schools, churches, hospitals and other charitable institutions.

COACH DISPLAY ENDS JULY 19

Work of selecting the prize winners in the $75,000 competition of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild will be completed a week from today and the exhibit will be open daily to visitors until July 19 instead of concluding today as had been announced.

Awards were expected to be announced next Tuesday night, judges said. As they worked, crowds continued to throng Carnegie Museum where the exhibit, comprising some 180 brilliantly colored models of the famous royal coach of Napoleon, is being held.

The judges said they needed a formidable array of measuring instruments to distinguish each entry and to arrive at the score for each contestant. Covering 230 points involved in the appraisal of each model, the judges said the score would be fully itemized.

It will be possible, after the judging is completed, to take any coach, check any dimension in question and show exactly why it received the score given on that dimension, it was said.

Mudpies Flame Fatally

MARIO RINI, 3½ . . . MUDPIES, CANDIES, MATCHES, DEATH

Tiny Mario, 933 Mellon street, fatally burned when his clothes caught fire from candles he was burning on his mudpies as he played happily about his home. He died yesterday at West Penn hospital.

SANITARY BOARD SLASH FOUGHT

Opposition to reduction of state appropriations for continued activities of the Sanitary Water Board was declared today by City Council and department heads.

A resolution declaring the reduction would threaten Pittsburgh's water supply with acid contamination was sent Gov. Gifford Pinchot and the Legislature.

City Health Director Charles B. Maits and Public Works Director Edward G. Lang said cessation of the board's work in reducing acid contamination from the Allegheny River would hamper the city's work in that connection. Maits said elimination of the board would stop acid drainage work on rivers furnishing the municipal water supply.

Pittsburghers Hurt When Truck Upsets

WEST BRIDGEWATER, Pa., July 12.—Edwin A. Cunningham, 28, of 6811 McPherson street, Pittsburgh, and Charles P. Snyder, 29, of 149 Odette street, Pittsburgh, were treated for injuries at the Rochester Hospital, suffered when the truck in which they were riding overturned on a curve here. They were trapped in the cab.

Burglars Loot Home of Convict

CLEVELAND. — (INS.) —Burglars looted the home of former Councilman Liston G. Schooley while he was serving a term for bribery. They took all his clothes and several valuable pieces of jewelry.

KRAUT PACKERS TO MEET

America is rapidly overtaking Germany for supremacy in the sauerkraut industry, according to Roy Irons, of Clyde, O., secretary of the National Kraut Packers' Association, which convenes here tomorrow at the Hotel Schenley. He said:

"German kraut authorities are now coming to us for information on our methods. This is a compliment, as Germany for many years has been the leader in this industry. It is only a matter of time before we are on a par with Germany in the amount of kraut and kraut juice consumed."

Taxi Joy Rider Runs Up Big Bill

WORCESTER, Mass., — (INS.) —Frederick Voisine, of Sterline, gets a big "kick" out of riding in taxicabs and watching the meter whizz merrily into high figures. There's only one hitch. When his journey is ended he hasn't the money to pay the fare.

Taxicab companies alleged that Voisine's informal tours amounted to something like $35, and the judge postponed disposition of his case until September 13 to give him an opportunity to pay.

Dog Catchers Fights Expensive for City

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS.)—Fights staged by Assistant Dog Catcher M. E. Bishops are expensive for the city. Bishops recently staged a fight with an irate dog owner while on duty for the city, and it cost the city $40 for a new set of false teeth for Bishops.

WOMAN HELPS TO TRICK MAN IN HOLDUP

Feminine Stroller Hurt in Fight With Thug

East End police today continued search for the armed Negro who robbed Miss Clara Faunce, 22, of 5905 Rippey street, of $22 after striking her down in the bridle path, Highland Park, last night.

Miss Faunce was walking alone when the robber confronted and threatened her with a revolver. She struck at him with nail file she had in her hand. He snatched her purse, knocked her down and fled.

R. E. Zeigler, a baker, of 463 Edith street, was robbed of $40 in Sawmill Run boulevard at Woodruff street, late yesterday, by a couple he thought were having trouble with their automobile.

Zeigler, driving his truck, was hailed to stop by the couple who were standing by their machine. Believing the couple's automobile disabled, Zeigler alighted.

The man and woman took his money and fled in the car. The woman was about 25 and wore a light housedress.

ORANGE OUTING HELD AT PARK

Five thousand Orangemen and their families gathered at Kennywood Park today for the annual outing and celebration sponsored by the order. Irish dancing and music by the East End Fife and Drum Corps, amusements and swimming were on the program. The committee includes John M. Huston, John A. H. Thompson, Alex Moore, John Adams and Thomas Lees.

The annual Western Pennsylvania Slovak celebration will be held at Kennywood tomorrow.

The annual picnic of St. George's Catholic Church was being held today at West View Park. Charles F. Lang was general chairman in charge of a program of dancing, entertainment, free amusement and refreshments.

URGES CITY ACT IN WABASH DEAL

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt today was studying a communication from C. C. Hamilton, president of the Hamilton Real Estate Company, to determine the city's status in connection with the proposed purchase of the Wabash bridge and tunnel.

Negotiations are before the County Commissioners.

Hamilton said he believed the city should have some say in negotiations. Waldschmidt was instructed to report to Council soon.

Judge in Georgia Cuts Own Salary

THOMASVILLE, Ga.—(INS.)—Judge Hugh L. McIntyre, of Thomasville City Court, has established a record for economy.

He voluntarily reduced his salary 20 per cent, an action that was followed by B. B. Earle, solicitor of the City Court.

By careful pruning, he reduced the average cost of each case handled to $14.81 as compared with a cost of $71.85 a case in the County Court.

Post of 'Orchid Grower' Added to City Payroll

A new position, "orchid grower," was ordered into the city payroll by Council's committee on finance, at the request of the Bureau of Parks, yesterday.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang told Council the position, paying $2,100 a year, was necessary to care for the $38,000 collection of orchids recently donated the city, now at the Phipps Conservatory, Schenley Park.

At the same time Safety Director James M. Clark asked Council for permission to purchase 300 sitting room chairs for firemen at city engine houses. Clark said the chairs now in use were worn out and $1,300 was needed for new ones.

W. R. Dunlap, director of the supplies department, will advertise for contracts.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor Sun-Telegraph:

ALBUQUERQUE, Mex., July 12.

A nap in Chicago cost me the presidency. Now I find while I was down in Texas trying to rope a calf my namesake in Oklahoma brought home the bacon. Well, I'm for him. He has shown more ingenuity already than any candidate I ever heard of. They are trying to "hog" him out of it now. Well, that's politics for you. They say that he was a Republican eight years ago. My goodness; the whole State of Oklahoma was Republican just four years ago. So he saw what was coming four years before they did. I tell you this bird is smart. In fact, he will be plum out of place in Congress. So let's all get behind "Will Rogers for Congress."

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

2 HELD IN PARK PETTING PARTY ROBBERIES

Eleven petting party hold-ups in Riverview Park in the last few months were cleared today, detectives said, with the arrest of Hugh McNeil, 25, of 1317 Stokes street, and Joseph Vetturn, 17, of 3700 West Point street.

Joseph Roland, 2650 California avenue, another alleged member of the gang, admitted participating in the holdup of a gasoline station at Tenth street and Duquesne way several weeks ago. He denied, according to Detectives Edward McEntee and Clarence Raeder, complicity in the park holdups.

Vetturn and McNeil were arrested at Brighton road and Woods Run avenue by McEntee and Raeder and lodged in the Central Police Station on suspicious person charges.

Vetturn had a revolver when arrested, McEntee asserted. Roland was arrested later.

PYTHIANS GOING TO CONCLAVE

Twenty automobiles bearing Knights of Pythias will leave Pittsburgh Saturday morning, in charge of S. L. Weiner, for the annual encampment of the order at West Haven, Conn., July 17 to 23.

Mr. Weiner

Instructions in drill will be given by officers of the United States Army, Gen. L. A. Tuggle, in charge of the Marines in France during the World War, is head of the military branch of the organization. Louis V. Barach, of Pittsburgh, is quartermaster general of the Pennsylvania division.

2 Women, 3 Men Hurt In Auto Collision

Two women and three men were injured slightly early today in a collision of automobiles at the Manchester Bridge and Shore avenue. Mrs. Mary Heffly, 34; Elizabeth Sinucan, 28, and Bernard Sinucan, passengers of Frank Vener, 36, of 237 Edgewood avenue, and Richard Seidenstricker, 25, of 501 Berkshire avenue, driver of the other machine, were injured.

Both drivers were arrested on a reckless driving charge by North Side police.

McIntyre Assails 'Guide' Solicitation

In a communication to Council, Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre objected to methods he said were used in advertising solicitation for the Lewis Parking Guide. Two arrests have been made, McIntyre told Council.

He charged some solicitors were declaring proceeds from the guide were for the Police Pension Fund, and others were saying McIntyre and the Traffic Bureau were interested in the guide.

State Health Head Urges Sewer Here

Early construction by the city of an adequate sewer system in the Thirty-first Ward was suggested yesterday by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, director of the State Department of Health. The suggestion resulted from a state investigation on the plea of 448 residents.

Council ordered Public Works Director Edward G. Lang to make a survey and report.

HIS CONCRETE LIGHTER, STRONGER

LIGHTER BEAMS STAND TEST

Doubling the load strength of reinforced concrete beams while lightening the weight will be introduced shortly to the building world by Thomas D. Mylrea, professor of building construction at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

The new principle will result in construction cost savings of 10 to 15 per cent, according to Prof. Mylrea. The practicability of the method is being proven on a weight testing machine at the Tech laboratories, with 60 to 70 tons pressure being applied to a beam that under the old principle would only take 30 to 35 tons.

A greater number of bars are used in a beam by the new method. The beam under test contains 20 bars while a corresponding beam under the present system would have only five. The bars are smaller and of less weight, Mylrea explained.

Prof. Mylrea is nationally known in concrete construction. He is chairman of the Code Committee and a member of the Committee on Shear, Band and Anchorage of the American Concrete Institute.

Bottle Hurling Storm Wins Man Divorce

John A. Meyers, 34, Munhall, granted a divorce from Mary Meyers, told the court she hit him with a bottle and threw books and other things at him.

A divorce was granted Richard Feick, 23, Meredith street, from Myrtle Feick, 21, of Plymouth street, who, he testified, refused to live with him after their elopement to Wellsburg, W. Va., September 8, 1928.

Divorces were also granted Anna E. Solkery from Otto Solkery, Ellen H. Witherspoon from LeRoy Witherspoon, Florence E. Toomey from Marvin Toomey, Irving A. Hasselbrock from Edna Hasselbrock, Frances T. Reinheimer and Frank C. Reinheimer, Pearl Colker from Ben A. Colker.

SUMMER COLDS — how they hang on!

AVOID SELF-INFECTION Use KLEENEX disposable tissues

DON'T encourage a cold to hang on, by using a handkerchief over and over. That means constant self-infection.

Instead, use Kleenex. Then destroy it. Germs and all. And don't think this health habit is expensive. It will cost you less than laundering!

Kleenex is an exquisite tissue, made of softest rayon-cellulose. It is many times more absorbent than linen or cotton, and so is especially soothing during colds.

As you destroy Kleenex after using, there's no washing. No spreading germs through laundry bags, to contaminate other clothing.

Kleenex comes in the regular handkerchief size, and a towel size three times as large.

Traffic Safety Gain Shown Here

Pittsburgh continues to have the tenth highest traffic death rate among large cities entered in the National Traffic Safety Contest for the first months of the year, although a low record for May reduced the city's rate from 22 per 100,000 to 2.1 per 100,000.

Seven of the first 10 cities showed improvement in the first five-month total.

ACCESSORIES TAKE ON A NEW IMPORTANCE IN FASHION MARTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 12.—Paris takes its linens and cottons seriously these days. Clothes, in keeping with the times, are taking new planes of cost. Ribbons and buttons and other little odds and ends, formerly cast aside as unworthy, have now gained a new importance. Not even the most elaborate dressmaking salon is above a demonstration of how smart one can look on little money.

* * *

ONE OF THE fortunate results of this new regime shows itself in the increased number of attractive new accessories included in the fashion collections of the better dressmakers. Practically all the important houses show little hats made of the same materials as the dresses, or harmonizing in some way with the color scheme of the frock. Many couturiers work in collaboration with shoe and bag designers, and makers of gloves, in order to simplify the organization of a wardrobe.

* * *

RIBBONS used as belts or ties, then repeated on a hat, are one of the favorite new methods of relating accessories to one's dress. Mainbocher makes much use of ribbons—especially the grosgrain variety with a little picoted edging. He puts these ribbons, in bright colors or in black, on dresses of all varieties, from sports frocks to evening gowns.

* * *

* * *

MOLYNOUX'S linen hat is also shown—one in white, entirely covered with stitching, and banded with navy blue ribbon, ending in a white button.

* * *

HITTING OF THEVENOW DISPELS FEARS

FEARS THAT THE Pirates might suffer from a lack of high-grade reserve strength in event of losing the services of valuable regulars have been dispelled by the developments of the last few days. Far from weakening the club, the replacements for Pie Traynor and Dave Barbee have performed in a manner to make them big factors in the stretching of the Bucs' latest winning streak to 16 victories in 20 games. It had been expected that Adam Comorosky would give a good account of himself, but Tommy Thevenow has been a most agreeable surprise.

Tommy Thevenow

It was mainly because Thevenow lacked a punch that he was crowded out of the lineup by Floyd Vaughan. In 22 games, Tommy had batted only .166 and had knocked in only eight runs. There was no doubt that his fielding would be up to requirements when he took Capt. Traynor's place at third base, but it was feared he would weaken the offensive. On the contrary, Thevenow has been one of the big guns to aid in the winning of three of the last four games. In 16 times at bat up to today after relieving Traynor he pounded out five hits, including a double and a triple, for an average of .313, and drove in six runs with timely wallops that had a lot to do with the victories of Sunday and yesterday. Perhaps it's only new evidence that a winning spirit and a winning stride are contagious, but it makes the fans feel a whole lot safer than formerly in speculating as to the possible effects of occasional breaks in the lineup.

THERE IS PLENTY of scrap in prospect for the remainder of the week at Forbes Field. The Pirates are booked to tangle six times in four days with rival pennant contenders from Boston, double-headers being on the bills for tomorrow and Saturday.

When the Braves played here last they were fighting the Cubs for the leadership and the Pirates were in the cellar. Bill McKechnie's club is the only one in the league that hasn't lost a game in Pittsburgh. The Bostonese played only one engagement here on their first trip and won it in 12 innings, 6 to 5.

THE OPINION OF the Dodgers that Lon Warneke, of the Cubs, with 12 victories against three defeats, is the best young pitcher in the National League, is not offered in explanation of a defeat, for Brooklyn is the only club in the loop that Warneke has not beaten. The Careys got the decision over him in their only clash.

The vast improvement in Warneke's pitching this year is due to his having acquired control. He always did have speed and a sharp curve but couldn't pitch to the desired spots and the hitters landed on him, Pitcher Fred Heimach explains. Now Lonnie is pitching over the corners and it's hard to clout the ball solidly.

"THERE'S NO DOUBT Warneke is the best young pitcher in our league," Heimach said in discussing the Cub sensation with Ed Murphy. "Why? Because he has learned how to control his pitches. I don't know how Lon got control, but he did, and that is the big reason why he is a winner. I've got better control now than I ever had before, that is why I've been more effective. Until I walked the first Pirate Tuesday I hadn't given a single pass in 30 straight innings. Between games I am making it my business to pitch in batting practice. I get into two practice drills and make each one last about 10 minutes. When I'm pitching to batters I keep throwing the ball over the corners of the plate, and that practice keeps my control good."

George Sisler

ANOTHER OF MODERN baseball's most famous playing figures is out of the game for good. George Sisler confirms the report that his resignation as manager of the Tyler club in the Texas League spells the end of his career in the diamond sport.

Tyler finished last in the first half of the Texas League's split season. The owners asked Sisler to take a cut in salary and he resigned. There were rumors that George might hook up with another minor league club, but he has returned to his printing business in St. Louis and says he is done.

WHEN HE DROPPED out of the majors, Sisler left behind him a couple of records at which the boys probably will be shooting in vain for some time. One is for most hits in a season, 257 in 1920. Lefty O'Doul made 254 in 1929 and Bill Terry tore off the same number in 1930, but with the ball less lively now Sisler's mark may not be threatened again soon.

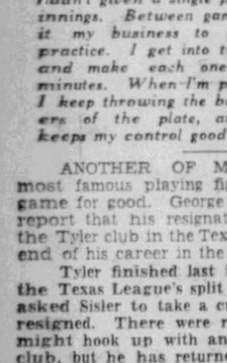
George also holds the American League record for hitting safely in the greatest number of consecutive games. He ran up a string of 41 in 1922, beaten only in major league history by Willie Keeler's 44 and Bill Dahlen's 42.

ABOVE THE FIREPLACE in the reception room at the Olympic Village in Los Angeles is a quotation worth memorizing. It is from Baron de Coubertin, the man who revived the Olympic Games in 1896. "The important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win, but to take part; the important thing in life is not the triumph, but the struggle; the essential thing is not to have conquered, but to have fought well. To spread these precepts is to build up a stronger and more valiant, and, above all, more scrupulous and more generous humanity."

THOUGH THE DEFEAT of King Levinsky by Max Baer would appear to have ruined the proposed match between Max Schmeling and Levinsky for a late summer date in Chicago, Billy McCarney, as a Schmeling representative, insists that a Chicago fight in which the German will be one of the principals is a certainty.

The chance for a financial killing in Chicago is too promising to be overlooked. Windy City fight fans, from Mayor Anton Germak down, think Schmeling was the victim of an atrocious decision in the bout with Jack Sharkey, and the former champion is so popular in that region as a result that it is figured he could draw more there than anywhere else in the country, regardless of the identity of his opponent.

BOBBY PEARCE, Olympic sculling champion and last year winner of the Diamond Sculls at Henley, will be trained by his father during the remainder of his preparations for the defense of his Olympic title at Los Angeles.



Ellsworth Vines

Harry Pearce, the father, himself an old champion of Australia, has just arrived from Sydney to take his son in hand. The elder Pearce also will train Maj. Goodcell, Australian professional, who will row against Ted Phelps, of England, for the world pro title at Long Beach on Labor Day.

IF THIS COUNTRY gets into the challenge round for the Davis Cup, young Ellsworth Vines will have a chance to make himself the greatest figure in the tennis world. Already he has advanced pretty close to that point. He has won the United States championship, and followed up by capturing the British title at Wimbledon, the only player except Gerald Patterson and Bill Tilden ever to take the latter crown in his first attempt. Now, if the American team qualifies to meet France for the Davis trophy and Vines wins there, he will have made a clean sweep of the world's major tennis championships, an achievement that would go down in racquet history as quite something, particularly in view of the fact that California's amazing net star is not yet old enough to vote.

FELIX SERAFIN SECOND AFTER THIRD ROUND

By TOM BIRKS

The Oakmont Country Club's difficult par continued to elude the army of linksmen battling for the Pennsylvania State Open golf championship as Vincent Eldred, Highland Country Club professional, gained an undisputed lead over the field with the playing of the third 18-hole round there this morning.

Tied with Felix Serafin, of Scranton, the defending champion, for the lead at 152 after two rounds yesterday, Eldred turned in a third round of 78, and gained a one-stroke edge with a 54-hole total of 230. Serafin posted a 79 for his third round for a 54-hole total of 231, and plenty of drama was promised as these contestants battled it out in the fourth and final round this afternoon.

GREAT FINISHED PROMISED

Scenting the possibility of such a finish, the tournament officials set the stage for a rare tournament thrill this morning when they paired Eldred and Serafin for the last day's play.

Ed Dudley, big Wilmington (Del.) pro, who has won the title twice, is playing with the leaders. He posted a 77 for his third round, a score which only Pete O'Hara, of Westmoreland, and Ted Luther, Valley Heights star, were able to match this morning, but his 54-hole total of 237 left him too far back to give him a real title chance.

O'Hara's 77 gave him 236 and a one-stroke edge on Dudley, but Luther, despite his fine round, was distanced with 241.

Eldred played extremely steady golf to gain the lead. He put together two 39's for his 78, and nothing higher than a 5 marred his card. His third round card:

Out—
5 5 4 5 5 4 3 4 4—39
In—
4 5 5 4 4 5 4 4 4—39—78—230

A spectacular recovery shot on the home hole kept Serafin in the thick of the championship fight. Playing from a ditch, in which his tee shot had landed, the Scranton ace blasted a mighty iron to within 10 feet of the pin, and got down in two putts for a par. His card:

Out—
5 4 6 5 3 4 5 3 5—40
In—
4 5 6 4 4 4 5 3 4—39—79—231

PLATT TOPS AMATEURS

The long twelfth hole, which cost Dudley a 9 yesterday, continued to be a thorn in his side today. He took a 7 there this morning to take the edge off what otherwise might have been a brilliant round.

J. Wood Platt, Philadelphia amateur star who placed among the leaders yesterday with 156, slumped somewhat and carded an 81, but his 54-hole total of 237 was EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: BREATH-TAKING EXTRAVAGANCE—Pal Antal Esterhazy, Prince of Galantha, Count of Edelstetten, and hereditary Lord of Forchtenstein (1786-1866), was the owner of the most princely fortune on the European continent. His personal holdings included 21 castles, 60 boroughs, 621 villages and more than 100,000 acres of land. Referred to as the "First Cavalier of Europe," he represented the Austro-Hungarian empire at the courts of Saxony, Holland, Rome and, in 1830, was accredited as the Austrian Ambassador in London. For 30 years, Prince Esterhazy was the most picturesque figure on the continent of Europe. His breath-taking exploits, his extravagance and fabulous splendor were a permanent newspaper feature of every country between 1810 and 1840. Within that period he squandered more than 24,000,000 gulden (about $9,600,000), in addition to his revenue, a colossal sum for his day. The two most-talked-about feats were the shooting of the Derby winner and the destruction of a priceless Titian original, with which he lined his coat. The story is told in the French "Illustration" of May 21, 1866. PRIME MINISTER AT THE AGE OF 23—William Pitt, son of the great Earl of Chatham, born in 1759, was elected to the English Parliament in 1780 when barely 21 years old. In July, 1782, when barely 23 years old, he became Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Shelburne cabinet. When Shelburne resigned, on February 24, 1783, the position of Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury was repeatedly thrust upon the youthful Pitt, with absolute authority to name a cabinet of colleagues. When Pitt finally accepted the position, his term of office lasted, with a few months' intermission, for 20 years. The brilliant, youthful statesman headed one of the most powerful ministries in English history.

CENTER JOINS PITT STAFF

By JESS CARVER

Another future medico has been added to the Pitt varsity football coaching staff in the person of Ralph Daugherty, of Freeport, rated an all-America center candidate last fall and varsity pivot man for the past three campaigns.

Daugherty, who completed his pre-med course this spring, will enter the medical school of the university in the fall and will assist Head Coach Jock Sutherland with the varsity line. Sutherland now has Joe Donchess to work with the ends, Bill Kern to instruct the tackles; Ray Montgomery to handle the guards; Daugherty to train the centers; Andy Gustafson to drill the backs and Dr. Skip Gougler, Hank Hangartner and Eddie Schultz to see to it the freshmen are brought up in the gridiron ways they should go.

Southworth New Columbus Pilot

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—(AP.)—W. H. (Billy) Southworth, who has won four championships in five years of piloting the Rochester International League club, today had a new job, that of making the heavy hitting of the Columbus Red Birds count more effectively in the American Association pennant race.

Appointment of Southworth, former major league outfield star with Pittsburgh and New York, and once manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to succeed Harry (Nemo) Leibold, as manager of the Red Birds, was announced last night by L. S. McPhail, president of the club.

FOREIGN NET STARS LOSE

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 12.—(AP.)—The domestic list of seedings in the fortieth annual Longwood Bowl tennis tournament remained intact, but the entire foreign group was eliminated yesterday during the first two rounds of unexciting play.

The foreign entries, limited this year to members of the Brazilian Davis Cup team which has enjoyed but little success on American courts, all bowed before the racquets of unseeded opposition.

Ricardo Pernambuca, Brazil's number 1 star, was eliminated in the second round by Keith Werner, of Los Angeles, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

A few minutes later Carlos Aranha, the third seeded Brazilian, was vanquished by Huntington Hartford, of New York, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Humberto Costa lost his opening match with Henry Culley, of Los Angeles, 7-5, 7-5.

Keith Gledhill, of Los Angeles, top seeded in the absence of Ellsworth Vines, the national champion and last year's Bowl winner, gained the third round as did Berkeley Bell, the New York-Texan.

There was only one default in the two rounds. Dave Niles, of Brookline, was about to step on the court against Albert Lewis, of Los Angeles, when he learned of the sudden death of his older brother, Nathaniel W. Niles, at Boston.

Nat, as he was known to tennis and figure-skating followers, was ranked among the court's "First Ten" 10 times from 1908 to 1921. He was also a member of four United States winter Olympic teams and 20 times a national figure-skating champion.

AMATEURS BOX TONIGHT

Joey Severino boxes Elmer Wilson in the main bout of the amateur boxing show to be staged by the Twenty-seventh Ward Republican Club in its California avenue arena tonight, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Other bouts:

Al Martzo vs. Johnny Larrick, Sam Buzzelli vs. Emil Cappy, Jackie Fields vs. Sam Ferich, Butch Wains vs. Otis Meade, Billy Jackson vs. Frank Murphy and Johnny Herrick vs. Johnny Jones.

Between Rounds

The card has been completed for the boxing show at Greenlee Field tomorrow night with the signing of Mickey O'Brien, of Braddock, and Petey Sherman, of the East End, and formerly of Connellsville, to box the six-round opening bout. Charley Baxter, North Side lightweight, meets Sammy Dorfman, of New York, in the 10-round windup, and Davy Grove boxes Tiger Joe Randall and Mose Butch opposes Charley Van Reeden in two other 10-rounders.

Johnny Cataline, local featherweight, meets Frankie Erne, of Williamsport, in the 10-round main bout of a show in his old home town, Charleston, W. Va., Thursday night of next week. He has not appeared there since last February, when he came here.

St. Peter's A. A., of the North Side, which has staged two amateur boxing shows before large crowds for the benefit of the needy, will put on another card next Tuesday night. Meanwhile it is planning to sponsor other forms of athletics, and a committee to handle them has been appointed by Art Rooney. The St. Peter's arena, in the schoolyard of St. Peter's School, is one of the finest in the district.

The Swetonics and Cuccinellos, Pietruszkas and Comoroskys, O'Douls and Heimachs this afternoon will wind up their midsummer fighting at Forbes Field with a single game. Their front-rank position increased by a victory while the Bruins were being mauled, the Pirates were two and one-half games beyond the Cubs this morning.

Steve Swetonic registered his tenth victory of the season yesterday as the Buccos landed a 5 to 3 triumph over the Dodgers. The Native Son worked a remarkably scientific contest in holding the erstwhile Robins to seven hits.

Heinie Meine will tackle the Flatbush crew this afternoon in the final fight. Heinie was deprived of a victory over the Giants last Thursday through some loose fielding. The Dutchman has been impressive in every start this year. Either Southpaw Bill Clark or Hollis Thurston will heckle the Pittsburghers.

COMMY MAY PLAY

Manager Gibson is a bit undecided as to his leftfield selection for today's fight. Adam Comorosky, playing in place of the injured Dave Barbee, looked like a star of the first magnitude in competition yesterday. Every time Commy swung at the rocket he hit a scorching drive somewhere and in a general way he cavorted after the fashion of his 1930 form. One of the fleetest outfielders in any league, Adam makes any manager think twice before benching him. Barbee is able to play if called upon but he may rest again.

Tommy Thevenow, Pie Traynor's understudy, shared the honors of yesterday with Swetonic. Steady Tommy carved out a pretty single in the fifth with two out and two on to score two Pirate tallies. One of these runs was the winning marker, and Thevenow added a safety counter in the ninth which he opened with a three-bagger to center. He scored on L. Waner's third hit after two were out. Tommy is due to remain at third for another day or two, as Traynor's finger is still badly swollen.

Southpaw Fred Heimach fought it ought with Swetonic. Heimach has given the Pirates much concern in the past two years, but the Oaklanders touched him for a dozen hits on this occasion.

SUHR'S HIT LUCKY

Gus Suhr dropped a lucky hit in center with two out and the bases jammed in the third to score two runs. Wilson's lucky double and O'Doul's single gave the Dodgers a run in the fourth. Thevenow's single scored two Pirates in the fifth, but the invaders became very dangerous in the Local Coaches Off For Olympic Games

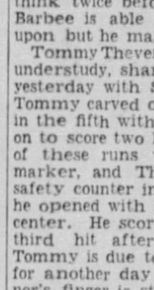
Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, July 12.—I don't know what held the Pittsburgh team back till the middle of the season unless their Pirate equipment was shipped to the wrong address But they are certainly swinging their cutlasses and marlin spikes now.



Nick Altrock

The first of the year the Pirates started so bad you could mistake them for the Brooklyns. And their Pirates' black flag looked like a sprig of mourning. Then, all of a sudden, while the world was looking at the Cubs and Boston, the Pirates got hold of a bottle of rum and yo-ho! They went running amuck.

Any one of eight teams may win the National League pennant, and the way the race is going now I wouldn't even be surprised if a dark horse like Chattanooga or Minneapolis copped the rag in the National loop.

CARR, EASTMAN CLASH AGAIN SATURDAY

STANFORD BEN CLASSED AS IRON MAN

By LAWSON ROBERTSON
Head Coach American Olympic Team.

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 12.—The games here on Friday and Saturday not only are the Olympic finals but also are the National A. A. U. championships. The winner of each event automatically becomes A. A. U. titleholder as well as qualifying for the Olympic finals.

The interest in the contests was increased tremendously during the past week and there are many enthusiasts here who predict that Saturday's crowd will go better than 45,000.

No one of the native sons feels other than that Eastman will run away and hide from Carr this time. They all regard Eastman as an absolutely unbeatable human at 400 meters, or 440 yards, and they feel that Carr's win was a fluke.

EASTMAN IRON MAN

Eastman amazes me. Since we have been here he has been running 50 and 100 yard dashes, racing the 220 again and again and working so hard that I wonder he doesn't break down. He seems to be the iron man of the track.

An easy way to start a vigorous argument is to offer the opinion that so-so will win the 100 meters. This event, together with the 400, will be the headline attractions on Saturday and with its mixture of Eastern, Southern, Middle-Western and Pacific coast stars among the eligibles, it is certain to provide a thrilling contest.

The coast doesn't see how anyone can crowd in ahead of Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, or Bob Kiesel, of California.

TOPPINO FAST

Emmett Toppino, of Loyola, is picked by the Southern delegation as a sure winner. Metcalfe, the Marquette flier, has had admirers—legions of them, if he has held the form shown in the National Collegiate A. A. meet he will make it a blazing race all the way.

And let us not forget Eddie Tolan and Hector Dyer. These boys are veterans. They have knowledge—plus speed. They know just how to fit themselves and when the gun is fired they will be calling on the experience gleaned in many duels of the past.

PANKA VICTOR OVER CORRI

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Heavyweight ring battles either are boisterous or they aren't anything. Popular prices packed in the fans in pre-depression fashion at Hickey Park, Millvale, last night, and four sets of the big fellows started off to be hilarious and wound up not being anything. We've seen more punching in heavyweight wrestling matches, and less wrestling, too.

George Panka, of Homestead, the best we have in these parts among the heavyweights, was in on top with one Pietro Corri, of New York, a barrel-chested, tattooed and very much muscle-bound and tin-eared gent, for 10 rounds, and the action was so tame that the referee, Red Robinson, had to warn 'em between rounds once to fight and the crowd got its kick out of booing the exhibition.

WHAT WE WAITED FOR

Panka did most of the work and tried to make a fight out of it, but he couldn't hit hard enough to hurt the rock-ribbed Austrian, and Corri couldn't do anything, and so it was a foregone conclusion that there was nothing to be done about the thing except to let it run its 10-round course, or go home and listen to the radio—and this was the bout that was rained out two nights last week and kept the principals on edge for five nights. It might have rained last night, too, but then the fans can't get all of the breaks.

Panka got the unanimous decision, spelled with two z's. To say that he deserved it would be rubbing it in. Perhaps, in the years to come, the boys will be talking about good old George and his ring career, and then some one will pop up and mention the fact that he saw George's fight with Pietro Corri, and that will be that. Panka certainly needs a lot more work to sharpen up his fighting edge, and he ought to get it, but not with any more Corris.

NOVAK STOPS POWELL

Two of the other battles didn't go the limit, which was something. The scheduled 10-round semi-final saw Frank Novak, of the North Side, win over Tiny Powell, Akron, on a knockout in the fourth round when Tiny dove through the ropes and made certain the referee would be able to count up to 10 before he got back. For two rounds, Novak, outweighed, 222¼ pounds to 189½, did nothing but cover up and weave and bob. In the third he bloodied the big boy's nose and knocked him through the ropes, but Powell miscalculated this time and got back by nine and had to go through the ceremony all over again in the next heat.

Jack Kearns, of Ripley, W. Va., 187½, bested big Leo Clements, of Jeannette, in the six-round second bout, in which both were down for eight in the third round and Kearns suffered a badly cut eye.

PIRATES INTRODUCED

Bill Gunther, a Negro novice, stumbled through a beating from Ray Jennings, also a Negro, of Homestead, until the referee stopped the opener following two knockdowns for counts of nine in the third round.

Chicago to Give Officials' Scores Round by Round

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP.)—So that there may be no "surprise" decisions, the Illinois State Athletic Commission is going to try letting the customer add up the score in boxing matches.

The experiment of announcing the scoring of the referee and two judges at the end of each round will be tried tonight at the West Side Boxing Club's list of four-round home-talent bouts. The announcer will pick up the cards of the officials at the end of each heat and tell the findings to the spectators, who may do their own addition.

MRS. VARE LEADS

EASTERN POINT, Conn., July 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, returning to Griswold Cup competition after an absence of six years, yesterday renewed her domination over the annual invitation tournament at the Shenecossett Country Club. Mrs. Vare toured the 18 holes in 79 to lead the qualifiers in the fourteenth annual tournament.

The East Liberty and South Hills American Legion junior baseball nines will clash on the Taylor Allderdice High School diamond this evening in a county championship race game. East Liberty and Swissvale are tied for first place in the county race, with South Hills and Curtisville deadlocked for second.

For the first time, each nine will be able to present its full strength in this evening's contest. The game will get under way at 6:30 o'clock.

BRUINS BUY STEWART

BOSTON, July 12.—(AP.)—The outright purchase of Nelson Stewart, star center of the Montreal Maroons, has been announced by President C. F. Adams, of the Boston Bruins hockey club. Adams refused to divulge the price, but said that more money was involved than in any other deal since the Bruins acquired Eddie Shore.

sixth when they scored a couple of markers on two singles, a double and a fly to the outfield.

Swetonic finished with unusual strength. Only nine batters faced him in the last three frames and he fanned four of te Dodgers in these rounds.

CHILLYSAUCE

Swetonic didn't seem to let himself out to the limit until the seventh. He then cut down nine Dodgers in a hurry to clinch the verdict. His swifter and curve were working beautifully.

Steve looks like one of the smartest hurlers since the days of Alex the Great. He keeps his curve ball far enough away from the hitters to rob them of their natural power and he continually outguesses the swinger.

The North Side favorite has lost but two games as he reached double figures in triumphs.

The Buccos have not arrived at the half-way post as yet. They are due to get to the middle distance Thursday as they take on the Braves in a double-header.

Manager Gibson yesterday receivemd a note from President John A. Heydler, of the National League. The epistle reminded Gibby of his strong talk to Umpire Magerkurth in Sunday's game in Brooklyn. A threat of a fine for a recurrence of the speech was contained in the note.

O'DOWD STOPS TORAN

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 12.—(AP.)—Bobby O'Dowd, of Cedar Rapids, today is holding a technical knockout victory over Johnny Toran, of Erie, Pa., scored here last night. Toran was unable to answer the bell for the fifth round.

CRACK DOUBLES DUOS SET TO CLASH TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Three speedy second-round frays comprise this afternoon's program of activity in the first annual Fox Chapel Golf Club invitation grass court doubles net tourney, in progress since last Saturday. Two former Western Pennsylvania champion teams—the Dr. Billy McElroy-Dr. Dave O'Laughlin outfit of the P. A. A. and the Paul Hicks-McCook Reed array of Edgewood—meet fast competition in the course of the session.

The Edgewoodmen, who copped the crown in 1930, encountering Hub Rinehart, Stanton Heights star, and George Lockhart, Pittsburgh Golf Club luminary, at 5 p. m. and the Winged Headers taking on Stanley Brown and H. H. McClintic, of the home organization, half an hour later.

Perhaps the most promising tussle of all, however, involves neither of the former title-holding combines. At 5:30 Tom Robinson and Joe Dilworth, veteran Fox Chapel pair, who know the turf court game about as thoroughly as any local duo, tangle with Frank Smith and Leonard Reed, cagy Edgewood coalition.

Four squads battled through yesterday's tilting to enter the quarter-final bracket. Dave Gilmore, Allegheny C. C. southpaw, and Frank White, of the University Club, carried off major honors with hard-earned 6-2, 14-12 verdict over the Stantonians, Jack Beatty and Bob Schmertz.

Sam Harbison and Charley Lockhart, crack Allegheny-P. G. C. combination from Princeton, started raggedly against Jack Evans and Malcolm Hay, of Harvard and Yale respectively, but the brilliant Tiger twain suddenly struck stride to reel off 6-4, 6-2 decision.

In the remaining frays, John and Billy O'Loughlin, P. A. A. mainstays, trimmed the Fox Chapelites, Ray Harrison and Early Gould, 6-3, 6-1, while Irvin Goodman and Frank Broida, winners of the Westmoreland County crown at the Greensburg Country Club last week, downed the newly formed University Club contingent of King Moore and Whitey McLain by identical count.

SEASON'S CORN CROP UNDER 3 BILLION

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP.)—American farms will pour forth 438,850,000 bushels more corn this year than last but 157,000,000 bushels less wheat.

That was the forecast made today on the basis of July 1 conditions by the Department of Agriculture.

Corn, the farmer's biggest crop, was expected to yield a harvest of 2,995,850,000 bushels, as compared with 2,557,000,000 last year. The forecasters figured winter wheat for 431,762,000 bushels, against 787,000,000 last year; durum wheat for 54,745,000 bushels, against 18,000,000 last year, and other spring wheat at 250,464,000, against 86,000,000. The probable production of all wheat was placed at 737,000,000 as compared with a harvest of 894,000,000 in 1931.

ACREAGE REDUCED

The department interpreted the crop reporting board's estimates as showing a marked readjustment of crop acreages to the low prices of cash crops; to the loss of 5,000,000 acres of winter wheat seeded last fall, and to the more favorable moisture conditions in the spring wheat states.

The total acreages of crops harvested this year is expected to be 1 or 2 per cent above that harvested last year, the department said, but about 1 per cent less than either 1929 or 1930. Present prospects point to a yield of crops not far from the average of recent years.

CANADIAN OUTLOOK

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 12.—(AP.)—The dominion's bureau of statistics reported that wheat crop prospects improved considerably during the month of June and are much better than they were a year ago.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—New wheat crop prospects in Australia are generally conceded to be the best in many years, E. C. Paxton, agricultural commissioner at Sydney reported to the Department of Agriculture.

CATTLE HIGHER AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 12.—Cattle replaced hogs as the active feature of the livestock markets here today, when the better grades of fed steers and yearlings sold at 10 to 15 cents advance in a strong market. Weighty beeves brought $3.60 and lightweights $3.40.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP.)—The Department of Agriculture today reported the number of young pigs on farms on June 1 was 50,093,000, a decrease of 3,758,000 compared with the same date of last year.

The decrease estimate was attributed to a drop of 3 per cent in the number of sows farrowed and of 4 per cent in the average number of pigs saved per litter.

Daily Oil Output Up 51,685 Barrels

TULSA, July 12.—Domestic crude oil production during the week ended July 9 averaged 2,150,199 barrels daily, or an increase of 51,685 barrels daily over the previous week, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

BIG BOND POOL CALLS FUNDS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—The $100,000,000 Morgan-sponsored American Securities Investing Corporation, which was formed several weeks ago for the purpose of investing in premier securities, today issued its first call for payment on the subscriptions of its members.

The call is for an initial payment of $10,000,000, or 10 per cent of the total subscribed by the member institutions.

Prior to today's call, it had been explained that the so-called bond pool would buy bonds against open credits, and would not call upon its participants to provide cash to cover these purchases until a substantial amount of bonds had been acquired.

No idea was given as to the amount of purchases yet made by the corporation. It was indicated that the amount might be either more or less than the amount of the current call.

Year's Cottonseed Crushings Expand

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP.)—Cottonseed crushed in the 11-month period, August 1 to June 30, was reported today by the Census Bureau to have totaled 5,234,155 tons, compared with 4,693,724 tons in the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills June 30 totaled 353,935 tons, compared with 32,921 tons a year ago.

British Employment Conditions Improve

LONDON, July 12.—Registered British unemployment on June 27 amounted to 2,747,343, against 2,841,306 on May 23 and 2,664,889 on June 29, 1931.

Forbes

Are Europeans Now Outwitting U. S. Investors?

By B. C. FORBES

B. C. Forbes

EUROPEANS, WITH their longer experience, have earned the reputation of being shrewder buyers than Americans. It is encouraging, therefore, to know that they have lately been buying American securities, both bonds and stocks. Also, they have been repurchasing European bonds which were originally sold in this country.

Do you remember how the financial pages of newspapers were crowded with offerings of new security issues when prices were skyhigh? You will recall the mania for forming "investment trusts" of every conceivable species, many of them sponsored by banking and investment interests enjoying public confidence.

Why, in the name of common sense, are not those who were so eager to induce the public to invest in stocks at fancy prices today making not the slightest attempt to encourage people to buy at the bargain prices now ruling?

"The public is not in a buying mood," is the answer commonly given when you ask that question. If half the effort were made now which was made in 1929 to stimulate buying, the response probably would astonish those who conclude that nobody has any money left for investment.

THE TRUTH is that a great many people, including those of moderate means, have accumulated savings which they intend to put into bonds and stocks, but are waiting until they feel assured that bottom quotations have been reached. This idle money will not be brought forth until prices have advanced substantially, unless, meanwhile, the right kind of advertising be done by investment houses.

Just as surely as it was a disservice to coax investors into the crazy 1929 market, so would it prove a genuine service to induce investors to take advantage of unprecedentedly low prices.

But how much sales effort is being exercised at this moment? Practically none. Apparently those who had absolute faith in the merits of American corporation securities in 1928-29, have absolutely no faith in the securities of these same corporations in 1932, when ten shares can be acquired for the 1929 cost of one share.

MANY BONDS in standard railway systems, as well as seasoned industrial enterprises, can be bought today for around 50 cent on the dollar. Yet bonds and stocks, now that they are palpable bargains, apparently have no friends left among those who represented them as highly desirable bargains at anywhere from twice to 10 or 15 times their current quotations.

Many who bought dear have had to sell cheap. Unless all precedent fails, those who now buy cheap will be able to sell dear by and by.

It is time prevailing childishness, blindness, cowardice gave place to more truly characteristic American qualities. The indications are that Europeans will be found to have availed themselves much more freely than Americans of rock-bottom security prices.

WHY NOT START now some of the ambitious business-getting plans which are scheduled for launching in September and October?

It is something to know that there is a growing disposition to expect recovery, not further retrogression, in the very near future.

DON'T BE SLOWED DOWN BY STALE GAS

YOU PAY FOR POWER . . . GET IT!

Only FRESH gas gives you all the power you pay for. Why? Because as gas gets staler, it gets weaker. Loses volatile "easy starting" elements. Falls victim to a chemical change—and gets sluggish and feeble.

Another thing. The staler the gas, the stickier it is. And the more apt it is to knock.

That's why Gulf is pleased to announce a system that assures you of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline. Two things make this possible . . .

First, Gulf refines out of its fine gasoline certain complex elements—the very elements that cause rapid deterioration.

Second, Gulf takes pains to speed this FRESH gas to you in a hurry, before it can get stale.

Huge Gulf refineries are located in many parts of the country—so that every Gulf station is close to a source of FRESH gas. A vast fleet of tank trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

get THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE—it's fresh

STOCKS RESUME CLIMB AFTER REACTION

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—The securities markets were vaguely inclined toward higher prices today.

After a firm opening, the share market reacted a little in the morning, in sympathy with wheat, but came up again toward midday, as bonds maintained a fair undertone, despite a degree of irregularity.

The morning selling was concentrated in the same handful of issues that have recently been soggy, notably American Telephone, Coca Cola, Case and Allied Chemical, which declined temporarily a point or more. Auburn, yesterday's high flier, gave up a substantial part of its gain. By early afternoon, however, fractional net gains appeared in such issues as United States Steel, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit, General Foods, Borden, Northern Pacific, Great Northern and others. Sugars were firm, Central Aguirre and American Sugar rising a point. United Aircraft gained as much while the preferred jumped 6. In the packing stocks, Armour of Delaware and Gobel were up about a point. The shoe stocks also were higher, Brown gaining nearly 2 points, and International about half as much.

The government wheat crop report as of July 1, showing an unexpectedly large gain in the spring crop, carried that staple off to new lows for the season at the opening of the Chicago Pit, with a temporarily adverse effect upon shares, but as the stock market session wore on, some of the railroad stocks, particularly the Northwestern issues, firmed up, presumably reflecting the conclusion that the big crop should result in improved traffic during the last half of the year.

The weekly consolidated condition statement for Federal Reserve member banks in 101 leading cities showed further sharp contraction in outstanding bank credit, loans and investment shrinking $222,000,000, but the largest item in this decline was a reduction of $113,000,000 in loans on securities. This liquidation of loans must have been accomplished with rare skill, for it occurred in a period in which both the bond and stocks averages worked irregularly higher, in quiet trading. While considerable necessitous selling has had to come into the markets recently, it has been so handled as to avoid depressing the averages into new low ground.

Commodities continue to attract keen attention in Wall street. Further strength of sugars and packing stocks was a further reflection of the recent improvement in those staples. Many observers still find the improvement in commodities too scattering to be conclusive. In hogs, furthermore, it may be partly due to seasonal influence. Nevertheless, it was noted that Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, in stressing signs of improvement before the House Rules Committee, pointed particularly to the action of commodities.

Columbia Gas Gets Staunton Territory

The West Virginia Gas Distributing Company has acquired the plants and distributing facilities of companies serving gas to Staunton and Waynesboro, Va. The organization is a subsidiary of the Seaboard Company, which is controlled 70 per cent by Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation and 30 per cent by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Natural gas will be supplied to the two communities from the pipe line recently completed by Columbia and Standard Oil through this territory.

Central's June Loss Slightly Under May

NEW YORK, July 12.—Wall street reports say that the New York Central Lines had a deficit of about $3,000,000, after charges, in June. The May net loss was $3,963,796 and it is indicated that loss for the first half year approximated $11,000,000.

Week's Auto Output Shows 20% Decline

NEW YORK, July 12.—Automobile production in the United States during the week ended July 9 totaled 40,631 cars and trucks compared with 50,958 in preceding week and 61,833 in 1931 week, according to Cram's Automotive reports.

Wall Street Sees Signs Of Accumulation for The Long Pull

In usually well informed quarters belief is growing that important accumulation, presumably for the long pull, is beginning to manifest itself in some of the old-line industrial favorites. Important interests long active on the bear side of the market, who have adhered to a sideline postion since the Senate investigation of the marekt got under way, are reputed to have been active in picking up stocks quietly over the last week or so. Demand from this source, so report has it, has been making itself felt principally in stocks like General Electric, Steel and General Motors, leaders respectively in the electrical equipment and automobile industries.

The speculative world having been educated in recent years to keep a close eye on the averages, naturally the action of most such compilations has been disappointing of late. But this is because such birds-eye pictures are drawn on the action of stocks which have been slow in completing their deflation marketwise. The fact remains, however, that the general market has been showing good resistance and relative freedom from pressure of forced sales. The behavior of the main body of stocks in face of persistent selling in stocks like American Telephone, Coco Cola, and Union Pacific is having a bolstering effect on sentiment.

Renewed hope that Congress will be able to wind up its affairs and bring the present session to a close possibly by the end of the week provided the basis for the improved tone marketwise yesterday. Betterment in stocks coincided with reports from Washington indicating a trend in that direction, but traders previously had been informed, of course, of the availibility of a new relief bill to be introduced with the veto of the measure which has aroused administration opposition. The new bill, it is believed, has been so drawn as to make it satisfactory to White House demands and assure its signing without delay. Wall street naturally is disposed to ascribe apathy prevalent in the market to the presence of Congress on the scene long after the date tentatively set for adjournment.

The speculative fraternity finds itself irritated by the extremely narrow limits of the price movement, which has ruled for the last seven weeks. Traders of the active school are willing, of course, to take their chances in a market which affords them opportunity for exercising their judgment. But for nearly two months the list, with the exception of a few active issues, has, as measured by recognized averages, ruled in virtually a five-point range. And, what is more trying to the nerves of traders, this period has been marked by constant tapering off in the volume until, judged by rather recent conditions, trading has come virtually to a standstill. Though the market is now entering its eighth week of extremely narrow movement, the conservative element would be satisfied to see it hold within this range for another month or so for the evidence it would provide of the drying up of liquidation.

Moody's says that of the 600 companies included in its index of dividends, 40 reduced their common dividends and 18 omitted them during the past month. The index declined to $1.36 a share at the end of June as compared with $1.45 on May 31, $1.96 on December 31, 1931, and the peak level of $3.06 on March 31, 1930. Since the end of 1931 the index has been declining at an average rate of 10 cents a month.

The Commerce Department reports returns covering exports of industrial machinery from the United States during the last few months have been unusually constant. The monthly average for 1932 is slightly above the $5,000,000 mark, which seems to make the limitation point in connection with the amount of machinery which can be absorbed by foreign markets at the present time. Although fluctuations occur from month to month in the totals for the various classifications included in this survey, gains or losses in one item or groups of items were invariably offset by changes in another.

Sugar Duty Change Awaits Cost Survey

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP.)—Recommendations for changes in the refined sugar import duty will not be made by the Tariff Commission until it has finished its complete sugar investigation, including raw sugar, sugar cane and beet sugar costs.

Preliminary tabulations of domestic and Cuban refining costs, the commission said today, show that the difference is not such as to justify specifying either an increase or a decrease.

RUSSIA BUYING LESS IN U. S.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Amtorg Trading Corporation, commercial agent for the Russian Soviet Union, reports that its purchases in the United States in the first half of 1932 totaled $8,549,000, against $40,593,000 over the same period of 1931, a decline of 86 per cent. The corporation said the shrinkage was due partly to lack of credit facilities here comparable to those available in Europe. Soviet buying in Germany increased and new long-term credits in England, it was said, had stimulated Russian purchases there in the last few months.

Lone Star Gas Profit Equal to Level Of Last Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

LONE STAR GAS Company in June showed earnings as great as, or greater, than in the corresponding month of last year, according to preliminary estimates compiled by officials of the company. In the first five months of 1932 earnings were close to those of the corresponding period of 1931. The corporation held its ground so far as profits were concerned in the first half of the year.

The corporation does not make a practice of reporting earnings at regular periods except in its annual statements, so that direct comparison with previous periods is not available. But for the full year of 1931 net profit was $4,885,124, after deducting depreciation, depletion interest and discount. After making further deductions to provide for preferred dividends of the company and its subsidiaries, net profit was equivalent to 75 cents a share on 5,451,043 shares of common stock. The company appears to be currently earning at this rate.

Earnings in 1931 were lower than those of 1930 when net was $6,462,585, or $1.29 a share, but they represented a fairly high degree of resistance to depression influences.

Current Dividend Rate Is Covered

THE ORGANIZATION currently appears to be covering its dividend rate on the common stock, which is on a 64-cent annual basis. Recently the company has been paying its dividends on the common in a newly-created class of 6 per cent convertible preference stock, convertible into common until June 30, 1937, at the rate of seven shares of common for each preferred share.

Yesterday Lone Star common closed on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange at 3½, so that it is currently selling at about 4.6 times its depression earnings.

Cash Improved By New Policy

THE NEW DIVIDEND policy of making common payments in preference stock instead of cash has resulted in material improvement in working capital as well as in a reduction in funded debt.

In the latter part of May officials declared that bonded debt had been reduced $780,000 since January 1. Bank loans were cut down $1,325,000 during the same period, leaving $5,077,000 owing to banks. At the same time cash was increased about $400,000 to $1,963,000.

Lone Star is a producing, transporting and distributing company for natural gas serving Fort Worth, Dallas and 270 other communities in Texas and Oklahoma. Its history has been marked by steady expansion in territory covered. Until a short time ago its earnings showed corresponding gains, but the low rate of current industrial activity has been a major factor in reducing earnings. The number of industrial customers has continued to increase, but the restricted extent of their needs has kept recent development from being reflected in earnings. A recovery of business should be accompanied by a sharp rally in Lone Star's profits.

CHIEFS WATCH INVENTORIES CAREFULLY

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Recent advances in selected commodity prices emphasize the hazard of unqualified pessimism and inertia at a time when deflation has already gone to absurd extremes.

In the circumstances, sensible executives are alive to the need of being vigilant to make sure that at least near-term requirements for raw materials have been provided for.

While there was an epidemic of bank failures in the United States, the Canadian banks under difficult economic conditions have stood up. C. S. Tompkins, inspector-general of banks at Ottawa, in a message to this column, commented:

Merryle Rukeyser

"While I hold a very high general opinion of our banking system, I have always felt reluctant to draw comparisons between our system and that of other countries."

Instead of copying the Canadian or the British system wholesale, Senator Carter Glass, in drawing up his Bank Reform bill now pending in the Senate, has sought to employ such of the elements of safety in foreign systems as he thinks are suitable under American conditions. Though the issue of bank reform has been temporarily sidetracked, it is bound to press for solution before the economic readjustment has been completed.

Leaders must serve or step out and make room for some one else. The need is for men who can adapt their action to prevailing conditions.

A. P. Giannini, the California fruit growers, who built up a large banking system, has again demonstrated the power of his personality on numerous followers, since his return to active management in February. His bank reports a gain of $51,600,000 in deposits, with 130,000 depositors added. Other bankers have sometimes wondered about Mr. Giannini's orthodoxy, but in a crisis he has at least demonstrated anew his capacity to inspire confidence among bank customers. Bankers of the no, no school might well analyze this new development in mass psychology in banking.

In bear market periods, security buyers and sellers are inappreciative of managerial performance. Even companies which buck the trend in earnings cannot resist the tendency toward a shrinkage in market value of their shares. It would be interesting to measure the psychological effect on the minds of directors of a shrinkage in stock prices on their decisions as to dividends.

The Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company has decided to curtail its dividend and continue its advertising campaign on a basis "that will keep the position of the company in the industry and the reputation of its advertised brands in the minds of the consuming public.'

Thus the company will satisfy its joint objective to be aggressive in promoting demand for its product and to be "liquid" at the same time.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Richfield Oil Company of California reports for five months ended May 31 earnings of $1,677,840, after all operating charges, inclusive of interest on receivers indebtedness, but before depreciation and depletion. Operating profit after allowance for like charges, but before depreciation and depletion for the period of receivership, from January 15, 1931, to May 31, 1932, totaled $4,471,812.

Crown Willamette Paper Company reported consolidated net profit of $2,233,926 for the year ended April 30, 1932, an increase of $340,296 over the preceding year's net of $1,893,630. The consolidated report included earnings of Pacific Mills, Ltd., after deducting the proportionate interest of minority stockholders. Crown Willamette is a division of the Crown Zellerback Corporation.

Attorney Is Astonished When Sarah Questions Him About Lynn

CHAPTER XXIX.

"Can't you tell me?" urged Dwight, wondering in his turn. He smiled wryly in the darkness. Young Shepard, again? Of course, young Shepard! Would he have to listen to her confidences, her confession that hope deferred maketh the heart sick? Well, he'd listen, then.

"I shouldn't," she admitted slowly.

Why not tell him, in part? She trusted him; he had told her that she might. Her impulse to seek advice, to find help, her relaxed feeling of physical well-being, all contrived to blind her to her indiscretion.

"It isn't my secret," she admitted, hesitating. "I can't mention names or anything. You understand?"

He was becoming more and more puzzled. "Quite. We'll consider it—hypothetically," he agreed.

How young she was, how incredibly young! How more than incredibly sweet! He fought down the impulse to rise, to sweep her into his arms, to kiss the hesitating questions from her desired lips; the impulse to say, "Forget it all, can't you? Let us wait. Love me tonight. Tonight never comes again."

He went pale with the force of his emotion. He snapped open his cigaret case and lighted a cigaret with hands none too steady. The small spurt of the lighter's blue-yellow flame showed her face against the background of darkness, grave, familiar, to be trusted. She drew a deep breath and began her explanations by a series of questions.

If an employe of a large and influential organization had access to advance, private information, had this person any right to use this knowledge for his own gain? She wanted to know.

EXPLAINS TO HIM

Dwight was immeasurably astonished. He had thought to hear a twice-told tale of love and frustration. Instead, it seemed, he was being interrogated on the subject of business ethics!

He answered cautiously, "Could you explain a little more fully without actually betraying confidences?"

Well, then, it all had to do with a merger. The friend she mentioned was in a position to know that a merger was being planned. Nothing that this particular person could do alone would make any difference, of course. But he had been advised by an acquaintance to take advantage of the information.

"I don't know just what the plans are," she acknowledged miserably. "But I think it amounts to selling the information at just the right time to influential people."

Dwight pondered the question in silence. Shepard, of course, with his access to the bank's affairs. Lynn would hardly concern herself with anyone save Tom Shepard. The business, of course, was the bank's. Upon what other business would Shepard have advance information?

What especially interested Dwight was the "acquaintance." Who could it be? Lynn herself? Yes, it might be Lynn—afraid, after she had made her suggestion to Tom.

DWIGHT GIVES ADVICE

He replied slowly: "I don't know enough about it, Lynn. It's probably legitimate enough; that is, in the sense of being within the law. Ethically, it's another matter. I shouldn't worry about it if I were you."

"But I do worry," she said, taken off her guard by his even, low tone, his unastonished acceptance of the situation and her increasing sense of his interest, his willingness to help. "You see, he promised me that he wouldn't—" She stopped.

Dwight could hear her little gasp, and then the sound of the swing being set into motion again; he kept his eyes turned from the pale blur of her face and listened intently.

"I'm being very silly and secret," Lynn apologized. "I cant help it. But if you knew that someone you cared for was contemplating such a step? Oh, I can't think it's honest!" she cried.

Then it wasn't Lynn; she didn't approve.

Dwight said cheerfully, "All's fair in love and business." He was to remember that statement, later. "You've told me that you have your friend's promise. Perhaps he'll keep it. Look here, Lynn, my advice to you is to forget this and say nothing to anyone. If—well, no matter how things turn out, you won't be helping your friend materially, will you, by talking about it?"

"I haven't talked," she defended herself quickly; "except, of course, to you."

That was sweet; he said gently: "Thank you, my dear. I won't ask you anything further except to say that it's Tom, is it not? I know you wouldn't be troubled over anyone else."

She said yes, it was Tom.

"Then he'll do what you want him to," Dwight assured her. "He'd be insane not to."

"I couldn't bear to have him disloyal; to have his integrity threatened," she explained. "I told him that if—if he did this I'd never speak to him again."

"Then he won't do it," Dwight comforted her. "Forget it. I'll forget it, too. There! Look at that moon and see if you can keep your mind on troublesome hypothetical questions."

She turned and looked. It was sheer beauty. The pale, diffused light was on her face. Dwight sunk his hands in his pockets. If I take her in my arms! he thought. But he could not, he must not; not yet; it was too soon.

Sunday was a repetition of Saturday. An hour of swimming, tennis, a drive and luncheon at a country club, people for tea and more people for dinner, and then one episode of importance.

During the day Dwight found himself speculating upon what Lynn had or had not told him. What on earth? A merger? But there had been no rumor of it in banking circles. Still, if there were to be a big merger?

He owned some Seacoast stock; not very much. Nor could he buy more outright, on the off chance. He was deeply in debt. If this vague thing proved concrete, and he were in on the ground floor?

But he would have to make sure. To whom could he go? Norton was out of the question; Shepard, too, of course. Who, then, was Shepard's "friend?"

He might ask Sarah—cleverly. As it happened she asked him something first.

LYNN HURTS ANKLE

He had taken them all through the house, through his own suite; its bedroom and bath, its small library adjoining. Shown them, too, the passage leading from the back stairs. "How convenient!" Millie had said, and giggled. After dinner that Sunday he had walked with his guests in the gardens. It was a hot, still night.

"I had them plant a lot of white," he explained. "A garden by moonlight is so blurred that white flowers alone give it character."

He dropped a little behind the others. The hedge was high; it grew in ordered circles. Lynn, walking beside him, turned her ankle, and cried out.

He said anxiously, "What is it?"

"My ankle. It's all right now."

The others had reached the end of the hedge, had turned and were coming back on the other side toward the water.

"Take my arm," said Dwight. "Can you manage to get back to the house?"

She could manage. She set her foot gingerly on the path and clung to him for an instant. They were quite alone in the moonlight world of the garden. Separated from them by the hedge, unseen, the others walked and laughed. But Sarah, missing her host. Missing Lynn, paused a moment, anxious.

Dwight's arm was around Lynn. For the space of a heartbeat he held her close. He said, softly and clearly, "Oh, my dear. You very sweet person."

And Sarah heard.

"It's all right now," she protested.

It was all right. Right enough to dance later with Dwight, with Travis, with Millie's weary husband. It was late when they said good night and went to bed. Sarah and Lynn must make an early start in the morning; Dwight was driving them and Travis to New York.

Late to bed and early to rise. But some time between retiring and rising, Sarah, after Lynn slept, crept down the hall to the back stairs and put her feet cautiously upon them, listening to the creaking which seemed so loud—as loud as the beating of her heart.

Down the passage to Dwight's door. She paused there, her heart beating violently as she knocked.

"Come in," said Dwight, wondering what Wilkins wanted. Or could it be Millie? No, perish the thought. She wasn't that much of a fool!

Dwight's room opened on a terrace of brick, completing this small wing. He was standing at the French windows in his pajamas, smoking. Sarah came into the room. Her eyes were enormous, and her plain and pleasant face was tragic; it was old. And there was in it emotions that he had not seen for many years—from her. A bitter jealousy; a warning; a fear; a question.

"Why, Sarah," he said, startled out of all poise. "Why, Sarah!"

She said harshly, insistently, "Lynn, I had to ask you about Lynn. Are you in love with her, David? And if you are, what are you going to do about it?"

The French windows stood open. Outside, a red moon was falling swiftly through starry space. Soon it would be dark and hushed, before the pale prelude to the dawn. The room was scented with tobacco smoke, with the odor of leather, with the frail and tenuous persistence of roses. And it was so still that Sarah could hear the soft enchanted murmur of water on the beach, the stifled sighing of a vagrant wind.

Synopsis

Lynn Harding, young and pretty clerk in the Sea Coast Bank and Trust Company, loves Tom Shepard, secretary to one of the bank's vice presidents. They cannot marry on Tom's salary, so Lynn plans to hold her position. She learns, however, that the bank does not want married women. She seeks the aid of David Dwight, prominent lawyer, whom she met through Sarah Dennet, her chief at the bank. Dwight had been Sarah's sweetheart years before, but gave her up to marry wealth. David, attracted by Lynn, offers her a position, but due to Tom's objection, Lynn rejects it. Later, Tom informs Lynn he has an opportunity to become rich by taking advantage of secret information relative to the bank's merger and buying stock. Lynn disapproves on the ground that it is dishonest and Tom reluctantly promises not to speculate. Shortly after, Tom is offered a position at a radio station. Anxious to tell Lynn, he asks if he might call only to learn that she is going away for the week-end with Sarah. Lynn neglects to mention that Dwight will be their host. She visits his place. Lynn, however, worried about Tom, is preoccupied.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Every member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club who attended the meetings Saturday received final instructions about the picnic to be held at Kennywood Park Thursday.

Each member also received the final strip of four tickets good on the rides and amusement devices and the tickets which are to be used on the street cars. As an added surprise the youngsters were given refreshment tickets good for "pop" and 'hot dogs."

MEET EARLY

The members are requested to meet at their theaters Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Street cars will leave from the front of each theater promptly at 10 a. m. So, boys and girls, if you don't want to be left, and we know that each member has been waiting for this day of days, be at the theater on time. You will be met by the manager of the theater and his staff, and the little folks will be well taken care of. Extra police will be on duty at the theaters and at Kennywood Park to care for the chidren.

District Manager John H. Harris, talking of the picnic, said:

"I have instructed everyone in our organization to watch out and care for the youngsters, and have also told them that they are to see that every boy and girl who attends the Junior Komic Club picnic has a good time."

BIG DAY PROMISED

So "kiddies" be sure to go to bed early tomorrow night so that you can get up early Thursday morning and get the work you do for mother out of the way and then you'll have the rest of the day for a grand and glorious time.

The members of the Memorial McKeesport chapter were entertained by a group of boys and girls from Port Vue. They offered "Alice in Wonderland." Those taking part were: Mildred Gardner, Merle Smith, Marjorie Jane Wiberg, Jean Myers, Edward Edge, Wilma Markus, Billy Carlson, Charles Beskid, Virginia Cartwright, Elwood Taylor, Adolph Dominic, Charles Betters, Joseph Istvannick, Albert Smith, Vincent Karr, Joseph Yadack, Emil Kostkas, Edward Smith, Robert Taylor, Valeria Orszulak, Mary Wills, Betty Carlson, Mary Loyise Kahl, June Kish, Helen Gradowski, Marion Billy, Dorothy Crossland, Charlotte Kish, Virginia Macko, Margaret Soltez and Jane Davis.

DOLL SHOW

Before the stage show the girl members of the Junior Komic Club held a doll contest. More than 50 little girls displayed their "dollies."

Next week the children are going to stage a street parade, the "old man" and "old lady" parade, in their mothers' and dads' old clothes, with prizes for the funniest costume.

If you are not a member of the Sun - Telegraph - Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you.

ADVICE TO THE 'BONUS ARMY'

Reluctantly This Newspaper Suggests That Service Men in Washington Return to Their Homes and Work There Through Public Opinion for the Justice That the Washington Government Has Refused Them.

Thousands of ex-service men have gathered in Washington to demand that the Government consider their condition, lack of work and the destitution of their families.

Their hope was first that the Government would supply them with adequate employment, having taken them away from their homes and sent them abroad at a time when work at high wages was plentiful.

Failing that, their expectation was that the Government which had pledged them a bonus in a few years would give them that bonus now in view of the emergency and their great necessity.

Neither hope, to the disgrace of this Government, has been realized.

The men have been allowed to wait and hope in vain; the beneficent sum of six cents per day being spent to feed those that were absolutely destitute.

* * *

This picture, reproduced from the Illustrated London News, shows an actual photograph of our former soldiers, camping near the Government that promised so much when they went away to the war.

It must amuse the British to see, living in conditions such as these, our men that were sent abroad "to make the world safe for democracy" and to make themselves generally useful in Europe.

The war certainly did not make the world safe for our own soldiers, now without work or money, while ten billions of our American dollars help to build up employment and renewed prosperity abroad.

* * *

The people of this country and their Government should be filled with shame, and the British are doubtless amused and amazed to see soldiers of the United States brought back from the trenches of the big war to live under such conditions as these, in America's economic war.

It is not conceivable that the richest nation in the world would allow such conditions to continue, callously forgetful of all the promises made to the soldiers when they went abroad. Yet such is the fact, and it is the duty of this newspaper, most regretfully, to tell the soldiers gathered in Washington that for the time being their cause is HOPELESS there.

There will be no bonus legislation this year, useless to hope for it, useless to wait for it.

* * *

However, the effort made by the soldiers, traveling from their homes to Washington under painful conditions, has not been wasted.

They have compelled attention, and although their demands have been ignored, in the face of "greater needs" of great corporations, the effect on public opinion has been produced. The people will not soon forget, and soldiers will never forget that a nation within a few weeks has handed two thousand million dollars to corporations in trouble and could find nothing more than six cents a day to spend on its own soldiers.

* * *

The next time international high finance comes around asking three million young Americans to drop their work, leave their homes, abandon opportunity for profit that war brings and go abroad that high finance will get this surprising answer, "You go and make the world safe for democracy this time. You got your rakeoff on all the foreign lending and borrowing last time. We shall stay home while you go to Europe."

* * *

The effort of the soldiers, marching on Washington, has NOT been wasted, although their hopes have been disappointed by official indifference and because of the "greater claim" that corporations ably represented have established on public funds.

But there is nothing to be gained by further self-sacrifice or a longer stay in Washington.

More can be done by the soldier at home, in the coming elections, by influencing public opinion, each in his own neighborhood and by simple statement of FACTS.

The Washington army of ten or fifteen thousand men should be changed into an army of separate talkers, each telling neighbors far and near, in his own way, about the display of gratitude the soldiers of the great war encountered when they called upon their Government in Washington.

* * *

The Government has provided money to pay the return trip home, and this newspaper urges soldiers to return and devote the time between now and Election Day to working for a better government, more interested in men sent to war than in international finance that makes its profit out of war.

The inhabitants of Washington and the District of Columbia do not VOTE, there is nothing to be gained by soldiers remaining there, and every one of them can be of use to his country, talking to citizens in his own neighborhood. Especially useful will be the men, of whom there are thousands, able to say truly "When they sent me to war I had a roof over my head. I have lost it now, and the Government that promised so much is too busy to care."

Opportunity for Economy

Abolition of Fee Office of Delinquent Tax Collector Would Mean More Money in Public Treasury.

A Legislature dedicated to economy should show no hesitation at all about abolishing the fee office of delinquent tax collector in Allegheny County. That opportunity is offered through a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator William D. Mansfield, and supported by Senator Frank J. Harris, putting the tax collector on salary and turning the swollen fees of the office into the public treasury.

The hand of professional politics already has shown in opposition to the measure. Senator James J. Coyne, political affiliate of County Treasurer Robert S. Cain, who appoints the delinquent tax collector, tried in the Senate to bury the bill in committee. He was defeated because a sufficient number of Senators came to the aid of Mansfield and Harris to force a hearing on the subject today in Harrisburg.

Opportunity was afforded interested Allegheny Countians to appear and state their objections to the present system, whereby an exorbitant amount of tax money goes into the hands of politicians for a function which should be performed for a comparatively small salary. In these days of hard-found tax money it is unreasonable that any public official should draw in fees from taxes the sums which heretofore have gone into the pocket of the tax collector, presumably shared with his political associates.

Senator Coyne is on record for abolition of the delinquent tax collector's fees through his sponsorship of the Metropolitan charter bill, which eliminates the office. What he is willing to do through that bill later he should be ready now to do through the Mansfield bill, forgetting that the fat office is in the hands of his political cronies.

Help Abolish 'Lame Duck'

The Pennsylvania Legislature Should Approve the Norris Amendment Without Delay.

The special session of the Legislature should move promptly to approve the Norris "lame duck" amendment to the federal constitution. A resolution to this effect has been introduced at Harrisburg.

Should the Norris amendment be approved by three-fourths of the states before October 15 of this year its terms will be applicable next January. That would mean that Congressmen elected in November would not have to wait 13 months to take their seats and begin functioning along the lines of the mandates laid upon them by their constituents.

The Norris amendment makes government more responsive to the public will, and should be approved at once by Pennsylvania, following the lead of other state Legislatures which already have considered the subject.

Business Is Business

Real Estate Board Charges Operation Cost of North Side Market Is High Compared to Private Expense.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board is of the opinion that the North Side Market is costing the city too much for operation. This year's budget sets aside $42,483 for that purpose. Last year's revenue was $44,902 in rentals. On the surface that does not indicate a loss, and, of course, the city is not expected to take a profit from such sources, the supposition being that the benefits of municipal markets, if any, descend upon the patrons.

Yet, naturally, in city administration, there will be looked for some degree of efficiency in operation. Anything of that nature is not indicated in the additional charge of the Real Estate Board that 13 persons are employed to operate the North Side Market, whereas comparatively few are needed at the Diamond Market, now under control of the tenants, as an association, under a general lease from the city, whereby a former annual loss to the city has been eliminated.

Business is business even in city affairs.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 12.—"Fan mail," according to best historians, was inspired by R. F. Outcault with his comic series called "The Yellow Kid," in 1897. So clever was he in baiting the public that letters of praise descended by the bagload. He was one comic artist who died a millionaire.

On the heels of his "Yellow Kid" success, he gave the newspapers "Buster Brown," even a greater money-maker. In the wake of this popularity came a flood of Buster Brown shoes, hats, suits, candies and products numbering 100. A Buster Brown musical show toured for three years.

Outcault used to produce some of his letters. This gave his readers the idea to express their sentiments and see their names in print. Today fan mail has been the greatest single factor in ballooning postal receipts. In opulent days, 20,000 daily reached Hollywood.

As Outcault fathered fan mail, Bill Nye launched newspaper syndication. He syndicated his humor himself, the New York World being the first paper to buy it. Later M. Quad started his "Mr. and Mrs. Bowser." Syndication was then taken up on a large scale by S. S. McClure.

About this time Roy McCardell began a quixotic syndication called "Old Doctor Lemonsys' Health Department." It burlesqued quacks and patent medicines. They were strong in those days and scotched such travesties and McCardell turned to "The Jarr Family," still going via radio and boiler plate.

* * *

A figure of early days on Park Row was Pomeroy Burton, who began as a compositor in Brooklyn and joined the World as a reporter. When Alfred Harmsworth, later Lord Northcliffe, came to New York on a visit, Burton interviewed him and spent his entire savings on a dinner to Harmsworth at Dear Old Del's. P. S. He got the job. Not only that, he became a British subject and was knighted. Today he is, save for Northcliffe's brother, Lord Rothmere, the biggest stockholder in the Northcliffe publications. He has a winter place on the Riviera and a summer castle on the Brittany coast. Northcliffe also plucked from Park Row Alex Kenneally and made him editor of the tabloid, Mirror. Kenneally, in turn, made it the biggest circulation success in the British empire.

* * *

Paul West was an erratic genius of that era, the most versatile of the editorial rooms. A composer, writer and artist, he spent leisure hours faking outlandish stamps to bewilder collectors. He had several plays running simultaneously on Broadway, wrote a sheaf of musical comedy tunes and a dozen books. With the same impulsiveness that motivated his too brief career, he ended it all by a leap into the Seine one morning as dawn was pinking Paris skies. His farewell note reading: "Living has been fun but a bit monotonous."

* * *

The novelist, Zona Gale, started the long literary up-grade as a sob sister on Park Row, but never liked the work and soon gave it up. Her successor was Nixola Greely-Smith. Horace Greely's grand-daughter, whose early demise ended a brilliant journalistic career.

Seven a. m. risers along the southern end of Riverside Drive behold a white-haired gentleman, of sturdy build, enjoying a brisk walk in the silken bloom of early morning. He is Charles M. Schwab who, hatless, slips out of his castle for a 15-minute constitutional before breakfast. Incidentally, he's a fried-mush boy.

* * *

Memory of the architect, Stanford White, pistoled some 20 years ago by Thaw, has not entirely submerged in scandal headlines that marked his inglorious exit. A select coterie of men—names looming importantly in "Who's Who" and the Social Register—gather once a year to drink a silent toast. But all, I am told, are "welchers" who went into hiding when White's name was besmirched. Frederick Collins is now polishing off White's biography, to be called "Glamorous Sinners."

This afternoon I bobbed along in that swift crosstown stream sweeping to numerous over-passengered 5:15's. At both Fifth and Madison avenues I tried to swing northward, but lights were against me. So I was carried along to Vanderbilt avenue. But, old tide-rider that I am, I tricked them by receding into a drug store and fooling around. Genius geniusing. Otherwise I might be clear out to Larchmont right this minute.

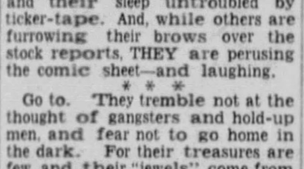
Neither shall they strain their pocketbooks to keep up with the Joneses, nor squander their shekels upon glad rags or their evenings in noisome night clubs and whoopee palaces.

* * *

But a famous man dwelleth all the days of his life as a gold fish in a glass bowl; and all his spots are plain to the eyes of the multitude.



Happy are the simple-minded—yea, even the commonplace and the dumb.

* * *

For, they are not tempted to become columnists! Neither do they yearn to become playwrights! Thus may they enjoy their friends, their dreams, their laughter and their love affairs, without the temptation to turn them into "copy."

* * *

* * *

For they sigh not after sex-appeal and yearn not after Hollywood. Neither do they dwell in the fear of middle-age and avoirdupois. Nor torment their spirits with banting and dieting. Nor torture the flesh in the struggle to acquire a sun-tan.

* * *

Happy are the unromantic!

* * *

For they seek not after the impossible and sigh not after new thrills. They have no illusions to be shattered and are not deceived by false alarms. Behold they can walk in the moonlight without danger, make love without fear of heartaches, and marry without fear of a headache.

A LESSON

By Winifred Black

A seagull in the chicken yard—a wild, roving, care-free, mind-your-own-business, take-it-or-leave-it, rain-or-shine, storm-and-blow, let-her-go-Gallagher son of the wild sea and the wilder tempests.

We heard a great tumult in the chicken yard, my friend who lives in the country and I.

"A hawk!" cried my friend; "a chicken hawk. The air just seems to be full of them, the cruel, pestering things. I'm going to get an air gun and see if I can teach the next one a lesson."

We rushed to the window ablaze with indignation, and there was no chicken hawk to be seen, not in the full sweep of the bending skies.

But there stood Sir Roger the Rover, as bold as any pirate that ever scuttled a ship or cut the captain's throat, and the chickens and the hens and the roosters were saying things about him.

"O-o-o," burbled the young pullets. "Strange looking, but awfully handsome, isn't he?"

And Sir Roger the Rover paid not the least attention to any of them. He preened his feathers and walked around the yard as if he owned it, and when someone came into the yard with a pan full of grain in the hollow of her brown, muscular young arm, and began to scatter the grain, Sir Roger swooped down and had his fill, be sure of that. And then what do you think the bold thing did? He flew to the water trough and drank all he wanted, then stood on the edge of the trough and cast his bright eyes from one end of the pleasant little yard to the other.

"Look out, little pullets," said my friend who lives in the country. "I don't blame you for thinking he is handsome, but you'd never be happy with him, never in the wide world.

"It's the open sea he wants, and the wild wind, and a mate who can fight the storms, just as he can. What would you do if he wanted you to perch on the tall mast of a rolling ship, or sit on the crest of a wave, I ask you?"

The daughter of my friend who lived in the country gave her mother a quick, searching look; then her face clouded, and she picked up her book and went out on the shady porch to read a tale of love and romance.

"Poor Molly," said my friend. "She's in love with a good-looking young rascal from town. I don't blame her a bit. He's really charming. But oh, I do hope she won't marry him!

"The marriage would last just about as long as the union of one of those little brown pullets and the seagull. They'd be tired of each other in less than a year."

But I am not sure about that. Somehow that is one of the sort of lessons we all have to learn ourselves, no matter how hard the kindest and most loving teacher tries to teach us.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

What is the Imagination? Nobody knows.

Where or how does the Imagination function? Nobody has discovered.

Is that not a curious thing?

Here is something that goes on inside each one of us continually; that is a part of everyone's life; that is the most exciting and important part of all human life; yet nobody knows what it is or where it comes from or how it works.

All other processes of our life arouse certain mechanism in the body and cause certain physical reactions which we can trace. But Imagination has no mechanism which we can study, causes no physical reaction which we can trace.

And so, most of us underestimate Imagination.

We set it apart from the rational or emotional processes of the heart or mind.

We think that it's a sort of a game which we play with ourselves—a sort of pleasant but trivial Indoor Sport.

But we're wrong.

Everything that man has ever accomplished started in his imagination.

Before we can DO anything, we must IMAGINE that thing.

Look at the room in which you sit. Chairs, pictures, rugs, woodwork, complicated machines and charming devices fill that room.

Where were they made?

"In the factory," you say.

No; they were made in the imagination.

Hands made plans for those things, factories turned out their parts; BUT, FIRST, THEY WERE CREATED IN THE IMAGINATION.

The pattern in that rug was drawn first in the imagination. The colors were painted in the imagination, were first devised in the imagination.

Now go a step further.

Consider what man IS as well as what he has DONE. Consider his beliefs, his ideals, the wisdom he has accumulated, the causes for which he has fought.

Consider the motives that made Byrd seek the Pole;

That made the colonists rebel against England;

That caused Milton to write "Paradise Lost."

And Father Damien to devote his life to the lepers of Molokai—

All the motives and urges and secret speculation that has made man what he is!

Where did that begin?

In the Imagination.

Before a man can become an adventurer, or artist, or scientist, or soldier, or saint, he must IMAGINE adventure, art, science, soldiering or saintliness. He must form, within the mysterious and secret places of his soul, a picture of the thing he wants to be.

It has been said: "What man can imagine, he can do."

And again it has been said: "KEEP THY HEART WITH ALL DILIGENCE, FOR OUT OF IT ARE THE ISSUES OF LIFE . . . AS A MAN THINKETH IN HIS HEART, SO IS HE."

Other imaginations can create things for you; but your own imagination, alone, can create YOU.

The things that you have do not make you what you are.

The things that happen to you do not make you what you are.

YOUR OWN ATTITUDE TOWARD THOSE THINGS; YOUR OWN INTERPRETATION OF THOSE THINGS, MAKES YOU WHAT YOU ARE.

Life is as you take it. Your soul is what you make it—and you make it by your imagination.

Study it.

Treasure it.

Train it.

Isn't It So?

Text For Today But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, till there was no remedy.—II. Chronicles, xxxvi:16.
